Letter to Editor

Your issue of "What's Cookin' in Newton," Vol. 1, No. 7, dated March 2, 1944, just arrived. It was the first issue received and it was certainly grand to get even this glimpse of the home town, and I do hope they keep coming as reading, news, and entertainment is scarce out this way. Please use the address noted on envelope corner card as it is the present correct one.

As you will note, I am located quite a distance from my home in Waban and apparently will be in this Central Pacific Area for some time. I cannot, of course, tell you anything of our activities but need less to say they are active, interesting, and rugged at times, but to date very successful and U. S. GROPAC TWO hopes that it has and is continuing to do its share in the push to Tokyo.

As your records may show, I have three sons scattered around the world, too, in the War. My oldest boy, Richard, is a Chief Storekeeper in the Navy and is in England somewhere. The middle lad, Theodore, is a 2nd Lieutenant, U. S. Army, and is a Navigator in a Bomber and as a guess he is in Africa or Italy. The youngest lad, Leonard, has a commission as Ensign in the U. S. Naval Reserve but being, also, a licensed Merchant Marine Officer is serving as a mate on a Liberty Ship and when last heard from was in Ceylon. All three graduated from Newton High.

The real service-man of the family, my wife, is holding down the home front at 320 Quinquepin road, Waban, with our little girl, and she reports that our neighbors have been most kind to her, which is one reason why I chose Newton to live in.

So far as I know I have no Newton boys in my command but I certainly have a group of officers and men who make it an honor to command them, and all citizens back in the States can be assured that the Army and Marine forces with whom we are operating are giving their all to the War Effort and under rugged conditions. We do not like to read of strikes, "Peace Now Movements," etc., and I do hope that the intelligent people who reside in Newton will not fall for that stuff.

Our lads out here are promoting real "Peace Now Movements" so do not let us have competition. Again, thanks for the news and let's all hope my family and the many other Newton service families may be reunited soon.

Very truly yours,
A. L. MADDEN,
Commander, U.S.N.R.

Citizens of Newton:

On August 4th the United States Coast Guard will commemorate the 154th anniversary of its founding. During its long years of service to our country the Coast Guard has served with distinction in war and peace. In the present war hundreds of Newton men and women are serving in this branch of our armed services, and a large number of our citizens are serving in the Coast Guard Temporary Reserve.

The City of Newton congratulates the Coast Guard on this 154th anniversary and expresses its appreciation for the splendid service being rendered by our citizens who are members of this gallant service.

Lt. Caruso Is German Prisoner

Lt. Santo Francis Caruso, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Caruso of 318 River street, West Newton, who was reported as "missing in action" on June 28th has been taken a prisoner by the Germans according to official word received by his parents from the War Department.

Lt. Caruso was graduated from the Newton High School and Boston College. He has been in the Army for 18 months and was a member of the crew of a B-17 Flying Fortress. It is believed he was taken prisoner while on his first mission since going overseas. Prior to enlisting in the Army Lt. Caruso had been employed in Boston. He has one sister, Miss Sylvia Caruso.

Red Cross Work Rooms Closed In August

All Newton Red Cross Sewing and Surgical Village Work Rooms will be closed during the month of August.

The Chapter House will be open for Surgical Dressings Tuesdays and Wednesdays from 1:30 to 4:30 p.m. during August, and workers will be welcomed.

The Surgical division will resume full force on regular village work days directly after Labor Day.

An extremely large quota of War Relief garments has been accepted from another chapter in Massachusetts, which will necessitate the reopening of all village sewing work rooms two days a week after Labor Day. Stitches will be needed.

Completes 60 Missions, Expected Home

First Lt. Alden K. Sanderson, son of William E. Sanderson of 260 Dedham street, Newton Centre, and a pilot in a Marauder squadron of the 12th Army Air Force, has completed a tour of about 60 missions and is expected to arrive home soon. One of his latest missions was the bombing of a high-way viaduct at Arezzo, Italy, a vital link in the network of highways which were necessary to the Germans for transportation of troops and supplies.

Lt. Sanderson was made treasurer of an Officer's Club at his overseas base. A graduate of Newton High School, 1935, he enlisted about two years ago and went overseas last December.

Chaplain Cosgrove Meets West Newton Boy In China

Rev. Joseph C. Cosgrove, U. S. Army Chaplain and member of the Maryknoll Order, in a recent letter to relatives here tells of a surprise get-together with a boyhood friend from West Newton, Pfc. Francis Cooney, with whom he caddied at the Woodland Golf Club several years ago. They met he wrote "somewhere in Central China," and had lunch together and attended a movie.

Chaplain Cosgrove was ordained July 10, 1940 and following three years of extensive missionary work in the Far East was transferred to chaplain duty a year ago.

Pfc. Cooney is attached to the U. S. Army 14th Air Force as a radio operator and gunner. He was formerly caddy-master at the Woodlawn, Oakley and Trapelo Golf Clubs. He has been overseas 11 months.

Urges Destruction Of Ragweed

Don't cry over ragweed, get it before it gets you.

This is the slogan of the division of conservation of the Massachusetts State Federation of Women's Clubs, headed by Mrs. Edmund I. Wilson of Abundant.

In a six point program to make civic minded citizens "ragweed conscious," club women of Massachusetts advocate its early eradication.

"We must face the fact that ragweed is a menace to health," Mrs. Wilson said. "It is a yearly problem, involving expense as well as discomfort to persons sensitive to ragweed pollen."

Urging that mayors and selectmen make an effort to cut or mow ragweed along highways and streets, Mrs. Wilson suggests the following methods of control.

1. Eradicate the weed early in the season.
2. Cut and mow along roadsides.
3. Pull up by the roots in restricted areas.
4. Cut and burn in the fall, to reduce next year's crop.
5. Use cover crops on large, infested areas.
6. Encourage ragweed elimination by city and town authorities.

Lt. Davis Killed In Action

Word has been received from the Navy Department of the death of Lt. (j.g.) Robert George Davis, USNR, son of Mrs. George T. Davis of 103 Beethoven avenue, Waban, which occurred about a week after his wife, Mrs. Virginia Rae Davis of 15 Weston road, Wellesley had given birth to their second daughter, Jane, on June 9. Their other daughter, Deborah, is 2½ years old.

Lt. Davis an officer on an LCI landing ship in the Southwest Pacific, was killed in action, presumably while engaged in landing operations at Saipan. He was born in Waban and after graduating from college became proprietor of a market at Coolidge Corner, Brookline. He entered the Navy two years ago and was commissioned an ensign. He left for duty in the Pacific about 8 months ago.

He also leaves two brothers, 3rd Class Petty Officer Roswell Davis, U. S. Navy, stationed in Rhode Island and Fred Davis, and one sister, Jane.

1500 See Red Cross Exhibition at Crystal Lake

The Greater Boston Open and New England championship swimming meet sponsored by Community Recreation Service of Boston, in cooperation with the American Red Cross and the Newton Recreation Department, was held at Crystal Lake Saturday, August 29. The preliminaries were held at 10:30 a. m. and the N.E.A.A.A.U. championship finals at 3:00 p. m.

Alexander Huston, Red Cross Director of Water Safety for the Metropolitan Area, assisted by units from the Army and Navy, gave a thrilling reproduction of actual war-time techniques, safety devices and their uses. A public address system informed and explained to the gathering the various swimming drills, life-saving with different aids, types of floating, use of rubber emergency boats, jumping from heights in life belts and jackets, use of military Zoot Suit, use of inflated sea-bags as rafts for carrying wounded men across bodies of water, camouflage water tactics in order to prevent being victims of air strafing, jumping overboard from a tower 20 ft. in height and fighting and extinguishing burning oil in the water.

The largest entry list of competitors and close finishes caused the meet to be the most successful of the 1944 N.E.A.A.A.U. season. Clara Lamore of Olneyville Club won two N.E.A.A.A.U. championship events—the 110-yd. backstroke and the 440-yd. free style. Carol Curley, a Newton girl representing Crystal Lake, placed second in the 50-yd. breast stroke.

Softball Playoff In Newton Aug. 13-20

The qualifying tournament to select a metropolitan Boston team to participate in the regional playoffs of the national softball championships will be held on successive Sundays, August 13th and 20th, at Newton, Mass. Sponsoring the tournament is the Community Recreation Service of Boston, Inc., through the Metropolitan Boston Amateur Softball Association, in cooperation with the Newton Park Department.

The regional playoffs will be staged at Providence, R. I., September 2, 3 and 4. The national championships will be played September 13 through 17 at the Lakewood Elks Softball Field in Cleveland, Ohio.

Entries for the local tournament closes Monday, August 7th. Newton entries will be approved by Mr. F. Ewing Wilson, City Hall, Newton, Mass. Mr. Wilson, who is also president of the Metropolitan Boston Amateur Softball Association, will be in charge of the tournament arrangements in Newton.

Be sure and see the window display at Kennedy's, 32 Summer street, Boston, next week. It will show how clean and pleasant the work is at RAYTHEON—Advt.

The petition was presented to Alderman Barwise by Mr. and Mrs. J. Edgar Birdsall of 111 Court street, Newtonville, leaders in the movement, who were active in circulating the petition. Besides Mr. and Mrs. Birdsall signers of the petition included residents of Central avenue and Court street, Walnut street, Walnut terrace, Omar terrace, Chesley avenue, Court street, Washington street, and Clafin place.

The petition reads as follows: "We, the undersigned, petition the city of Newton, for the use of the city-owned property on Wilton road, Newtonville, namely lots 33 and 34 in Section 22, for an inclosed children's playground for the younger children of this vicinity up to and including those 12 years of age.

"We are sure you will consider this as we do, to be a worthwhile and necessary project, especially now when parents are often employed in defense work and children unsupervised at home."

Soldiers Relatives Should Apply Now For Ballots

A reminder to Newton families with relatives in the armed forces that they should apply as soon as possible for absentee ballots for them so they may vote in the all-important election, November 7, was issued by Congressman Christian A. Herter, who himself has two sons in the service.

He pointed out that almost any relative of a serviceman or woman may register them as voters if they are not now enrolled or may make application for absentee ballots to be mailed to them.

Congressman Herter stressed that it is imperative that this be done as soon as possible, since the work of mailing out the ballots will be started about August 15 in order that the ballots may be mailed overseas and returned in time to be counted election day. The father, mother, wife, sister, brother, son, daughter, aunt, uncle, nephew or niece of any serviceman or servicewoman may go there and register them as voters or apply for absentee ballots on their behalf.

"It is vitally important that we see that every serviceman and servicewoman has an opportunity to vote in next November's election," declared Congressman Herter. "And the first step is to file the necessary application so that an absentee ballot will be sent to them."

Cpl. Antonellis Receives Purple Heart

Word has been received by Mrs. Rose Antonellis of 16 Chapel street, Newton that her husband, Cpl. Lawrence Antonellis, 28, was wounded in Normandy on June 15 and has been evacuated to a hospital in England. He has been awarded the Purple Heart.

His brother, Cpl. Henry Antonellis, 21, is now separated from him for the first time since they were both inducted in November 1942. They have been in the same Field Artillery outfit and went overseas together last February.

Another brother, Pvt.-Louis Antonellis, 19, is serving in Italy. They are the sons of Mr. and Mrs. Clementine Antonellis of 22 Lyons Court, Watertown, formerly of Newton.

Mrs. Lawrence Antonellis, the former Rose Volante, has a brother, Staff Sgt. Antonio Volante, who is in Normandy. A cablegram has been sent to him by his wife, the former Phyllis O'Mara, informing him of the birth of a daughter on July 17.

LT. ROBERT M. HANSON

Lt. Hanson Awarded Congressional Medal

Reported Missing Since February

Award of the Congressional Medal of Honor to Lt. Robert M. Hanson, ace Marine fighter pilot, son of Rev. and Mrs. Harry A. Hanson of 31 Brooks avenue, Newtonville, was made by President Roosevelt on Tuesday of this week according to announcement made by the Navy Department.

This is the first award of the nation's highest military honor to any man, either of the Army or Navy, in this area.

The citation accompanying the award of the Congressional Medal of Honor reads as follows:

"For gallantry and intrepidity at the risk of his life above and beyond the call of duty as fighter pilot attached to the Marine Fighter Squadron 215 in action against enemy Japanese forces at Bougainville Island, Nov. 1, 1943, and New Britain Island, Jan. 24, 1944.

"Undeterred by fierce opposition and fearless in the face of overwhelming odds, Lt. Hanson fought the Japanese boldly and with daring aggressiveness. On Nov. 1, 24th birthday, when his plane was while flying cover for our landing operations at Empress Augusta Bay, he dauntlessly attacked six enemy torpedo bombers forcing them to jettison their bombs and destroying one Japanese plane during the action.

"Cut off from his division while deep in enemy territory during a high cover fight over Simpson Harbor on Jan. 24, Lt. Hanson waged a lone and gallant battle against hostile interceptors as they were orbiting to attack our bombers and, striking with devastating fury, brought down four Zeros and probably a fifth.

"Handling his plane superbly in both pursuit and attack measures, he was master of individual air combat, accounting for a total of 25 Japanese aircraft in his theatre of war. His great personal valor and invincible fighting spirit were in keeping with the highest traditions of the United States Naval Service."

Lt. Hanson has been reported as "missing in action" since February 3, 1944, the day before his 24th birthday, when his plane was shot down as he flew an escort mission over Rabaul, New Britain. (Continued on Page 3)

SOME ENCOURAGING SIGNS

The boy down the block has come back from the Pacific—back to his wife and the baby who is almost a little boy by now; the baby who looked at his strange new father with round eyes and finally decided to accept him. How many, many fathers there are, in foxholes and in bombers, who have missed all the fun and excitement and companionship of a far-off, never-seen little son or daughter!

But daddy and young Johnny are making up for lost time now. Daddy is going back to work, down at the factory where he worked before the war. He said, "It's a better job. My Air Force training counts for a good deal, it seems."

He went on to say that they put him through all sorts of tests to find out his physical and mental capabilities, and questioned him about the work he'd like to do. "They really acted glad to see me," was his comment.

It's very encouraging to know that industry is doing everything it can to help these servicemen to find the jobs they can do best. Recently we read an article about one big manufacturer's rehabilitation program. This company has a camp where any veteran who is disabled and has a medical discharge is welcome. He is trained for industry or farming, and gets paid while he learns, along with board and room and medical care. Then he can apply for work, if he wants to, in one of the company's plants.

So we can confidently hope there'll be no apple-selling for the boys after this war!

Elks Give Testimonial Dinner to H. S. Baseball Team

A testimonial dinner was tendered to the Newton High School baseball team, winners of the state championship, by Newton Lodge of Elks at Elks Hall, Newton on Wednesday evening, July 28.

Also present as guests were the following members of the Boston Braves, Clyde Klutz, catcher; Jim Tobin, pitcher; Tommy Holmes, fielder; Warren Huston and Stanley Klop. Fathers of members of the high school baseball team also were guests.

The speakers were Mayor Paul M. Giddard; Dr. Homer Anderson, Superintendent of Schools in Newton; Coach Jeff Jones; C. Raymond Cabot, chairman of the school committee; Daniel Kelly, State Director of Education; Bill Stewart, National League umpire, Jim Tobin of the Braves and John Donahue, playground supervisor. The program included songs by Past Exalted Ruler Shea of Cambridge Lodge, sketches by Joseph E. Champagne and a song and dance by Fred Burns. Community singing was led by John A. Janse.

Past Exalted Ruler Thomas Ryan was master of ceremonies. James Burns, chairman of the house committee, was in charge of the dinner and Exalted Ruler John Keefe presided at the business meeting.

Jackets with the school letter were awarded to members of the baseball team. All members of the team were present with the exception of those now in the service or playing in the big leagues. The jackets were presented by Exalted Ruler John Keefe.

NEWTON In The Past

55 Years Ago
Newton Graphic, August 2, 1889
Newton has 4,201 children between the ages of 5 and 15 years, an increase of 114 over 1888.

Rev. Pleasant Hunter, Jr., the pastor of the Central Congregational, Newtonville, has accepted the call to the pastorate of the Second Presbyterian church in Newbury, N. J.

The Methodist church clock, Newtonville, was about 5 minutes fast the early part of the week and passengers who rushed hurriedly for the train had time to cool off before taking their departure for the Hub.

The maps locating the voting places are out and Newtonville rejoices in two precincts. The dividing line runs through Washington, Lowell, Walnut and Watertown streets and voters who live just over this boundary must go to Newton in order to deposit their ballots. The citizens who reside just over the line are not pleased and do not take kindly to the change. It seems to separate them from their neighbors besides necessitating a good deal of long distance exercise.

There are 8 patients at the Cottage Hospital and all are afflicted with either typhoid fever or malaria. This hospital has had good success in treating the former disease.

Rev. S. F. Smith, D.D., of Newton Centre, our honored citizen, wrote the hymn, "America" in 1832, when he was 24 years of age.

50 Years Ago
Newton Graphic, August 3, 1894
During July, 8611 books were taken out from the Free Library, a greater number than in any previous July.

The subscription papers for stock takers in the new Trust company to be formed in Newtonville are being circulated. It will start off under favorable auspices, with financial backing, and with good management assured is sure to be a success.

The public is cordially invited to inspect the new drug store in Bray's block, Newton Centre, recently opened by G. W. Cobb, Pharmacist.

The new club, at Chestnut Hill, has been incorporated under the name of the Chestnut Hill Club.

25 Years Ago
Newton Graphic, August 1, 1919
$17,000 was appropriated at the special meeting of the Aldermen for the purchase and housing of a pumping engine for the Water Department. By an argument with the Metropolitan Water Board, which purchased for $60,000 the old Waban Hill reservoir when the city completed its present reservoir on the top of the same hill, Newton can, in case of emergency, take 15,000,000 gallons of water a year from the Metropolitan supply but at present, there is no adequate way of getting this additional supply into the reservoir on top of the hill. The emergency pumping plant, which will be electrically driven, will take care of this problem.

Massachusetts is soon to lose one of its oldest officials for on October 1, Edward F. Hamlin of 58 Pelham street, Newton Centre, for 42 years executive secretary to the Governor's Council, will relinquish his office. Charles A. Southworth, of Lynn, who has been Mr. Hamlin's assistant for more than a decade has been appointed his successor.

Rotary Club

At the regular weekly meeting of the Rotary Club at the Charles River Country Club last Friday Frank Anderson of Anderson Laboratories, Brookline, Mass., spoke on the "Pattern of Prediction Research." On numerous charts and graphs he demonstrated how he had worked out a system of forecasting future trends by which the executive or business man may be guided in his decisions. No thoughtful man will question Mr. Anderson's statement, "The universe is a perfect operating unit, and every force in it moves and has its being in accordance with natural and inflexible laws. To investigate the workings of these laws Mr. Anderson established a research laboratory and developed a definite pattern of prediction, correlating planetary positions as they repeat themselves to the advance or decline in the Dow-Jones Averages. The Club was pleased to have as its guest Dr. C. Garcia Justo, a member of the Rotary Club of Macao, State of Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, and who for a month will be studying the system and workings of the Health Department of the City of Newton.

Next Friday the speaker will be our own outstanding member, Howard Selby. He will speak on a subject that is close to his heart, namely, "Co-operatives."

Lightning Strikes Chimneys

During the thunderstorm on Sunday afternoon a chimney on the dwelling house at 69 Rockland place, Newton Upper Falls was hit by a bolt of lightning. A chimney on the house at 186 Waban avenue, Waban was struck during the storm on Sunday evening.

Politics With Color

by P. W. C.

Cahill vs. Tobin

Two weeks ago I wrote a column under this same heading which apparently aroused the ire of Lieutenant-Governor Cahill and George Rowell, chairman of the G.O.P. State Committee. So I decided to check up and find out how this particular column struck a very prominent Republican, who is also a writer of some little repute. I assumed that the column was 100 per cent correct from a reporting standpoint and was one which he would be proud to have written himself. The trouble seems to be that I called my shots and told the plain, unvarnished truth. A lot of writers could have written the same column if circumstances permitted. However, many of these men are under definite obligation to the current administration and do not see fit to be too frank. Personally, I am not a Republican, but I believe one's head in the sand never appealed to me. It is very futile.

Now, let's get back to our Lieutenant Governor and his prospects. It was my privilege on Monday to attend a big garden-party on the estate of one of Brookline's most prominent and successful Republicans, Mrs. Stanwood G. Wellington of 79 Crafts road, in the Chestnut Hill sector. M.D.C. Commissioner Philip G. Bowker had been advertised to speak in behalf of our Lieutenant Governor, but last-minute pressure on the latter caused him to abruptly change his plans and make his own speech. It was a fine effort and very well received. It was just what the situation called for—a fighting speech, full of punch and color. He told us that he had been elected to his present position, and we will hear frequently from now on; first, the salient fact from now on six long years of Governor Saltonstall's administration there has never been a breath of scandal involving our Governor. Just contrast that fact with the confusion, inefficiency and constant scandal of the Curley administration. The second note will be this same Curley regime and all that went with it, including the impeached Governor's Commission and the fact that he was until the women of Massachusetts realize the full significance of the recent Curley-Tobin love-fest, when these two gentlemen kissed and made-up. And for what? Simply so that Mayor Tobin can achieve the position of being Governor and the worthy Mr. Curley can go back for a fourth term as Mayor of Boston. Some of the women who might conceivably vote for Tobin for Governor may well hesitate to do so if their votes will mean that the sitting Governor and the worthy Mr. Curley can go back for a fourth term of Boston's self-styled "indispensable man." James Michael Curley, who is still in arrears on the repayment of money which the courts have demanded that he return to the city of Boston.

Let me give my readers a tip. The real campaign will not start until after Labor Day. About that time, watch for some highly interesting statements of fact concerning the Democratic candidate for Governor. Forget all about Curley and Coakley, although they will make a lot of noise, for the charming Maurice is to carry. After all, Boston's Mayor is not responsible for their record and reputation. Can it be that there are OTHER people of somewhat doubtful repute for whom Sir Maurice is responsible? Perish the thought!

That reminds me of one powerful crack made by George Rowell at Mrs. Wellington's political garden rally, which, incidentally, was a very, very fine affair. Several hundred people braved the heat and were amply repaid. Rowell said he respects the current Democratic policy of giving out political cigarettes to servicemen as a means of snaring votes for Tobin. Honestly, isn't that rather cheap stuff? And how about the political propaganda enclosed with all packages of laundry delivered by a certain Boston concern? Rowell didn't say this, but it occurs to me that this procedure might be termed washing one's dirty linen in public. What the state chairman did say was that the GOP did not propose to stoop so low in their search for votes. He does not think that it will be necessary and he would not do it anyway.

As I view the situation today it seems to me that it will be largely a question of organization this fall. If the Republican women all over the state get thoroughly organized well in advance of Nov. 7 and if they do plenty of missionary work among the independent voters, there will be a Republican victory. To celebrate it, on the other hand, the GOP figures that it can coast along on the momentum of the excellent Saltonstall administration and count on the national election to bring down the lazy, stay-at-home Republican vote. It will be playing into Mayor Tobin's hand. Right here, may I sound a warning note to the GOP? Nobody knows just what that big Republican stay-at-home vote will do this year. It is barely possible that quite a few of these people will vote for FDR even though he HAS swapped one-half of his horse in mid-stream already! (That is going to be a nice slogan, is it not?)

Watch Kelly
Let us remember that the GOP nominee for Attorney General, Clarence A. Barnes of Mansfield, currently serving on the Governor's Council, is up against Frankie Kelly of Boston. This same Kelly may be a joke, but let's not forget that he is the ONLY man who has ever made our Governor taste defeat. That happened in 1936, when Kelly was elected Lieutenant Governor. A word to the wise, etc.

P.W.C.

They're In The Service Now..

Dr. Don Wayne Fawcett, 27, of 12 Surrey road, Newton has been promoted to Captain in the Medical Corps according to an announcement made this week by the War Department.

Capt. Fawcett who is attached to an anti-aircraft battalion, recently arrived in England. He has been in the service about three years, two years of which were spent in training and has been on active duty for one year. He is a graduate of the Boston Latin School, Harvard College and Harvard Medical School. He interned at the Massachusetts General Hospital. Before going overseas he was stationed at Fort Bliss, Texas, Camp Davis, No. Carolina and Camp Edwards, Mass.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Carlos J. Fawcett of Newton. He is married and his wife, Mrs. Dorothy Fawcett and their son, Robert Serer Fawcett, are residing with his parents at 12 Surrey road.

An Eighth AAF Bomber Station, England—Staff Sergeant Robert L. Lane, 22, of West Newton, Mass., formerly of Keene, N. H. has been awarded the "Distinguished Flying Cross" for "extraordinary achievement" during bombing attacks on Hitler's war machine. As ball turret gunner of the Eighth AAF Flying Fortress "Jeanne," he has taken part in many bombing assaults upon military and industrial installations in Nazi Europe, he has withstood heavy enemy fire and has traded bullets with the Luftwaffe. He is the son of Mrs. Bertha Lane of 19 Rangleway road, West Newton.

WITH THE FIFTH ARMY, ITALY, (Special to the Graphic)—The Army's new combat infantryman's badge has been awarded to Private Carl Dault, of 161 Summer street, Newton Center, for exemplary conduct in action with the 88th Infantry Division on the Fifth Army front in Italy.

The badge was recently authorized by the War Department as a means of giving credit to the individual soldier who has provided his fighting ability under enemy fire. It has a silver rifle against the infantry blue background and is distinguished from the Expert Infantryman's badge by a silver wreath. Standards for awarding the medal are high.

An Eighth AAF Bomber Station, England (Special to the Graphic)—Second Lieutenant Richard S. Boynton, of 37 Holden road, West Newton, Mass., has recently been awarded the Air Medal for meritorious achievement in aerial combat.

2nd Lt. Boynton, navigator on a B-17 Flying Fortress heavy bomber, has participated in 14 bombing missions over Germany and enemy-occupied Europe.

He is the 21-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Boynton of 37 Holden road, West Newton, Mass. His wife, Mrs. Patricia T. Boynton, resides at 693 Beacon street, Newton Center, Mass.

Prior to his enlistment in the AAF on April 17, 1943, 2nd Lt. Boynton was a student at Brown University. He has been serving overseas since May 18, 1944.

An Eighth AAF Bomber Station, England—2nd Lieutenant Francis W. Moan, 23, bombardier on an Eighth AAF B-24 Liberator bomber has been awarded the Air Medal. The decoration was conferred for "meritorious achievement while participating in heavy bombardment missions over enemy occupied continental Europe."

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Moan, 229 Auburn street, Auburndale, Mass. His wife, the former Ruth N. Thivierge, lives at 28 Newland street, Auburndale, Lt. Moan is a graduate of the Newton High School. Prior to his entry in the AAF, Lt. Moan was employed by the Newton Street Department.

U. S. Naval Air Gunners School, Jacksonville, Fla. (Special to the Graphic)—One of ten men to attain honor grades in classroom studies, Robert P. Anderson, Jr., Aviation Ordnanceman 3rd class, of Newton Centre, Mass., was one step nearer his goal this week when he graduated from aerial gunners school.

Anderson previously completed a course in aviation ordnance school at Memphis, Tenn. His next step, at a naval air operational training command station, will combine these courses, ordnance and gunnery, completing Anderson's training for a naval aircrewman, which is his goal.

Son of Mr. Robert P. Anderson, of 10 Adams street, Newton Centre, Mass., the 18-year-old petty officer was presented his graduation certificate by Commander E. E. Ledbetter, commanding officer of the gunners school. The Commander praised the ten honor men for their excellent record in classroom studies and demonstrations of marksmanship with aerial weapons at the machine gun range.

Fort Oglethorpe, Ga., (Special to the Graphic)—Pvt. Mary Kathryn Ledbetter, 40 Pine Crest road, Newton Centre, Mass., daughter of Lt.-Col. and Mrs. G. E. Ledbetter, is taking basic training at the Third WAC Training Center here Col. Ledbetter is with the General Staff Corps, Maintenance Division Headquarters, First Service Command, Boston.

The WAC was formerly employed as a clerk-typist in the Security Intelligence Division, First Service Command. She is a graduate of Newton High School, and Lasell Junior College.

After completing a six-week course in basic training, Pvt. Ledbetter will be assigned to a non-combatant job that supplements the forces of the army.

Dora R. Cummings

Mrs. Dora Roberts Cummings, wife of Rev. John E. Cummings of 49 Pelham street, Newton Centre, died on Tuesday, Aug. 1 at the Baker Memorial Hospital.

Mrs. Cummings was the daughter, wife and mother of a Baptist missionary family that had served in Burma for three generations.

Born July 2, 1874, at Burlington, Kan., daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. William H. Roberts (nee Rogers), Dora Roberts accompanied her missionary parents to the U. S. M. S. training station at Sheephead Bay, N. Y. He is a graduate of the Mary A. Cunningham school and is the son of Rev. A. Bernard Webber and Annie K. Webber.

S. 2c Saul Exelbert, son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Exelbert of 66 Boyd street, Newton is stationed at the USMSTS, Sheephead Bay, Brooklyn, N. Y. He is in the Recreation-Morale Dept. also doing reportorial work on the base newspaper, Exelbert, who attended the U. S. School of Journalism, was a Sports and Feature writer for the GRAPHIC and immediately preceding his enlistment was associated with a Publicity firm in New York City.

Word has been received by his mother, Mrs. Margaret M. Mahoney, 8 Wetherell street, Newton Upper Falls, Mass., of the promotion on July 20th of James J. Mahoney to Lt. Col.

At Alamogordo N. M., last March Lt. Mahoney received his majority. Since that time he has been serving overseas with the 8th AAF.

A brother, Lt. Francis X. Mahoney is connected with naval communications at Washington, D. C.

Newton Lions Club

Sudduth Hurt, well-known Newton lecturer on international affairs was the speaker at the Newton Lions Club at the Newton YMCA at the final meeting until after Labor Day.

Mr. Hurt's topic was "America's Greatest Responsibility," which he pronounced was the responsibility to assume the role of leader in establishing a world of United Nations. Enlarging on his theme he spoke convincingly on the theory that we, and every nation, must choose between a totalitarian world or a democratic world in which to live in peace. There can never be peace with the two entirely different ideologies present, he said, and every nation must choose between a totalitarian world or a democratic world in which to live in peace. Li. Hanson---

Up to that time he had shot down 25 Jap planes, 20 of which he shot down in six consecutive days starting January 14.
Although he is officially reported as "missing in action" his parents have hope that he is alive. He was shot down once before by a Bero over Bougainville and after padding for six hours was rescued by a destroyer. Following that victory he wrote home telling his mother not to give up hope should he be reported lost as there are many islands in that area and it is sometimes weeks before one can get out.

Li. Hanson was born in Lucknow, India, and was educated in India and the United States. He was co-captain of the football team at Hamlin College, St. Paul, Minn. where he studied for 3 and 1/2 years before enlisting. While in India he competed in the All-India Olympics and was a heavyweight wrestling champion of the United Provinces. His father, who has been a missionary in India recently returned there following a leave in this country.

There are three other boys in the Hanson family. Mark who is in the Army, Stanley in the Navy and Earl, and their sister Edith, 4.

Dining With Jane and Bill

Bill: I thought you said dinner was going to be ready in five minutes?
Jane: Well, it is. Call Junior, will you? He's next door.

Bill: You're just putting the swiss chard on to cook. It will be a good half hour before you're ready. I'm going back to the paper.

Jane: Now listen, Bill. Who's the cook in this house? You and Junior have been eating greens all this summer and asking for seconds. I've been cooking them only five to eight minutes.

Bill: Don't get excited, Jane. The vegetables have been extra good this summer. I thought it was the variety of chard that I planted that kept it so green after cooking. Say, aren't you going to put any water in the pan? You'll burn the bottom out of it.

Jane: Listen, Bill. All our green leafy vegetables—beet tops, spinach, chard, kale, turnip greens—are mostly water.
Some moisture sticks to the leaves when you wash them.
Just put them in the pan, put the cover on, and they begin to steam immediately.
In three minutes, take a long fork, like this, and turn them over. See? They look partly cooked already. Put the cover back on and I leave them three or four minutes. Presto! They're finished. See how green they are? There is only a little vegetable juice left in the pan. I haven't soaked out all the goodness.

Bill: That's quite a stunt.
It seems to me that we used to have vegetables that were mushy and greyish green.
Now I notice that they are crisp and a fresh green color.

Jane: Have you seen Junior's plate? He copies everything I do, and cleans up the last scrap of vegetables.

Bill: A smart little cook you are,
Jane.

*Score 1 for Jane—Up to 1/3 of the thimble may be lost in cooking. The percentage is higher if excess water is used.—Ed
Jase's Rules for Vegetable Cookery

1. Add as little water as is feasible in the first place.
2. Keep the cover on.
3. Cook without paring, or in large pieces.
4. Shorten the cooking period to a minimum.

Hale - Appleby

Mr. and Mrs. Lyman Willard Appleby of Revere, announce the marriage of their daughter, Miss Levey Elizabeth Appleby, to Mr.
Richard Ernest Hale, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest A. Hale of Waban, which took place at the Mount Vernon Church, Boston, Saturday, July 29, at four o'clock, with the Rev. Joseph C. MacDonald officiating. A reception was held after the ceremony in the Church Parlor.

The bride who was given in marriage by her father, was gowned in nylon sheer and lace. Her finger-tip veil was caught with stephanotis and she carried a shower bouquet of white gladioli and stephanotis.

Miss Celia Molloy of Revere was maid of honor and wore an aqua chiffon gown and carried a bou-quet of pink gladioli.

The best man was a cousin of the groom, Mr. Kenneth S. Nugent of Waban, and the ushers included Mr. Frederick Charles Came of Waban and Mr. Frederick Miller of Waban.

The bride is a graduate of the Vesper George School of Art. The bridegroom is a graduate of The Country Day School of Newton in 1937, and of Brown University, Providence, R. I. in 1941.

Following a wedding trip they will reside in Boston.

Hart-Wiley

Miss Audrey Jeffrey Wiley, U.
S. N. R. (W), daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nathaniel Chester Wiley of West Newton, became the bride Friday evening, July 28, of Mr.
Richard Pierce Hart, U. S. N. R.,

son of Mr. and Mrs. Clinton Hart of Milton. The candlelight ceremony was performed at 8 o'clock in Trinity Episcopal church, Newton Center, by the Rev. Frederick Morgan, assisted by the Rev. John Hart, father of the bride's father.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white silk faille and Chantilly lace, fashioned with a fitted bodice, long sleeves and a full skirt, which formed a circular train. Her waist-length veil of tulle was caught to a tiny wreath of orange blossoms and she carried a cascade bouquet of bouvardia, white larkspur and white sweetheart roses.

Miss Betty Hanson of Waban was her only attendant. Her gown of time green faille had a fitted bodice and a full tulle skirt. In her hair she wore white flowers and carried a cascade bouquet of white larkspur combined with gold and pale yellow roses.

Mr. Hart had as his best man his cousin, Mr. Pierce Chesworth of Milton. The ushers were Mr. Chester Wiley, Jr., brother of the bride, and Mr. Charles Wyman Field of Waban.

After a brief wedding trip to Laurel Lake, N. H., Mr. and Mrs.
Hart returned to New York, where Mrs. Hart has been on duty for the past year and Mr. Hart reports for duty with the Atlantic fleet.

Recent Engagements

At a small dinner given at the Copley Plaza Hotel on Saturday evening, July 29th, the Rev. and Mrs. Randolph S. Merrill of Newtonville and "Merlecroft," Meredith, New Hampshire, announced the engagement of their daughter Janet to Lieutenant O. William Leidel, Jr., U. S. N., of Washington, D. C. Miss Merrill is a graduate of Walnut Hill School and of Mt. Holyoke College, Class of 1942.

For the past two years she has been studying at the Longy School of Music in Cambridge and the Opera School of the New England Conservatory of Music. Lieutenant Leidel is the son of Captain O. W. Leidel, U. S. N., and Mrs. Mary B. Leidel. He is a graduate of the School of Foreign Service, Georgetown University, in Washington, D. C., and is now on active duty in the Pacific.

Mr. and Mrs. George Orrin Cheyne of 32 Rowe street, Auburndale announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Phyllis Lila Cheyne to Ensign Richard Damon de Lesdernier, USNR, of 3 Winona street, Auburndale.

Mr. and Mrs. Richard Margot of 50 Everett street, Newton Centre, announce the engagement of her daughter Eleanor Jane Cary to J.
Ogden Hoffman, Jr., son of Cam-mander and Mrs. J. Ogden Hoffman, Sr., of San Anselmo, Cal.

Miss Cary is a graduate of Newton High School and is entering the Newton Hospital Cadet Training School in September.

Mr. Hoffman is a graduate of the University of California, and is a senior of the Episcopal Theological School in Cambridge.

leave, and although the morning trip was pretty bad, they discover it was only a warm-up, compared to battle to reach home. We also see them when they finally reach Newton Corner, practically out on their feet. The traveling bags are heavy, the kids crying, sleepy and tired, are usually being carried at this point and with junior drooling the remains of a frozen custard down the back of papa's neck, it's really the height of something or other. . . . They manage to hold board a Middlesex bus and the watchers here fervently hope they reach the old family homestead under their own power. You wouldn't bet a nickel either way, but they've had a day at the beach!

Around Town

Barbara Chapman, 1 Joyce road, West Newton, one of the best acrobatic dancers in the country, is on her way overseas with a U.S.O. unit to entertain our warriors. Barbara's 18 and has been an entertainer since her toddling days. She's been trying to go over since this thing started, but her age made it taboo. Now, however, she's all grown up and you'll like her when she catches up with you all. . . . Lt. Col. Concannon is home, sailing in Fort Devens with a leg injury. Col. Concannon, a brother-in-law of Tim Concannon, Wyoming road, Newton, has been adjutant to seven generals during the South Pacific campaign and has taken part in all the island fighting out there. . . . Since 1942 the Boston and Albany R. R. has been moving vast amounts of war materials through Newton and the coaling of the massive locomotives as they puff through here, sometimes blankets the Garden City with black, suspicious smoke. So much so, that the city fathers have requested
B. and A. officials to cease the stoking of the big moguls while passing through the more heavily populated districts of the city. . . .
Roy Edwards, now that the Allies are fighting in France, is conducting himself in the manner of an old fire horse when the alarm sounds. Roy was among the first of the Canadians to tangle with the Germans there in the last scrap and it's the impression of the "regulars" at Hubbard's (Wilfred Chagnon's) that Roy would like to turn the clock back about twenty years. . . . Matt Hurley, past exalted ruler of the B.P.O.
Elks, is another local who'd like to take one more shot at the old common enemy. . . . Incidentally, Ben Louis, vice treasurer of the Newton Savings Bank, is one of the hardest workers on the staff of "What's Cookin' in Newton."

Radar

The manner in which the radio tube manufacturing plants are taking over local stores, garages, and any and all available space, gives ample evidence that radar is playing a major part in the winning of this war. They're spreading plants out all over the place and the old telephone exchange building on Elmwood street will be next on the list, they say. The Elmwood Garage on the same street is practically all given over to the business now, with three shifts keeping the wheels turning there 24 hours per day.

activities. Camp Frank A. Day in Brookfield is full to overflowing with an excellent group of counsellors, younger of course, and a fine group of boys from our city.
We have been playing host to many of the fellows from Newton and surrounding communities when they come home on furlough. We have made beds and cots available and of course all service men are entitled to full "Y" privileges while they are here. More than two thousand different men took advantage of these privileges last year.

As you know, several of the "Y" staff have entered the armed forces and auxiliary services. Kenneth S. Dale, the former General Secretary is now a regional supervisor for the U.S.O. with headquarters at Richmond, Virginia.
John Andrew, for many years Associate Boys' Secretary, is with a mobile unit of the U.S.O. and his residence is now in Alexandria, Virginia. Dr. Fred E. Simm, former coach of our wrestling team, is active with the Coast Guard Reserve. Curtis Haug is somewhere on the Atlantic with the U. S. Maritime Service. His Evan Johnson, formerly assistant director and then director of Camp
Frank A. Day, is in England as a Captain in the Army Air Force.

We receive letters regularly from a number of the fellows. You probably know that Jimmy Martin, who is in the Air Force, is now a prisoner of war; Tom O'Connor is in the Navy; Jimmy Francis is home on leave—incidentally to get married; Andy Kasper, Jr., after seeing service in the Pacific is now stationed at Washington, D. C., with the Navy. We are always glad to hear from you fellows and will write any news you may wish to know.

This summer our swimming pool received a face lifting. You have installed a sound proofing system, new fluorescent lights, and have changed the heating system so that it will be more efficient.

We are looking forward to the day when all of you will be back again and we will be ready with just as fine a program of activities as you were accustomed to in the past. Best wishes and good luck to you all.

Sports in a Nutshell

By Bill Sullivan

The American League race finds the St. Louis Browns 4 1/2 games in front of the Red Sox who are in second place. Nearly everyone expected to see the Browns fold up but they are still sailing along quite consistently and have just taken three straight over the weekend; two of the games by low scores, 2-1 and 3-2, the other by 7-3. Muncie, Galehouse and Kramer all pitched the full game so St. Louis is right in there to a fight to the finish.

The Red Sox have had a wonderful trip in the West. They won 2 and lost 2 in Chicago, the same at St. Louis, took 3 straight and tied 1 in Detroit. In the tie game they won on the bases in the eighth when the game was called. They wound up in Cleveland winning two and dropping one, which gives them 9 wins and 5 losses. The Sox played wonderful ball all through the West.
Hugan pitched and won 4 games and relieved in four others. Mike Ryba pitched 2 corks, holding the Indians to 2 hits in his last game, with Barrett coming to Mike's rescue in the ninth. Steve Gromek, who has pitched excellent ball for Cleveland, held the Sox to 2 hits with Boston scoring their run in the ninth, and when Mike walked the first batter for Cleveland in their ninth, Barrett was called in and set the Indians down.

Terry, Woods and O'Neill have pitched good ball and Bobby Doerr, Pete Fox, Lou Finney and Bob Johnson have been clouting that ball hard. Hal Wagner, the catcher, secured from Connie Mack, is the real bright spot. He socks the ball well and he sure is there to help get a rally started.
Everyone on the team is doing their bit.

Sunday, in the first game at Cleveland, the Sox were behind 3-2 going into the ninth, then Wagner, first man up, walked. The Skipper batted for Terry and singled sharply to right, the ball getting away from Cullenbine, scoring Cullenbine, who ran for Wagner, with Cronin going to second on the play. Lake running for Cronin scored the winning run when Lou Finney singled through the box. Cronin keeps them going all the time and the Sox really believe they can win now.

The Braves played two good games Sunday, winning the first 6-4 and the second 2-0. The Pirates were leading 2-0 in the seventh when the Braves went ahead, scoring 3 runs. The Pirates scored 2 in the eighth, making it 4-4, then the Braves scored 3 runs in their half, winning 6-4.

Red Barrett set the Pirates down in order for the first four innings but was touched for 4 hits and 2 runs in the fifth when it sure was raining. Time was called and after waiting a half hour the game was resumed. Barrett set the Pirates down in the sixth. Hutchinson pitched the seventh, Kloppe the eighth, with Tobin pitching the ninth. Tommy Holmes made a catch in the sixth worth the price of a ball game anytime, going nearly to the flagpole with his back to the ball, making a jump, separating the ball and holding it although he hit the fence. Then he doubled up the man who had left first base. What a catch!

Al Javery pitched a corker in the second game, holding the Pirates to 2 hits and shutting them out 2-0. He was the real Javery Sunday, blazing that ball past the batters, mixing up slow balls and getting good support from his team. It was wonderful to watch him working on the batters.

Some people have said Javery was not trying, but in my opinion the only trouble with Jave is he can't put that ball where he would like to. It must be his glasses, as he always could cut the corners before he started wearing glasses.
Now he has to put it right over and they lay for it. After seeing him Sunday it looks like he is now getting used to his glasses and from now on will win ball games.

Phillips pitched well Sunday, one on a liner near second which he just reached, the other on a grounder to his right which he reached but the runner beat his throw to first. This was one of the hits secured off Jave.

Phillips pitched excellent ball and the more we see of him the better we like his work at shortstop.

Weitman made 3 hits in the first game and one in the second, but Hoffert was really on fire, getting 4 straight hits. The last one was a double scoring 2 runs.
The Pirates never did get him out.

Holmes made 3 hits and is battling over 300. We can't figure out yet how they left him off the All Star Team. The Braves could do it. The Sox are leading 3 Huston is doing a pretty good job.

Musial of the Cards is leading batter with 359, Walker of Brooklyn 350, and Hopp of the Cards 330. Doerr of the Red Sox is leading his league with 332. Pete Fox second with the Yankees 12 and Weintraub of the Cubs 21 and Weintraub of the Giants 13.
Doerr is leading with 13 home runs, Metheny of the Yankees 12 and Ethen of the Yankees 12.
Cullenbine of the Indians and Hayes of Athletics have 11.

Sanders of the Cards is leading with 71 runs batted in, Nicholson 70, and Weintraub 63. Stephens of the Braves is leading with 3
American League with 67 runs batted in, Doerr 62 and Bob Johnson 60. Tex Hughson has won 16 and lost 4, Newhouse won 16 and lost 7, Bucky Walters had won 15 and lost 3 but has now lost 2 more.
The Cards are the leaders in pitching, and hitting. They have lost some good pitchers to Uncle Sam but have added good ones also.

Connie Mack is being given a time next week. His All Star team is expected to be present. Will give you news on this event in the next issue.

A Prayer

TO BE PRAYED

By Those Who Would

Serve Their Country Best

O Thou, Who has fashioned me out of the dust of the earth and out of a portion of Thy very Self—I bow in Thy Presence, awed by Thy grandeur, humiliated because of my sins, yet hungry for everlasting comradeship with Thee.

Help me today to get a clearer understanding of Thy high purpose for me.
Help me to get a tighter grip on the courage I need to deport myself ever more and more as a true child of the Lord God Almighty, Creator of Heaven and earth! Amen.

Bird exhibits, loaned by the New England Museum of Natural History, 234 Berkeley street, Boston, and featuring specimens of bird life in America, are now on display at the Newton Free Library, Center street.

The exhibits, which are loaned to schools so that pupils may gain a greater understanding of their country, are a part of the expanded educational program now in effect at the museum.

Maps showing the areas in which the various birds are found, and cards of explanation, complete the display. It will remain at the Library for two weeks.

Waban

Thomas David Keery, son of Mr. and Mrs. T. Russell Kerry of Fenwick road, who is attending summer school at Wilbraham Academy, Wilbraham, Mass., is ranked among the Honor Students according to his scholastic standing which has just been released for the month of July.

Be sure and see the window display at Kennedy's, 32 Summer street, Boston, next week. It will show how clean and pleasant the work is at RAYTHEON—Advt.

Raytheon Joins Hands With Vets. Many of us fail to realize that the war does not abruptly end for a veteran of World War II when he receives his discharge papers and is returned to civilian life. He brings back with him a full raft of war memories and financial problems. Whirling round his head are questions about mustering out pay, government insurance, hospital benefits. It wasn't very long before the 379 war veterans working at Raytheon found out that they needed some help. They went to the Veterans' Bureau regarding these matters. And in true military fashion they did something about it. With the assistance of the company, they laid the foundation to a Raytheon veterans' organization that within short order developed into a solid outfit that not only made available every bit of information possible to presently employed veterans, but provided a sensible, down-to-earth program of testing and expert placement for re-hiring veterans as they returned to civilian life. Under the capable advice of Colonel J. H. VanHorn, a man who has seen 42 years of active service, himself, this friendly group is successfully wiping away the needless burdens of these soldiers who are so anxious to make good. The easy fraternity together with the entertainment programs are doing a top-flight job in diverting the minds of weary soldiers back to civilian ways of living, thinking and working.

Raytheon WAC Dies. With the first military funeral of a WAC ever held in Boston, Pvt. Helen M. Waugh of Roseberry road, Mattapan, and former Raytheon Radio Receiving Tube Division employee, was buried following her death from pneumonia at the Walter Reed Hospital in Washington on July 10.

Attending the military funeral services were a WAC guard of honor and a detail of soldiers from Fort Banks, who escorted the body to Mt. Hope Cemetery for burial.

Pvt. Waugh was the daughter of Mrs. Martha and the late Hedley Waugh.

While at Raytheon she worked first as a parts operator and was promoted to the position of instructor in the Training Dept. Pvt. Waugh left to enter the service in 1943.

Paint the Pockets With a Silver Lining. Tube Head Tim was looking at a newly completed oil painting portraying a lawyer standing in his favorite pose—with his hands in his pockets. Said T. H. to the artist, "The picture would be much better if you painted our lawyer friend with his hands in someone else's pockets."

New Canteen Chairman for Newton Red Cross

The Executive Committee of the Newton Red Cross recently approved the appointment of Mrs. Ernest H. McClure of Newton, as chairman of the Canteen Corps, to succeed Miss Agnes Early, it has been announced by Mrs. William L. Young, chairman of the Volunteer Special Services. Mrs. McClure has worked with Miss Early almost since the beginning of the Corps, and is thoroughly familiar with the entire set-up of the Chapter.

"We cannot allow Miss Early to leave us," said Mrs. Young, "without a word of appreciation for the splendid job she has done during her four years of service. She organized the Corps so that it could work for the community and the armed forces with the highest degree of efficiency. We deeply regret that she feels she must give up the chairmanship, and we feel most fortunate that Mrs. McClure is taking over. We know that the members of the Canteen Corps will rally round the new chairman and give her the same loyal support that they gave Miss Early."

ELKS AND BRAVES

ENTERTAIN H. S. CHAMPS
With members of the Boston Braves as guests, Newton Lodge of Elks last night tendered a testimonial dinner in Elks Hall to the Newton High School baseball team, winner of the State school-boy championship.

Each member of the high school team was presented a jacket with the school letter. The speakers at the occasion were Mayor Paul M. Gaddard, Jim Tobin of the Braves, Raymond Cabot, chairman of the School Committee and chairman of the Newton Red Cross; Dr. Homer Anderson, superintendent of schools; Daniel Kelly, state director of education; Bill Stewart, National League umpire; Playground Supervisor John "Buck" Donahue, and Coach Jeff Jones of the high school team.

The 11 o'clock toast was given by Edwin O. Child, past ruler. Exalted Ruler John Keefe presided at the business meeting. James Burns, chairman of the house committee, was in charge.

Past Exalted Ruler Thomas Ryan was master of ceremonies. All members of the high school team, with the exception of those in the service and those playing in the big leagues were present. The jackets were awarded to the following:

Noel Roberts, catcher, with Kingsport. Braves minor league team; Joe McNamara, pitcher, with Trenton. Braves minor league team; Wes Hayes, pitcher, with Middletown. Red Sox minor league team; John Recco, first baseman, with Wellspring, Yankees minor league team; Chuck Bryson, shortstop, now in the service; Hank Henry, third base, in the service; Bob Adamson, center fielder; Billy Ryan, right fielder; Bob Seaward, Phil Patterson, pitcher; Ralph Goodwin, pitcher; Eugene Biezniak, pitcher; Tom Carr, Bunk Gorman, Al Marshall and Henry Bartzak, infielders, all in the service; Art Weinstein, Ralph Scalia, Bob Gogan and Herb Baer, outfielders. Baer is in college.

Members of the Braves in attendance were Clyde Klutz, catcher; Jim Tobin, pitcher; Tommy Holmes, fielder; Warren Huston and Stanley Klapp. Fathers of the high school team members were also guests.

OPPOSE PARKING AREA ON HIGHLAND AVE.

Strenuous opposition by a large number of residents and property owners was voiced at a hearing last night at Newton City Hall on the proposed zoning change that would make it possible to use land at 9 Highland avenue, Newton, as a parking area by a proposed chain store establishment on Walnut street.

The petition was filed as a preliminary move to the construction of a First National Stores establishment on Walnut street. The petition, filed by Helen Landy, calls for the change of land at the rear of 9 Highland avenue, and driveways from Highland avenue and Austin street, from General Residence to Business District.

POLICEMAN CALLS FIRE DEPT. FOR HELP

The family of a Newton policeman was forced to call upon the Fire Department for help this morning when a leak occurred in an automatic refrigerator, filling the house with ammonia fumes.

The incident occurred at the home of Patrolman William Walsh, 102 Warwick road, West Newton. The call was received at 9:06 a.m.

FIREMEN CALLED FOR AWNING BLAZE

The Newton firemen were called out early Tuesday morning to extinguish a fire in an awning in front of the Fells barber shop at 210A Summer street, opposite the Newton Centre Post Office. Engine 3 and Engine 2 responded to the call at 3:13 a.m. and returned to quarters at 3:33 a.m.

Engine 1 was called out at 5:05 p.m. to extinguish a fire in railroad ties opposite Jackson road.

Engine 8 responded to a call at 4:42 p.m. for a dump fire at Linwood avenue and Bridge street.

S-SECT. MURPHY AWARDED OAK LEAF CLUSTER. POSTHUMOUSLY
Lieut. General Millard F. Harman, U. S. Army, Forces in the South Pacific, has announced the award (posthumously) of the Oak Leaf Cluster in lieu of an additional Air Medal to Robert G. Murphy, staff sergeant, 9th Corps, United States Army, for meritorious achievement while participating as aerial engineer from March 9 to May 1, 1944 in sustained combat operational missions.

GASOLINE THEFT

The theft of 15 gallons of gasoline from his car was reported to the Newton police last night by Donald Reed, 45 Harris road, Newton.

He stated that the theft occurred while the car was parked at Newton Corner or near 28 Eliot avenue, West Newton.

113 PER CENT OF WAR LOAN QUOTA PASSED

The Newton War Finance Committee yesterday announced that the total sum subscribed by Newton residents in the Fifth War Loan, through Saturday, July 22, had reached $9,819,000 or 113 per cent of the city's quota.

The committee stated, however, that the sales of "EZ" bonds to individuals totaled only 59 per cent of the quota. It was announced that all sales of "EZ" bonds through July 31 will be included in the final figures.

POLICEMAN'S WIFE CAUSES PAIR'S ARREST

An alert woman, wife of a policeman, brought about the arrest of two youths when they were allegedly caught in the act of stealing gasoline from an automobile in a gasoline station at Eliot and Boylston street, Newton Highlands.

Mrs. Thomas Mowherway, wife of Patrolman Mowherway, who resides near the scene, was awakened about 3 a.m. by the sound emanating from the gas station. She looked out of a window and what she saw led her to arouse her husband.

The latter notified headquarters and then, with Patrolman Wilfred Lupien and David Kerr, arrested the pair.

FIREMAN CALLED FOR AWNING BLAZE

The Newton firemen were called out early Tuesday morning to extinguish a fire in an awning in front of the Fells barber shop at 210A Summer street, opposite the Newton Centre Post Office. Engine 3 and Engine 2 responded to the call at 3:13 a.m. and returned to quarters at 3:33 a.m.

WOMAN HURT AS TOLT LETS MACHINE ROLL

A woman was injured when the parked car in the way was set ad suddenly rolled down hill and struck a tree on Centre street, Newton Centre, near Fire Alarm Headquarters.

The operator, Theodore Katramados of Dracut, had left the car to inquire directions. He reported to the police that during his absence a child in the car put the motor into gear, causing the machine to start rolling until it hit the tree.

Mrs. Gianoula Katramados, who was in the car at the time of the accident, suffered a cut about the right eye and an injury to her left leg. She was removed to the Newton Hospital about 11 o'clock in the police ambulance by Patrolman Joseph H. Smith and Joseph M. Greeley.

Each issue of "What's Cookin' in Newton" is reprinted in its entirety in THE NEWTON GRAPHIC.

EVERTS RESIGNS FROM BOARD OF ALDERMEN

A letter of resignation from Albert P. Everts of 114 Kirkstall road, Newtonville, alderman-at-large from Ward 2, was received by the Board of Aldermen at their meeting on Monday night. The letter was received by President Joseph B. Jamieson and the resignation was accepted by the Board on motion of Alderman Henderson Inches.

Alderman Everts has served on the Board for several years. In his letter he stated that his resignation is due to the fact that he recently took on new obligations.

He was statewide head of the 4th War Loan Campaign. A date for the election of his successor has not been set by the Board. Under the law, vacancies in the board are filled by vote of the remaining members.

LAND SOUGHT FOR PLAYGROUND USE

A petition signed by nearly 100 residents of Newtonville, requesting the establishment of a playground for "younger children" on two city-owned lots on Wilton road, was presented to Mayor Paul M. Gaddard yesterday by Alderman John E. Barwise, alderman-at-large from Ward 1.

The petition was first presented to Alderman Barwise by Mr. and Mrs. J. Edgar Birdsell, 111 Court street, Newtonville, leaders in the movement. They were among the signers of the petition and were active in circulating it in the neighborhood.

The location of the two lots, fronting on Wilton street is near the junction of Central avenue and Court street. The signers included residents of those streets, as well as Walnut street, Walnut terrace, Omar terrace, Chesley avenue, Washington street, Beach street and Cladlin place.

ONE SON MISSING, ANOTHER ON WAY HOME

Mr. and Mrs. David W. O'Boyle, 102 Gramsme street, Newton, whose son, Lt. David W. O'Boyle, Jr., 23, was reported missing in action on a bombing raid over Germany, have been informed that their other son, Staff Sgt. James J. O'Boyle, 20, has completed 50 missions as an aerial gunner and is on his way home.

The news awaited them in a letter from Sgt. O'Boyle when they returned home from a visit to their missing son's wife and infant son, David W. O'Boyle, 3rd, born June 17. They met their son's family at a formal ceremony at St. Field, Ill., at which the Air Medal that he had won was presented to his wife.

Sgt. O'Boyle was tail gunner on a Liberator bomber. He was graduated from Newton High school in 1941, entered the service January 23, 1943, and went overseas to the Mediterranean area after his brother, Lt. O'Boyle, went to England.

ELKS TO EQUIP PEABODY HOME OPERATING ROOM

Newton Lodge of Elks has voted to raise funds to refit and install new equipment in the operating room at the New England Peabody Home for Crippled Children.

The lodge has already contributed $600 to the fund and more money is needed to complete the work. The funds were provided by the social and community welfare committee.

The home was originally planned as a place where crippled children would be given proper care. However, with the great strides that have been taken by medical science, it has developed into an orthopedic hospital where medical and surgical work of a highly skilled nature is performed and where children cease to be crippled and become useful, self-supporting members of society.

R. John Henderson is chairman and Bernard T. Haffey is assistant chairman of the social and community welfare committee.

Sgt. O'Boyle was tail gunner on a Liberator bomber. He was graduated from Newton High school in 1941, entered the service January 23, 1943, and went overseas to the Mediterranean area after his brother, Lt. O'Boyle, went to England.

COL. HEVESSY RETURNS FROM SOUTH PACIFIC

"Lt. Col. James J. Hevesy, U. S. Army, of 506 Parker street, Newton Centre, who has seen service in both World Wars I and II, has just returned from the South Pacific. He arrived in Boston aboard the Democratic Special from Chicago having been observed in the Chicago station by Judge Frank Tomassello of the Boston Municipal Court and Dick Casey, originator of the Casey Club baseball team of Neponset, who invited him to ride along with them instead of waiting for the regular train which was to follow the special.

After reporting at Fort Devens Col. Hevesy will join his wife and daughter, Barbara, 13, at Atlantic City, N. J.

STATE GUARD ADVANCES FOUR NEWTON MEN

The names of four Newton members of the State Guard appear on the list of 56 men commissioned and assigned by Adj. Gen. William J. Keville yesterday.

Second Lt. Frank A. Stevens, Jr., was promoted to first lieutenant and Sgt. Bernard Marglin was commissioned a second lieutenant. They are both with 3rd Company, 23rd Infantry, whose headquarters are at the West Newton Armory.

Richard F. Schroeder of Newton Highlands was appointed first lieutenant with the 3rd Motor Squadron and Lloyd D. Tarlin of Newton was appointed first lieutenant at Headquarters and Service Command.

COULDN'T WAIT, JOINS COAST GUARD

George L. Tobin, Jr., 17, son of Patrolman Tobin of the Newton police, who recently was graduated from Newton High School, enlisted in the Navy last April and was told to await a call. He waited, but the call did not come, and he became impatient. A few days ago he learned that the Navy would not put him on active duty until just before his 18th birthday.

Thereupon, he received permission to switch to the Coast Guard and was soon on his way to Manhattan Beach, N. Y., to start his training.

"I wanted to get in before the war is over," he explained to his friends.

LT. COCHRAN NOW CAPTAIN
The promotion of Robert Louis Cochran, 98 Jewett street, Newton, from first lieutenant to captain was announced yesterday by the War Department. Capt. Cochran is in the Ordnance Department of the Army.

Camp Frank A. Day

Monday, July 31—The past week at Camp Day has been filled with a series of interesting activities. The regular league schedules were followed the first part of the week, and the summaries of games played in the senior line had shifted from Tent 1 to Tent 2; Tent 14 held the coveted first place standing in the junior line; and Cabin 21 was at the top of the midge heap.

The evening activities were varied. On Monday evening there was another boxing exhibition with participants from all the camps. Tuesday evening the midges went on their long-awaited rowing expedition. The fleet of row boats left the Camp Day dock directly after supper under the able supervision of Mr. Reginald Smith, waterfront director, and Mr. Marotto, the head of the midge line, and returned in time to get the little fellows to bed by 8:15. At the same time the seniors and the counselors were staging an exhibition ball game at the senior diamond.

Wednesday evening a hilarious imitation of "Truth and Consequences" was put on in the dining hall. On the stage were "Dave Crafts" who had to imitate a Hawaiian dancer; Mr. Allen, Mr. Johnson, and Mr. Larsson who had to pay the forfeit of singing with clothespins on their noses; "Boss Humphrey," "Bob" Scanlon, "Herb" Frary and a certain J. A. all added to the evening performance with their hilarious imitation antics. Lyndon Pettys and "Ted" Fowler assisted the master of ceremonies. Thursday evening the feature picture shown was "The Buccaneer."

The latter part of the week all efforts were directed toward the circus. The league games were canceled, and the campers fell to with a will to make the circus the great success it proved to be.

Saturday morning dawned cloudy and very doubtful, but it proved to be an ideal day. It was not too warm, and the spectators had a chance to enjoy the performance without resorting to the shade trees at the far side of the field. The circus commenced with a parade led by ring-master "Herb" Frary. Then came the animals, the tumbler, the clown, the musicians, and last but not by no means least the ancient and honorable Hoophus, just released from the jungles of South America, a very strange looking beast.

The senior line put on a bathing beauty contest which proved to be a close match between Jerry Seekin and "Joe" Virgona. After the second time, "Jerry" was crowned "Miss Camp Day" for 1944. The junior line put on an historical pageant with Fred Allen as Stalin; "Bill" Kepner, Hitler; Kenneth Morrell, Mussolini; Vee Wong, Chiang Kai Shek; Trevor Davies, Churchill. The midges put on their usual covered wagon stunt. The tumbling was in charge of Kenneth Morrell and "Bob" Barnard, and the clowns were headed by "Herb" Bailey. It was a great circus, and the two hundred odd visitors in camp warmly applauded and testified to its quality.

IT'S HOT NOW!

But, just the same, we urge you to order your cold weather protection AT ONCE and avoid waiting for weeks when fall comes. We were weeks behind in installing awnings all spring and only by ordering weather stripping now will you avoid delays this fall and winter.

IT'S GOING TO BE JUST AS COLD THEN AS IT IS HOT NOW.

There will be a shortage of awning materials next season and we are already taking orders for 1945 installations. First come, first served.

Women Wanted to Back Invasion At Newton War Firm

D-Day began the invasion but it didn't end it. In the coming months, there will be a continuous series of invasions into the Fortresses of Europe, into the far-flung reaches of the Pacific. Production goals are climbing higher and higher. More and more equipment is needed. The women of Belmont and Watertown can help by signing up with the Sherman Paper Products Corporation at Newton Upper Falls. You'll be working with clean, light paper, manufacturing products for the Army and Navy and for vital food industries. Sherman protective packaging materials are used by every branch of the Armed Forces, including the Air Forces, Signal Corps, quarter-master Corps, Ordnance, Engineers and Tank Corps. On the home-front, these materials protect your food. On the battle-fronts they protect first-aid supplies.

The Sherman Paper Products Corporation, an essential war industry, offers you good war-time rates with wage-increase plans and profitable bonus arrangements on many of the processes. The work is clean and interesting... easy on your eyes... easy on your hands. The surroundings are pleasant and the employees friendly and helpful. If you can work only in spare time, the Sherman Corporation offers a choice of convenient four-hour Victory shifts. And for mothers, they suggest an exchange club with a friend or neighbor. Let her care for your children while you work and you care for her children while she works. Get in the invasion. Back our boys on the battle-fronts from the home-front. Skilled or unskilled, if you are over 16, call Mr. Pillsbury at LASele 4980 and enlist in the fight.

Be sure and see the window display at Kennedy's, 32 Summer street, Boston, next week. It will show how clean and pleasant the work is at RAYTHEON—Advt.

Union Services At Unitarian Church, West
Newton During August

The Summer Union Services which have been held at the Newton Methodist church for the past five Sundays, will be held at the Unitarian church, West Newton, during August and September 3rd. In the absence of the Rev. McIlroy Hamilton Lichter, D.D., the service next Sunday will be conducted by Dr. Lichter, son of the Rev. James M. Lichter of St. Louis. His sermon topic will be "The Call Not To Go."

Be sure and see the window display at Kennedy's, 32 Summer street, Boston, next week. It will show how clean and pleasant the work is at RAYTHEON—Advt.

Coast Guard Reserves
To Observe 154th
Anniversary

In observance of the 154th anniversary of the Coast Guard, Flotilla 518, U.S.C.G. Auxiliary Temporary Reserve, of Newton will hold a celebration in Elks Hall Friday evening, August 4.

The guest speaker will be Lt. Anthony W. Sabino, U. S. N., physician, who participated in the invasion of Normandy. Dr. Sabino's home is at 525 Lowell avenue, Newtonville.

Mayor Paul M. Goddard will also be a speaker and Commander Winfield Anderson, captain of Flotilla 518, will be in charge of the meeting. Lt. W. G. Butterworth, captain of District 5A of Greater Boston and other officials of the district will be guests.

Refreshments will be served and the musical program will include the singing of the Coast Guard song "Semper Paratus."

The Newton flotilla has a membership of 135 men and their drills are held in the Newton High School drill shed. The members are required to give at least 12 hours of active service a week to the Coast Guard.

New Car Pooling Plan Announced By Newton Ration Bd.

A rigid program to require all home-to-work automobile drivers to carry "full car clubs" was announced today by the Newton Rationing Board.

This plan is effective August 1 and is part of a nation-wide program to save gasoline and tires by stepping up the efficiency of car pooling.

With inauguration of the new plan, local War Price and Rationing Boards will be expected to refuse full supplemental gasoline rations to home-to-work drivers who have not yet completed full car clubs.

Under the mileage rationing regulations, home-to-work drivers are required to carry three riders in addition to the driver, in order to qualify for supplemental mileage.

With inauguration of the new program, local boards will issue only enough gasoline for 30 days to those who do not have full ride-sharing arrangements.

During the 30-day period, the board chairman said, applicants who lack sufficient drivers will be expected to recruit their car clubs to full strength, then they may return their applications to the board, showing signatures of three or more riders, and the board will issue supplemental rations for the normal three-month period.

If alternative means of transportation exist, local boards will be expected to refuse supplemental rations to drivers who do not meet the car-sharing requirements.

A more efficient car-sharing program is necessary to conserve vital gasoline and tires. The local board is anxious to cooperate in every way to insure every driver his fair share. But we must recognize that OPA, in requiring full car-sharing, is acting only to protect every driver's share.

OPA is seeking to encourage the rotation of cars by members of car clubs. By riding together, members of such a car pool can use each car only one day out of four or five. Thus each driver can help reduce their total gasoline consumption by as much as 80 percent, increase the operating life of each car five-fold, and materially prolong the life of his tires.

Drivers can also satisfy the ride-sharing requirements by forming a club of neighbors who do not have cars.

No. Congregational Church Calls Northbridge Pastor

The Rev. Arthur B. Clarke, pastor of Northbridge, Mass., for 18 years, has accepted a call to North Congregational Church in Newton. He will assume his new post Sept. 17.

Rev. Clarke is a graduate of the Andover Newton Theological School, Class of 1931. He will reside with his wife and 3 sons, at the parsonage, 40 Bridge street. The Clarke's also have two daughters, one married and another who is about to enter a branch of the Armed Services.

City Clerk Reminds Relatives To Register Boys In Service

City Clerk Frank E. Grant this week is mailing a circular to the relatives of service men, titled "An important message explaining how members of your family in service may vote." The circular explains in detail the simple steps that must be taken in order for a man in service to receive a ballot.

To make an application for a ballot, the applicant must appear in person at the City Clerk's Office at City Hall during the regular office hours, which are 8:30 a. m. to 5 p. m. daily. City Hall is closed Saturday during July and August.

Applications may also be made at the various branch libraries and at 130 Adams street, Nonantum on Monday, Tuesday and Thursday, August 14, 15 and 17 from 7 to 9 p. m., and on Monday August 14 from 7 to 9 p. m. at 9 High street, Upper Falls; also from 6:30 to 9:30 p. m. at 677 Grove street, Lower Falls.

Applicants are also reminded that if the person for whom the application is made is a naturalized citizen, or has derived United States citizenship through the naturalization of some other person, be sure to bring either his own papers of naturalization or derivative certificate of citizenship or the naturalization papers of the person through whom he derived citizenship.

At a meeting of the members of his entire Finishing Studio, Newton, held on August 4, Louis Fabian Bachrach, president of Bachrach, Inc., portrait photographer since 1868, made a formal recognition of a total of 135 years of service on the part of seven of his staff.

Three of these, A. Norman Needy, Newton, Superintendent of the Finishing Studio; John Coleman, Newton, truck driver; Marjorie Simpson, Boston studio, will wear diamond service pins because of twenty-five years with the firm. Catherine O'Dowd, Cambridge and Hester Kelly, Saxonville, of the modelling department; Irma White, inspector; Barbara Stevenson, Watertown, accounting department, received sapphire pins for fifteen years of service.

Metropolitan Police Rescue Bather

Metropolitan police officers used a novel method of first aid to save the life of a bather in the River-side Recreation grounds swimming pool, Auburndale on Saturday.

John Flaherty, 13, of Watertown was taken from the pool by Thomas E. Weigand of Brookline, and brought to shore unconscious. Patrolmen William Cronin and John Boudrot of the Metropolitan River-side station then applied first aid. Cronin held the boy by the ankles, head down, and Boudrot kept the victim's tongue clear of his throat. When the water had been cleared from the boy's larynx and bronchial tubes, the patrolmen used the prone method for an hour to revive him after which he was taken to the Newton Hospital for observation.

Blytheville Army Air Field, Blytheville, Ark.—(Special to the Graphic)—"The Army had a feast."

This is the way that A/C Charles H. Marr, seated in the cockpit, and Donald Marr, his twin, both fledgling pilots at the baaf, sum up their military experiences.

"We enlisted as aviation cadets June 26, 1942, they recall. "And we were scared stiff we'd be separated for the first time in our lives. The AAF was good to us, however. We've been together in every phase of our training, first at Maxwell Field, Ala., later at Camden, Ark., then at Walnut Ridge, Ark., and now here. All we hope is that our luck will stay with us. We want to go to combat together. If we do, you'll hear from the Marr twins."

Cadets Marr, natives of Newton Highlands, were students in civilian life.

Lt. Shelman Receives Purple Heart

It has been learned by Mr. and Mrs. Hyman Shelman of 94 Dalby street, Newton, that their son, First Lt. Jacob Arkey Shelman upon emerging from a foxhole after crouching there for three hours during a Japanese air raid was wounded by shrapnel and received the Purple Heart.

Shelman, 32, was a former Newton High School athlete and Golden Gloves contender. He entered the Army in March, 1941, and after working his way up to staff sergeant in a field artillery battalion at Camp Edwards transferred to the Army Air Forces. He attended Officers' Candidate School in Florida and was a physical instructor at Amarillo Field, Texas, for a year. He applied for overseas duty and was sent to the Southwest Pacific last March. He received his wound on Biak in New Guinea on June 12 and is now in charge of the construction corps at an Army Air Base.

At Newton High School, Lt. Shelman played football and baseball. In amateur boxing circles he was known as the "second Benny Leonard" and advanced to the national elimination at Madison Square Garden in the welterweight class. Before entering the Army he was employed by Shelby Sales Company. His brother is Dr. Samuel Shelman, Newton dentist.

Lt. Hanson Awarded Navy Cross, Received Congressional Medal of Honor

WASHINGTON, August 10—First Lieutenant Robert M. Hanson, ace Marine fighter pilot, who is missing in action, has been awarded the Navy Cross. He recently was awarded the Congressional Medal of Honor and also holds the Air Medal.

Missing since February 3, the 24-year-old son of Rev. and Mrs. Harry A. Hanson, of 31 Brooks avenue, Newton, Mass., had shot down 25 Japanese planes before his own crashed into the sea while flying cover for Allied bombers over Rabaul, New Britain.

Lieutenant Hanson, who bagged 20 enemy planes in six consecutive flying days, was awarded the Navy Cross for "extraordinary heroism" in action against the Japs in the Solomon Islands area from January 5 to February 3.

Staff Sgt. Elkind Gives Life In Battle Of France

A Newton infantryman has given his life in the battle of France, according to word received by his parents from the War Department.

Staff Sgt. Milton Elkind, 23, son of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Elkind of 15 Holland street, Newton, was killed in action in France on July 5, the telegram stated. In his last letter to his parents, dated July 3, Sgt. Elkind described the country where his unit was fighting.

A native of Worcester, Sgt. Elkind attended Newton High School and was associated with his father in the cleaning business before entering the Army 23 months ago. He was sent overseas in February.

Besides his parents, he leaves three sisters, Harriet and Marilyn, twins and Mrs. Bernice Taylor, whose husband, Pvt. Benjamin Taylor is in the Army stationed in North Carolina.

Veteran of 47 Missions Listed as Missing in Action

Three days after his 21st birthday, Technical Sgt. James B. Mason of Newton, failed to return from a bombing mission over Austria.

Sgt. Mason was an engineer-gunner on a Liberator bomber and was nearing the end of his combat tour, having completed 47 missions from his base in Italy. He was awarded the Air Medal and four Oak Leaf clusters.

In the last letter received from him, which was dated June 22, he told of receiving a birthday card from his parents, Mr. and Mrs. James B. Mason of 243 Pearl street, Newton.

A graduate of Newton High School, he entered the Army on Nov. 24, 1942 and has been overseas since January. His father was a sergeant in the Field Artillery during World War I and saw action in France. A brother, Aviation Cadet Edward W. Mason, will soon receive his Army pilot wings at Moody Field, Ga. He also has a sister, Mrs. Beatrice O'Donnell, and another brother, Allan.

Enter Notre Dame Convent

Miss Katherine Elizabeth Corcoran, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James W. Corcoran of 23 Stratford road, West Newton, entered the Notre Dame Convent in Waltham on Tuesday.

Miss Corcoran graduated from St. Bernard's High School last June. She was tendered a farewell party by relatives and friends on Saturday and received many gifts of money.

Her father has been a member of the Newton Police Department for the past 16 years.

New Custodian For Library

Charles A. Babbins, who has been employed by the Newton Free Library for the past 20 years, has been appointed supervisor of custodians in the Library Department.

He has been acting supervisor for the past year and his name was first on the list of those who took the Civil Service examination for the post.

Mr. Babbins is married, has one daughter and makes his home at 378 Watertown street, Newton.

Newton Police Force Loses Traffic Bureau Member

Inspector Alfred W. Hammell of the Newton police traffic bureau, a member of the Police Department for 18 years, has resigned from the force to accept a position in the Engineering Department of the Raytheon Manufacturing Co.

He was appointed a member of the force April 10, 1926 and for eight years served as a motorcycle officer.

In his new occupation, he will be aided by a background of technical training that includes a two year course at the Wentworth Institute in Boston. Inspector and Mrs. Hammell live at 298 Parker street, Newton Centre.

Newton Has One Fatality

Newton ranks first in highway safety in its population class statistics compiled by the Massachusetts Safety Council show.

The rate of motor deaths is alarming, according to a summation for the state issued by Albert E. Laose, director of the highway safety division of the Massachusetts Safety Council. "Fatality figures to the end of June show that 214 humans were killed, this being an increase of 48 fatalities over the same period a year ago."

In communities of 50,000 to 100,000 population Newton for the first six months of 1944, had one fatality, and 151 injured in 107 collisions.

THE BOY IN THE TURRET

This war turns up more varieties of heroic, breath-taking specialization than any other ever fought. Take the air gunner—not the pilot but the gunner, the lad who rides in the turret and with luck brings down the enemy aircraft, saving his own plane and ship and perhaps firing the shot that turns danger for hundreds of men into victory.

He is likely to be just a boy. Any older, thumbing through the booklet which tells what an Air Crewman has to know, will feel like retiring into a dark corner in shame at his own colossal ignorance. He has to know his guns and how to take them apart and fix them in the dark. He must be able to shoot accurately under the most appalling conditions. He must know something about engines, radio transmission and reception, bombs, fuses, and torpedoes, the shapes of his own and enemy aircraft and the theory and practice of flight. This is the youngster who was having trouble with his plane geometry just the other day.

Whether he is scared or not when he goes up to meet the enemy, nobody knows. He may say he is, but that proves nothing. Being scared isn't in the books, at any rate. He has to do his work in mid-air as precisely and accurately as though he were a skilled worker in a safe little shop fixing a watch. And he does.

The air gunner's prize insignia is a pair of silver wings. It would be worth while watching for this emblem and paying some attention to the youngsters who wear it.

He takes a beating that only youth can endure. Sometimes he is beaten down, that being the nature of war. If he survives, nothing this Republic can offer in the way of honor and opportunity will be too good for the air gunner.

JUNK GOES TO WAR

A few years ago prosperity in this country was measured by what we threw away. Sometimes it seemed that the more quickly we could junk our possessions the better we felt. Well, as most of us know, times have changed.

We don't throw away tin cans any more, if we are good citizens. As you know, the Japanese have most of the tin mines we used to rely on. We need tin to coat containers of army and navy rations; to protect medical supplies—including the little syrette that brings relief from pain; to put into the fighting ships, tanks, trucks, engines, airplanes and radar equipment.

We don't throw away rags—they can be reclaimed and have a myriad of military and naval uses.

We don't throw away paper—the Army and Navy use 2800 items made of paper, ranging from fibre shipping containers for blood plasma to blue prints and wrappings for spare gear.

We don't throw away fats—they are needed in the manufacture of explosives, medical supplies, synthetic rubber, incendiary bombs, paints, soaps, lubricants and countless other absolutely essential products.

Most of us know these facts. The difficulty is in fully realizing them. Nothing is so unsightly as waste material. The natural impulse is to toss it in the garbage can. Surely this stuff won't win the war.

But let our imaginations play over it for a moment, let us try to see clearly what this junk can be made to do by the miracles of science, and we will understand that it can win the war. Out of this unpleasant waste and trash come healing, help and victory.

The garbage collectors and junk sorters might well travel with flags and a band.

Newton In The Past

55 Years Ago

Newton Graphic, August 9, 1889

The old house being torn down on land owned by Hon. Levi S. Wade, at Oak Hill, is probably the oldest landmark in that part of Newton. The original owner of the house was Mr. Elijah Stone, who is only remembered by the oldest people in the vicinity, and it continued in the possession of the Stone family for a long time. The house was built about 1710 as near as can be ascertained, making it about 180 years old. There are two other elderly houses in the same vicinity which are known to be not far from 150 years old occupied at present by Mrs. Ramsdell and Mr. Charles Esty.

In court, this week, 14 cases were disposed of as follows: Drunks, 4; disturbance of the peace, 4; violation of the city ordinances, 3; assault and battery, 1; breaking glass, 1; evasion of carfare, 1.

Very little coal has been consumed in the different mills in Newton Lower Falls this summer compared with previous seasons, and it has been a great saving to the different manufacturers. The river was never known to be so high before.

50 Years Ago

Newton Graphic, August 10, 1894

Though the choir at Grace Church, Newton, is composed of but few of the choir boys, many being away on their vacations, the singing is still kept up to the usual standard.

It took five men five minutes to pull the horse out of the house (Nonantum) when Box 17 rang on Tuesday.

Simpson Brothers, Newton, are receiving many orders for their new granolithic paving, and have recently finished a large contract in East Boston.

A meeting of the Newton Highlands Improvement Association was called for August 15th, in reference to improvement of Crystal Lake for park purposes.

The call extended by the First Congregational Church to Rev. Edward M. Noyes of Duluth, Minn., has been accepted. The call was extended by practically the unanimous voice of the church, and this action on his part will be gladly received.

25 Years Ago

Newton Graphic, August 8, 1919

In the fourth loan Newton, with a quota of $5,738,000, turned in 13,000 subscriptions that totaled $8,801,600.

With the turning over by the Metropolitan Park Commission as completed, the new North Beacon street bridge that spans the Charles River near the Watertown Arsenal, motorists of Newton and Watertown will soon be able to avail themselves of the new "short route" to Boston, for during the present month the bridge will be thrown open to traffic. During the war the government kept the bridge and the adjacent part of North Beacon street closed as a precautionary measure.

On Monday morning in Nonantum, Newton Centre, Newton Upper Falls, and West Newton, large quantities of the government's surplus Army food will be placed on public sale by the city. All goods are to be sold at cost and in the case of canned meats this means 20 percent less than the government paid for the commodities.

Newton Rotary Club

Newton Rotary Club met at the Charles River Country Club Friday afternoon.

In the absence of President Orville Clapper, Past President and Past District Governor Charles H. Meeker presided.

The club was treated by an excellent talk by one of its own members, Howard Selby, Mr. Selby is general manager of United Farmers' Co-operative Creamery Association, Inc. He is also a past president of the Springfield, Massachusetts, Rotary Club, past district governor of Rotary in Florida, and past director of Rotary International.

Mr. Selby has been interested in the agricultural co-operative movement for over 25 years, and gave the club a most informative talk on the method of operation of such a system to both the farmer and the public. He also spoke of the wonderful work the farmers were doing in promoting the war effort.

Visiting Rotarians: Charles A. Jordan of the Weymouth Club; Forbes Norris of Richmond, Virginia; James O'Connell of Watertown; and Stanley Newman of the Cambridge Club.

Guests were Arthur Robinson of Newton and Edwin Rowell of Lancaster.

Mr. Roy Edwards of the Newton Citizens' Committee for Returning Veterans called attention to the booklet published by the New England Mutual Life Insurance Company in which the Newton Plan is recommended for use in all cities and towns.

The sympathy of the club was extended to President Orville Clapper on the passing of his father. The late Mr. Clapper was past president of the Indianapolis Rotary Club.

Dr. Homer Anderson reported that he had received news from his son Stewart who was recently injured in action in Italy, and the club extended best wishes for his speedy recovery.

Politics With Color

by P. W. C.

Republican State Journal

There are undoubtedly many Republicans in this city who remember a very interesting, informative magazine published in Boston during the year 1937. It was called the Republican State Journal and was edited by James Dempsey, who had been former Mayor Sinclair Weeks' secretary. Unfortunately, it folded up after a rather brief splash in the magazine world. Your columnist was one of five associate editors and also helped promote the publication in Newton.

My reason for mentioning this now is simply this: a perusal of the first issue in January, 1937 uncovered an intriguing story about the Presidents of the United States who have been elected in years past with a zero. Beginning with the year 1840, every man elected President in a year ending with a zero died in office:

1840—William H. Harrison
1860—Abraham Lincoln
1880—James A. Garfield
1896—William McKinley

1920—Warren G. Harding
Underneath these names and dates was this significant sentence, "Who will be President in 1950?" (Condensed from "Unknown Knowledge" by George W. Stimpson.)

My readers may wonder just why I reproduce these statistics now. It is NOT because I am a fatalist or unduly superstitious. It is merely because it seems to me worthwhile to have the voters, Democratic and Republican alike, stop, look and listen before casting their vitally important votes next November. Let us suppose that Mr. Roosevelt has been re-elected, begins serving his fourth term and then, suddenly, passes away or is forced by his physician to retire on account of his health.

Without meaning any disrespect to Senator Truman, who has done some excellent work as chairman of the Truman Committee, the cold, hard facts are that this Senator is not a particularly talented statesman, diplomat or administrator. Except for the activities of the Truman Committee, he would be no other color member of the upper branch of Congress. Furthermore, it is probably true that much of the fine work of his committee has been done by the other members of the group. The newspapers, of course, play up the activities of the chairman. My personal hunch is that Senator Harold Burton of Ohio and several other Senators of BOTH parties have actually done much of the praiseworthy work of the committee.

Now to the point. How would several million voters of both parties feel if their personal idol, Franklin Delano Roosevelt, whom they sincerely believe is the "indispensable man," should disappear from the scene and be replaced by Senator Harry Truman? Certainly there would be hundreds of thousands of Republicans and undoubtedly many, many Democrats who would regret that they had not cast their votes for Gov. Dewey of New York. In politics as in life it pays to be realistic. Why not face the fact that it is extremely unlikely that our present President can possibly survive a grueling fourth term? Why not face the further fact that he will be operating at about 50 per cent efficiency at a crucial time when the country has a right to demand 100 per cent efficiency? Can anyone say that I am taking an unreasonable stand or being hard on our distinguished leader?

The Independent Vote

The preceding paragraphs lead me to another thought, expressed very pungently last night by Marquis Childs in his syndicated column in the Boston Traveler. It is this: The huge independent vote in our country is in a quandary. Mr. Roosevelt has changed of late. He acts, looks and talks as though he was a very, very tired man. To the writer, the photographs taken of the President when he made his acceptance speech from the West Coast were reminiscent of the pathetic photographs of President Woodrow Wilson, taken when he was a beaten, battered and heartbroken old man. The feeling seems to be growing that the President is practically a sick man right now, despite the public protestations to the contrary by his personal physician. He talks less frequently on the radio and when he does talk he seems far, far away.

On the other side of the picture is Gov. Dewey. The New Yorker is much younger and is now on the crest of the wave. Nobody questions his great talents and tremendous potentialities. Up to date, however, he has somehow failed to stir the imagination or the genuine interest of the great bulk of the independent voters. Is this due to his instinctive aloofness or to his resemblance to a perfect human machine? Is it, perhaps, due to his political inability to take a forthright stand on delicate issues of the day? For example, he publicly blasted Congressman Hamilton Fish for daring to mention the Jewish vote in connection with F.D.R.'s political strength, but he said nothing at all about Fish's marked isolationism. In other words, Dewey gives the impression of fearing to alienate the isolationist vote. Small wonder, then, that Wendell Willkie continues to sit on the fence.

The big question today, therefore, is simply this: Will President Roosevelt or Governor Dewey receive the bulk of the great independent vote on Nov. 7?

Whither World?

The Bretton Woods Conference Part 2

As the Bretton Woods Conference formula unfolds from the utter-technical and legal verbiage of the experts, into the common vernacular, there appears the outline of two important implications that can be utilized to curb cyclical trade depressions, and also depressions which stem other causes, such as crop failures in countries depending on agriculture as the principal source of national income. One of the other things take a come, depending on a specific raw material as the major item from which the national income is derived. The loss of this market by a substitute for that raw material in a given manufacturing process will not only depress the internal economic structure of the country suffering the primary loss, but the economic repercussions will be felt in the industrial countries which supply the manufactured goods, because of decreased purchasing power and other emergency measures to protect their financial structure. Economic Upheavals in Postwar

The post war world will be replete with economic up-heavals due to the discovery of new sources of raw material, and new manufacturing processes. The Bretton Woods conference and the initiative released by the all out for war effort. And also a few manufacturing ideas that the government war production agencies tried out of cold storage, where they were kept for sundry reasons by the government. For example Nylon is used as a substitute for hemp and minala in the manufacture of cordage. Rayon, Nilon, Fiberglass and a milk byproduct is made into cloth as a substitute for silk and cotton in the manufacture of clothing. Rubber is now being made from Gasoline and Alcohol instead of the sap of the rubber tree.

China, India, Dutch East Indies, Japan and Australia are going to suffer the loss of national income if the world economy is not stopped by international markets that they will lose because of these substitutes in the manufacture of Cordage, Rubber and clothing. Consequently this loss of national income will be reflected in their purchasing power of manufactured goods such as automobiles, machinery, clothing, from industrial countries. Thus natural calamities or the discovery of new sources of raw materials, either natural or synthetic can set into motion dangerous economic misfortune that will have to be stopped by international boundaries, but penetrates the whole economic structure of the nations involved.

This means that the manufacturers who had been supplying the nation now suffering economic misfortune will have to curtail their output until a new outlet is found. Curtailed output means less money to spend for new machinery or plant replacements, this will be reflected in a loss of income to the machine industry. Workers will have to be laid off or their working time reduced due to loss of market. The workers will have less money to spend for necessities, and the merchants and manufacturers who supplied them will also be caught in the whirlpool of depression. Stockholders in the effected companies may also suffer loss of dividends and decrease in value of their securities.

An Interdependent World

The mechanization of production has made the whole world interdependent on a delicate network of production either of raw material or manufacturing by what ever cause, will throw the delicately balanced economic mechanism out of adjustment, the shock will be felt in all countries regardless of geographic location. The highly industrialized nations in the production for profit orbit will sustain the heaviest shock, because they are more dependent on foreign markets to absorb their excess products. This fact was proven in the world depression of 1929-1932. In all countries other than the United States and the Soviet Union, production fell 27 per cent, while our production dropped 47 per cent. In other words our national income for 1929 was $85,000,000,000 in 1932 the national income dropped to $40 billion a loss of 43 billion dollars.

Only the Soviet Union escaped the effects of the economic famine of 1929-1932 and this due to the fact that the Soviet economic set up was geared to an intensive program of industrialization and exploitation of her natural resources.

Since the United States is the most highly industrialized nation in the world any impediment in the channels supply and demand from what ever cause will effect us to a greater degree than the rest of the world.

Part 3 of this article will deal with the proposed International Stabilization Fund, and the International Bank for Reconstruction and Development.

Kiwanis Club

An unusually interesting moving picture entitled "Trees and Home" was shown at the regular weekly meeting of the Kiwanis Club last Tuesday. The picture, which was in Technicolor with sound, was presented by the Crosby Film Service through the courtesy of the Weymouth Forest Products Co. of St. Paul, Minn. The film depicted operations of the lumber industry on the West Coast.

Prize winners at the meeting were Dr. Frank Paul, Walter Hood and Cady Peck.

The speaker next week will be Mr. Harold A. Wooster, librarian of the Newton Free Library. His subject has not been announced.

Auburndale

That's What Raytheon Is Made Of.

During Loyalty week the nation pledged with Americans to stick to the job—at least until the war is over. Now, if you had taken a look at the five, ten, or fifteen year employees at Raytheon's Radio Receiving Tube Division and noticed that air of accomplishment about them, it would almost make you wonder if you wouldn't be doing yourself a favor instead of the government by holding on to or taking a war job. Raytheon was an infant in the early '20's but today it has grown to manhood and gone to war. Growing along with Raytheon has been its employees—experienced and inexperienced—from grammar schools, high schools, and colleges. Side by side with their hands and minds they have moulded Raytheon. And these persons can stand back today, with their hands on their hips, look 'er over, and with a prideful nod state that they have brought Raytheon up well and it's a credit to them. And as you look at these employees of long-standing, you think to yourself that Raytheon has also brought them up well. These people stand on their job—and their job taught them perseverance. They used their mentality to improve their job—and their job developed in them fine, alert minds. They learned to get on with people for the sake of their job—and their job gave them life-long friends.

They put their confidence in Raythyon and Raytheon has developed faith and confidence in themself.

Raytheon builds tubes it's true, but it is doing all right on its sideline—the building of character and careers.

Double Feature Heroes. Cpl. Thomas and S-Sgt. John Gately, identical twin brothers of Mildred

Gately, 14 Arcadia road, Woburn, joined the Army together, were sent to the Pacific, together, and now were awarded, together, citations for their participation in the battle of Guadalcanal.

In addition, twin John shot the first Jap in Burma and was also presented with the Silver Star.

Speaking about her spectacular brothers, Mildred, who is working as a Base Thresher in Dept. 108

during the summer months, says,

"all their lives the twins' actions and thoughts have been identical.

If one had an idea, the other would come up with the exact same idea.

In fact, three years before they entered the U. S. Army, the boys joined the National Guard—together.

The 22-year old twins, who have been in the Pacific area for over two years, are expected home on furlough, shortly.

Married On The Fourth Of July?

Tube Head Tim was speaking to his hard-working niece regarding her recent marriage. "So your married life is unhappy? Is it a start of December wedding to May?"

he asked. "No, T. H.," she responded.

Q. When can application for service ballots be made?

A. Now—at once.

Q. Where does one apply?

A. Application for the Absentee

Service Ballot is made to the local city or town clerk, in the community in which the serviceman resides.

Q. Who can use the service ballot?

A. Any person in the Army

Navy, Marine Corps, Veterans of World War I, or member of the Society of Friends, American Red

Cross, Women's Auxiliary Service

Pilots, or the USO Organization, and Civilians attached to the Armed Service.

Q. Can servicemen who will reach the voting age of 21 by November 7th receive absentee ballots by application of kindred?

A. Yes—These new voters can receive ballot on application by kindred.

Q. How is it done?

A. The ballot for servicemen who have not previously voted is secured by application of kindred to the City or Town Clerk in the community in which the serviceman resides.

Q. Does that mean that kindred has to make two trips to the city or town clerk's office?

A. No—When kindred applies for a Service Absentee Ballot, he automatically makes application for registration.

Q. Can kindred apply by letter for a service ballot?

A. No—Kindred must apply in person.

Q. When can kindred register

new voters who are in the service?

A. Now—at once!

Q. Can kindred apply for service ballots if the serviceman is stationed in a camp where there is no United States outside of Massachusetts?

A. Yes, or even in Massachusetts

if it is impossible for him to vote in person.

Q. Can a woman in the service who has married vote under her maiden name on application of kindred?

A. 1. If she married after January 1, 1944, and is a registered voter, application can be made by kindred in her maiden name.

2. Married women in the service who have not previously voted should be registered with husband's surname by kindred.

3. Women in the service who married before January 1944 must be re-registered with husband's surname by kindred.

Q. Can newly naturalized citizens in the service vote?

A. Yes—Kindred must present naturalization papers when application is made for ballot.

Q. What must be done if there is a change of address for the serviceman after kindred make application?

A. Kindred must notify City or Town Clerk immediately giving correct mailing address.

Q. Is it important to write to relatives in the service about voting?

A. By all means write and tell them your views, urging them to vote Republican.

Q. What is the object of the exhibit to stimulate people in our area to get into defense work. On the Common were several booths at which men and women could sign

Dining With Jane and Bill

Bill: Hello, hon, sorry I'm a bit late. I missed my bus and had to walk.

Jane: Don't worry about keeping supper waiting, Bill, we're having cold sliced ham and a salad. I'm glad you had some exercise, for I am afraid you don't get much during the week with your commuting hours and office work.

Bill: What makes you say that? I get plenty of exercise.

Jane: It's your waistline, Bill. You know your coats don't fit as they used to when we were first married. What's to blame for that?

Bill: Oh, you gals are all alike, forever worrying about your figures.

Jane: Yes, and I have good reason to worry. I like to eat as well as you do.

Bill: If I am on the plump side, it's all your fault for putting such good desserts in front of me. Your chocolate fudge cake lasts only one meal.

Jane: Sounds like a challenge, and I'll take you up on it. From now on we'll have simple desserts. Fresh fruits are plentiful on the market and they make delicious low-calorie desserts.

Bill: You win. I confess the doctor did say that I needed to watch my weight, and that I should eat less sweet foods and fill up on the green leafy vegetables and fresh fruits.

The medical men agree with Jane and Bill in saying that throughout life it is important to maintain an average normal weight.

Here are some suggestions for controlling weight:

1. Choose an adequate diet that will give you the needed protein, minerals, vitamins and other essentials. Outline of an adequate diet:

Milk—at least 1 pint a day

Eggs—3 to 4 each week.

Meat, fish or poultry—1 or more servings daily.

Vegetables—2 or more servings daily besides potato. Make one choice a leafy green vegetable. You may eat as much as you would like of the leafy vegetables as they are low in calories.

Tomatoes, citrus fruit, or some vitamin C-rich food—1 serving daily.

Other fruit—1 or 2 servings daily.

Cereal and bread—2 or more servings daily of whole grain or enriched depending upon caloric requirement.

The success of flying the air planes, whether a plane is on a combat or training mission, depends upon the weather, and as the airplane becomes an increasingly deciding factor in modern warfare, weather is assuming an even more important role.

To meet the need the Army Air Force Weather Service has trained thousands of young men for the highly technical meteorological work. One of these is Pvt. Wilfred F. Elwyn, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Elwyn of 22 Harington street, Newtonville. Private Elwyn is a member of the 3rd Weather Squadron which has its headquarters in San Antonio with Lt. Colonel Oscar A. Heinlein as Commanding Officer. He is on duty as a weather observer on detached service at the Base Weather Station, Blytheville Army Air Field, Arkansas.

Naval Training Center, Sampson, N. Y.—Bluejacket Robert Allen Parker, 22, of 122 Concord street, Newton Lower Falls, will complete his recruit training Aug. 10 at this naval training center on the shores of Seneca Lake and will be granted leave. Upon his return to Sampson he will be eligible for further assignment which may qualify him for a petty officer rating.

Roger P. Peck, son of Mr. and Mrs. Cady K. Peck of 130 Oakdale road, Newton Highlands, has enlisted in the U. S. Naval Reserve. He left last Friday for Sampson, N. Y., for his boot training. Roger is a graduate of Newton High School where he was a back on the football squad. He also played on the hockey team.

They're In The Service Now ..

William Francis (Bub) Hurley, son of Mrs. Della Hurley of 67 Floral street, Newton Highlands, has been promoted to 3rd Lt. in the 3rd Cavalry, U.S. Army.

He enlisted in the Navy in 1941 and served in the 1st Naval District, U.S. Navy. He is at present serving overseas. He attended Newton High School and in civil life worked for Brigham's in Newton Highlands.

Overseas to Graphic—Lieutenant William H. Mullins of Cambridge, has been appointed Public Relations Officer of his unit, a Quartermaster Service Company of an advanced base Service Command.

The son of Mrs. Josephine Mullins of Cambridge, he entered the Army in November, 1942, and was stationed at Camp Lee, Virginia, where he received his commission in July, 1943. The Lieutenant came overseas in March 1944.

Lieutenant Mullins graduated from Newton High School and attended Boston University. Since coming overseas he has met a former classmate of his high school days, Private M. Tucci.

With the American Infantry Division Somewhere in the South Pacific Area (The Newton Graphic)—The Presidential Unit Citation and ribbon bar with star has been awarded to Captains John T. Algeo and Roger I. Herick, both of West Newton, for actual combat duty with the First Marine Division, Reinforced, at Guadalcanal before December, 1942.

Members of an infantry regiment during the heaviest American (CX) Division action, they were cited by the late Frank Knox, Secretary of the Navy, in the name of the President of the United States.

The citation reads in part: "The officers and men of the First Marine Division, Reinforced, not only held their important strategic positions despite determined and repeated Japanese naval, air and land attacks, but by a series of offensive operations against strong enemy resistance drove the Japanese from the proximity of the airfield and inflicted great losses on them by land and air attacks. The courage and determination displayed in these operations were of an inspiring order."

They have been overseas for 30 months and have served in Australia, New Caledonia, Guadalcanal, the Fiji Islands and Bougainville.

Capt. Algeo is the husband of Mrs. John T. Algeo (Catherine) of 1053 Washington street, West Newton, Mass.

Capt. Herick is the husband of Mrs. Elsie M. Herick of 128 Randlett park.

COCHRAN FIELD, GA.—Flight Officer George F. Murphy, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. George F. Murphy, 36 Rowena road, Newton Centre, has received his commission as a flying instructor at this AAF Training Command Pilot School for duty as a flying instructor.

P.O. Murphy received his appointment April 15, 1944, at Spence Field, Georgia after completing a flying cadet course. He is a graduate of Newton High School and St. Phillips Prep, and attended Boston College.

Among the aviation cadets who completed a year-long, rigorous Army flight training program and received appointments as flight officers or commissions as second lieutenants and the silver wings of an Army Air Force combat pilot at the graduating exercises of Class 44-G in the Post Theatre of the AAF Central Flying Training Command's Eagle Pass Army Air Field, Texas, Friday morning, August 4, was John M. Considine of 31 Norwood St., Newton.

To Newton Graphic from Submarine Chase Training Center, Miami, Florida—Lawrence Joseph Smith, ex-New England backstroke swimming champion, and currently an electrician's mate, second class, in the U. S. Navy, received a presidential citation today for his valor while attached to the U. S. O'Brien in South Pacific waters.

Smith has been a member of the fleet for 22 months during which he saw action at Guadalcanal, Vella La Vella, first and second battles of Kula Gulf and Kolombangara.

In addition to the presidential citation, the former New England swimming champion, wears badges symbolic of service in the Asiatic Pacific-American area along with four commendations.

154th Anniversary U.S. COAST GUARD 154th Anniversary

August 1790 August 1944

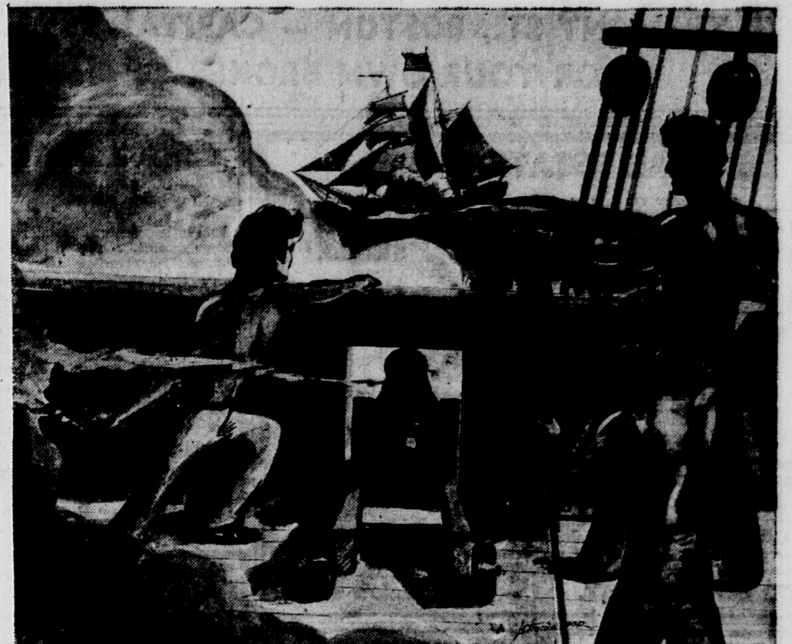

A stout boat and a strong back, plus the ingrained seamanship and courage of the Coast Guard surfman has written a long record over the years of thrilling rescues under hazardous conditions.

It was from the surf station crews such as shown above that the seamen who manned the landing barges of World War 2 were drawn a few days after Pearl Harbor. Whether it was the surf off the coast of America or the pounding rollers of the Pacific made little difference; the job was carried out as usual.

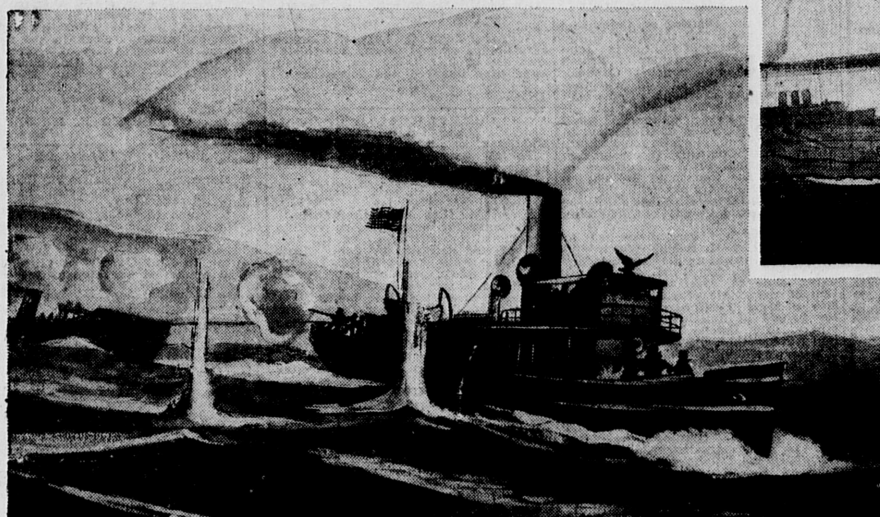

The commissioning ceremonies aboard the Revenue Cutter, Massachusetts, at which time Hopley Yeaton of New Hampshire assumed command and became the first commissioned Master of the United States Revenue Cutter Service. Forerunner of the present day combat cutters of the Coast Guard, the Massachusetts and her nine sister ships were authorized in 1790. They were but 48 feet in length and of 31 tons displacement with a crew of eight officers and men.

The first prize of the War of 1812 fell to the blazing guns of Coast Guardsmen when the cutter Jefferson seized the British brig, Patriot, off the East Coast shortly after the cutter Icarus had made the first capture of enemy prisoners in the same area.

The cutters by this time were of 70 to 130 tons displacement and were fast enough to overhaul any enemy or smuggler's vessel.

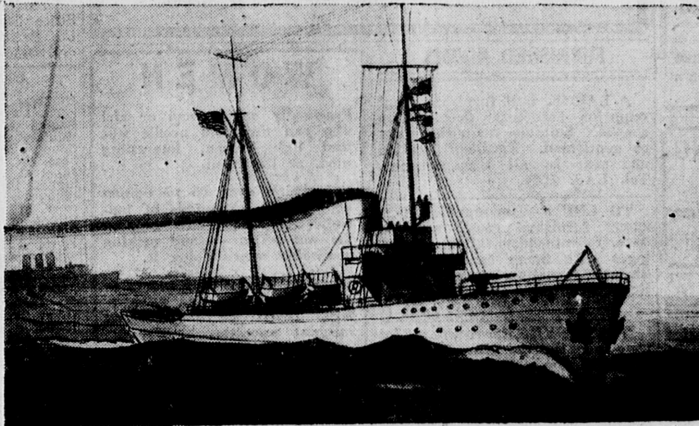

The battle of Cardenas Bay, Cuba in the Spanish-American War saw the tiny cutter, Hudson, as a part of a Naval attacking force on the Spanish emplacements.

Lying about 1800 yards offshore, she poured a steady fire into the Spanish forts from her Driggs-Schroeder guns. The Navy gunboat, Wilmington and torpedo boat Winslow were lying closer inshore at their battle positions when it was observed by the Hudson's commanding officer, Lieutenant Newcombe, that the Winslow had been hit and was out of control. Newcombe maneuvered the Hudson in under the guns of the Spanish forts, suffering several hits on his cutter, took the Winslow in tow and brought her to safety outside the harbor.

The Navy attack force commander's report on the incident read "without the combined efforts of those on board the Hudson, the surviving members of the crew of the Winslow would have been lost."

World War 2 started for the Coast Guard on a snowy mid-September day in 1941 when the cutter Northland (right) under command of Commander Van Pulsen, overhauled and captured the armed Norwegian trawler, Busko, which had been landing Nazi weather station parties on the Greenland ice cap. The next day, after questioning of the Busko's crew had revealed the location of the Nazi radio station; Lieutenant Commander McCluskey with a landing party attacked and captured the station, taking prisoners the crew under command of a Norwegian Quisling named Jacob Bradley. The first action against Nazi Germany had been carried out; months before the actual declaration of war.

The most serious personnel loss on a U.S. combat vessel in World War 1 was that of the Coast Guard cutter, Tampa, while on her way from Gibraltar to the British Isles.

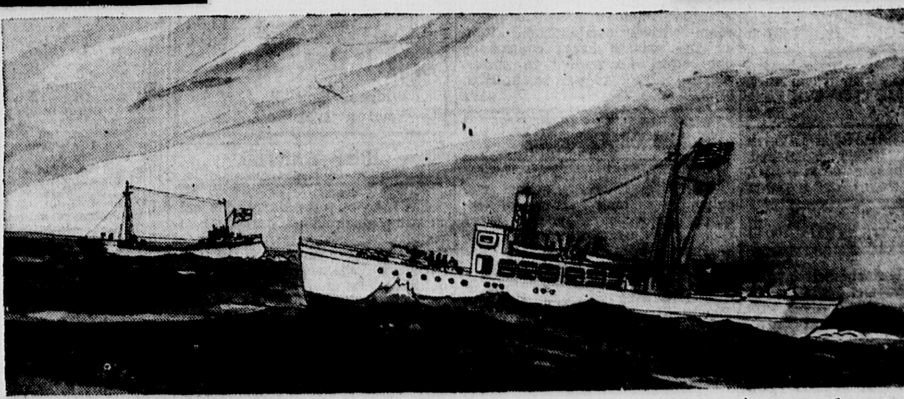

Believed to have been torpedoed, she sank with all hands, a total of 115 officers and men, only a short time after having been commended in official dispatches for having completed 18 convoys between the British Isles and Gibraltar without the loss of a single ship or life.

A part of a combined Navy and Army expedition against the Confederate forts at Hatteras Inlet in the Civil War, the cutter, Harriet Lane, carried out a brilliant rescue operation.

In company with three transports, with 800 men aboard, she moved on the Confederate positions and started landing operations. When 300 men were on the way to shore, a sudden storm forced the transports to abandon operations and proceed to deep water. The commanding officer of the Lane, realizing he could not operate in the shoal waters, promptly jettisoned his guns and heavy equipment and steamed into the inlet where he carried out rescue operations amongst the landing craft and then carried them to safety offshore.

On the morning of December 7, 1941, the Coast Guard cutter, Taney, went into action at Honolulu. Her anti-aircraft guns blazing at the Jap attack force planes, she gave an heroic account of herself on that memorable morning.

As World War 2 blazed into being, the Coast Guard became a part of America's battle fleet overnight. Cutters went on a wartime basis and for the sixth time in history, the Coast Guard joined Navy forces to fight the nation's enemies.

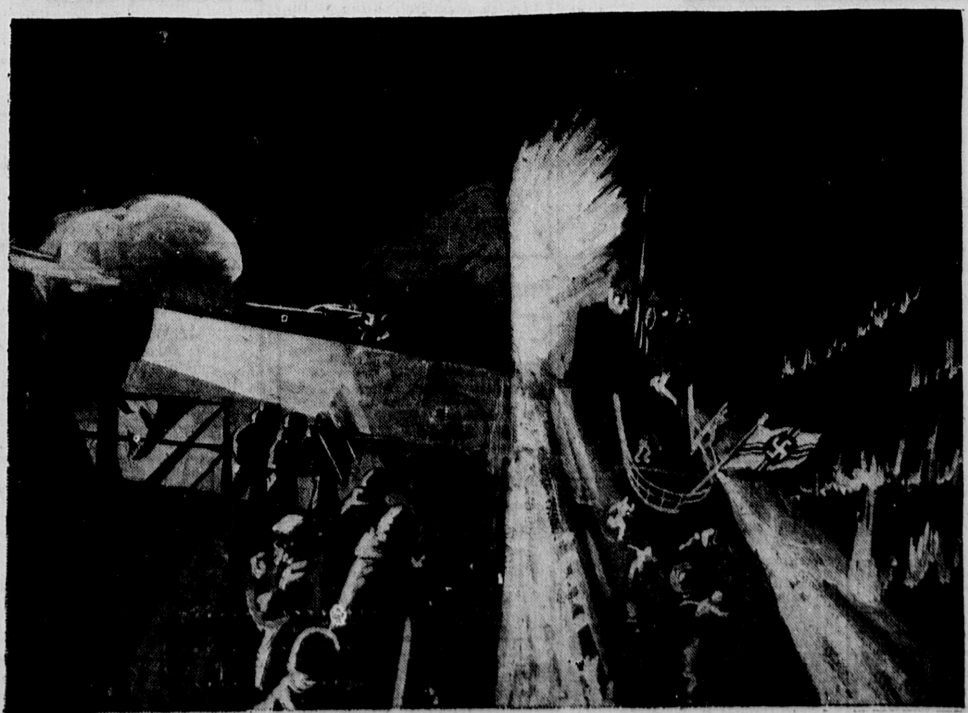

The surf stations were emptied of their best men: men who were to write history on the bloody shores of Guadalcanal, Tulagi, Cape Gloucester, New Guinea, Tarawa and Saipan. Men who had spent their lives as life savers became overnight, skillful masters and engineers of the landing barges in the Pacific.

The Nazi wolf packs struck in the Atlantic and again it was a Coast Guard job. Everything the service had that could stay afloat was at sea. Hastily armed with depth charges and light guns; they struck again and again at the under sea raiders.

The Icarus drew first blood off the Carolina Capes when the 165-foot cutter shot it out with a sub twice her size and won. Later the Campbell, the Spencer and the Duane were to have their blazing moments in far northern waters in protecting convoys.

D-Day dawned off Normandy's shores and the Coast Guard played a big part in transporting troops, operating transports, supply ships, landing barges and rescue craft which were the 83 footers.

As the 154th year of its existence closes on August 4th, the men of the Coast Guard are carrying on; living up to the motto of the service "Always Ready".

Newton Free Library And Education: Looking Forward

The Newton Free Library was organized by Newton citizens 75 years ago in September, 1869, just after the American Civil War. Many libraries, schools, colleges, educational and cultural institutions were started in this period. Improving and extending educational facilities is a natural part of rebuilding activities when the energies of war are turned to peacetime pursuits. The desire for a public library in Newton, a public spirited contributions which made this desire a reality, were a natural outgrowth of the educational and cultural aspirations of this community in 1869, just as the support, use, extension of the library by the succeeding generations testify to the same needs and aspirations. The growth of the library paralleled that of the city of Newton. "Village" libraries such as the Newton Centre Library Association and the West Newton Athenaeum donated their book collections and joined in with the Newton Library system, that through unity the library would have greater strength. Since 1876 the control and support of the Newton Free Library has been the responsibility of the City of Newton which has delegated administrative responsibilities to outstanding representative citizens serving without pay as a Board of Library Trustees. It should be noted, moreover, that the fine system of branch library buildings, which are the distinguishing characteristics of this library, was built by the subscriptions of interested citizens; that funds established by library benefactors have been silently at work adding valuable books each year to the library stock of books; while the main operating cost of the library has been provided by tax appropriation. This combination of helpful interest by citizens, of tax support of the library as an essential public benefit, the absence of selfish interest and of political interference has made possible the growth of the Newton Free Library, which in terms of comparative statistics has high standing among the libraries of the nation.

(Talk to be given before the Kiwanis club on Tuesday, August 15 by Harold A. Wooster, librarian.) Following World War I, a time well within our memory, there occurred another period of educational development in which the schools and libraries of Newton fully shared. Citizens of the Newton showed their leadership in buying centrally located sites and erecting at their own expense four modern branch library buildings, at Auburndale, Newton Centre, Waban, and West Newton, and in buying the valuable location for the Newtonville Branch Library, which was erected by city and federal funds as part of the public works program of the depression years. These same funds repaired and adapted the Chaffin House on Vernon street for use as the central Boys and Girls' Library. Through cooperative arrangements with the Newton Public Schools, rooms for public library use were provided at Newton Highlands, Newton Upper Falls and Oak Hill. A former fire station at Lower Falls, rented rooms at Nonantum and patients library at the Newton Hospital complete the present branch library system of Newton. Even with these eleven branch libraries there are still sections of the City of Newton which do not have ready access to public library facilities.

We are all anxiously looking forward to the ending of World War II, the most gigantic and destructive war the world has ever known. We are most concerned with establishing ways of peace which will prove just and enduring. The cycle of war proves more disastrous at each return, until it threatens to destroy the forward progress of past centuries. Much of the rebuilding of post-war days will have to be done in the minds of men, and the force of human sympathy, understanding, tolerance, good will, must restrain the forces of greed selfishness, hatred, intolerance, superstition and ignorance. We are already talking about the need for re-educating a single generation, and of Japan, and must realize that the safety and progress of the future depends on more wisdom and understanding, permeating and influencing all of the countries of the globe, including our own.

In systems of feudalism, of fascism, of state socialism, of dictatorship, of rigid control of the many by the few, the individual's initiative, responsibility, power, regimentation and propaganda take the place of education. In the system of democracy, to which many countries, many centuries, many advanced thinkers, many humble workers, have contributed their part, the individual retains authority, has the reverent rights and freedoms, and makes important choices and decisions. The rights, duties, responsibilities of individual citizens are basic in the philosophy of our country, in our system of free schools, free press, of educational opportunities made generally available for those with the skill and energy to use them. Developing the abilities and understanding of our people is our greatest enterprise, the most important one for the welfare of our country. The most difficult problem which lies ahead are matters of human relationships, which can only be solved by increased understanding and better cooperation for the common welfare. This is a matter not of a few leaders but of active participation by many thinking citizens. The failures of democracy, concerning which our enemies speak with such authority have been the result of too many people seeking the advantages of a democracy, without the responsibilities. The two are inseparable. Looking forward there is a great deal of educational rebuilding to be done. Thousands, hundreds of thousands, millions of educations have been interrupted, sacrificed to the military necessities of the hour. Even with the ambitious plans and programs of the government, only a fraction of this number will ever complete their interrupted educations. Shortages of men with the proper professional and technical skills will be one of the results of the war. Every resource, every facility will be needed to repair educational losses. Colleges and universities commandeered for war purposes will be hard pressed to resume their former independence. There are questionings in academic circles as to a proper balance between the demands of technical, scientific, vocational education and the need for the liberal education of the humanities. The value of formal education has been demonstrated in our war emergency by faults and shortcomings have also been revealed. A very real effort will be made to both raise educational standards and broaden the opportunities for our young people to secure the type of education for which they are especially fitted. The increasing incidence of libraries and laboratories is being recognized.

There are being very great advantages in the process of acquiring knowledge by reading, which can be a very skilled art. There is a great economy because all the equipment needed for a person and the conditions of his home, researches, experiences of the author's lifetime can be placed between the covers of a book and sold for the cost of a single meal or an evening's entertainment. There is the magic to the act of reading, which makes possible the contact of your mind with the wisest and wittiest minds of any country or period of time. This magic annihilates the barriers of time and space, enlarging the room where you are reading to an everywhere, where the possibilities are as many as the stars. Reading has its easy gradual steps for the beginner, but for those with the energy and skill to climb it reaches heights of human understanding which challenge man's best effort. The thoughtful reading of a worthwhile book makes a great prize, which calls for your best thought and strength, your ability to think and reason. Reading should be mental exploring, seeking a richer, fuller, knowledge of human nature; an acquaintanceship with the great minds of the past; the past (these being essential to an understanding of one's self, one's country and the present) and a realization of unchanging values which can safely be used as guiding principles of life. These rewards are not easily secured, nor lightly achieved, but they are a byproduct of careless, thoughtless reading.

When one thoughtfully considers the values which wise reading can give it is a tragedy to realize that many young people, after learning the mechanics of reading, fail to establish reading interests and habits of life, and read only to kill time, and get the news of the moment. It is also true that while we hear much of "adult education," in this field there has been a great deal of wastage. All at the trial talks, of seeking the appearance rather than the substance of education, of tackling subjects not close to the life and experience of those in attendance, of superficial aims, of poor guidance, selfish interests, and disappointed following. In all fields of education there should be marked improvement because life grows more complex for all of us; clearer thinking and wiser judgments are demanded of the average citizen if we are to maintain and improve the American standard of living.

Newton is a community where the maintenance of good living conditions is and should be our major business. We are a city of homes, parks, gardens, churches, schools, libraries, of institutions of civic betterment. There should be within our borders excellent educational opportunities; fountains and reservoirs of knowledge, freely available for all. There is nationwide planning underway to improve and extend public library services as a matter of public concern and benefit. This effort offers challenges to Newton. We have five modern, well located, branch library buildings. Through the generosity of a single benefactor, the Plummer Memorial Auburndale Branch Library will be enlarged by a wing containing a community auditorium and a Boys' and Girls' room, and this will be built early in the post-war period. At the four other branch libraries there is the opportunity to add, by public subscription or city building program, additional rooms for the convenience of readers. At modest cost it is possible to greatly increase the size and usefulness of these branches. Growth and development will come to various sections of the Newton, because this community is a desirable one in which to live. In every case this growth should be matched by the extension and improvement of library facilities. Some of our present branches now in school buildings, or the branches in rented quarters should be in separate buildings, planned and designed for efficient library use. The Main Library was erected in 1870, built by private subscription, it was enlarged and improved by the City in 1886, in 1912 and again in 1928. Its facilities for book storage, for public use, its working space for library activities are now overcrowded and the usefulness of the library is handicapped by these conditions. It is time to study and analyze the situation, to determine what should be a new Main Library at a different location or again remodel and extend its present building. These suggestions are not offered as a formal program but as possibilities well worth investigation and as worthy investments of tax money.

There have been natural, logical, important reasons which made possible the steady growth and development of the Newton Free Library during the past seventy-five years. These reasons are still valid, in fact, intensified by the present and the future. The Newton Free Library will have to be the challenges, responsibilities, opportunities, in post-war America. This community should never be satisfied with less than the best library service, especially fitted and adapted to its needs and regarded as one of the prime necessities of life. While attention has been called to certain building needs of the Newton Free Library, plans and programs of the government are even greater challenges. Three great essentials of a strong library are an able staff prepared for and interested in its work; a generous supply of books, fitted to the needs of its borrowers, and an organization of material to make it readily available. The war years will have made an almost 100 percent change in the library staff and we must recruit strong replacements. War changes will require that many of our informational books must be replaced and brought up to date, new fields of knowledge will be developed, the latest and best in technical, scientific, vocational books will be required as will books on economics, governmental problems and international affairs. New materials, new methods, new machines will come from the research war and competitions of post-war industry and the library will have opportunities to modernize and improve its services to the public. Libraries must be alive, alert, and growing, not for selfish reasons, but because they have an important contribution to make to community life that no other institution can make as well.

Exciting Year For The Hansons, Father Receives Ph.D.

The first automobile was seen but recently in the district of India to which, 28 years ago today, the Rev. Dr. Harry A. Hanson of 31 Brooks avenue, Newtonville, went as a missionary with his young bride, the former Jean Dorchester, on August 10, 1916, after he had received his Bachelor of Sacred Theology degree from Boston University in 1915. The Reverend Hanson, who is now on the high seas returning to India as president of Lucknow University, will be awarded his Doctorate in Philosophy in absentia from his old Alma Mater Saturday, August 12.

He will be one of a graduating class of approximately 200 students who will receive their degrees at the annual summer formal Commencement exercises to be held on the last day of Boston University's 30th annual Summer Session.

The father of one of America's top Marine aces, Lieut. Robert Murray Hanson, who downed 25 Japanese planes and who is now missing in action, the Reverend Hanson left his Newtonville home recently on 48 hours' notice after he had been called to the front for the morning to complete his dissertation for his Boston University Doctorate. His 24-year-old son, Bob, who recently was honored with the nation's highest award, the Congressional Medal of Honor, also came from college degree at St. Paul, Minnesota, also in absentia, last June.

The hero's mother, Mrs. Jean Dorchester Hanson, smiled as she told how "Mr. Hanson" as she calls her husband, taught economics at the University of Chicago. "Mr. Hanson works with the natives," she said. "And you know, there are many different ways of living in India. The Rajahs have great wealth, while the villagers work for 15 to 18 cents a day to support families. But they are a happy, friendly people."

Her blue eyes widened as she emphasized, "You forget about color. You find that human nature is the same everywhere. The hills people because they joke and laugh so much seem almost like Americans. They are not, but they are a sturdy and hearty, and are a simple group. They live in the hills where the dry farming is similar to that of New England. But high up in the hills there is snow. The plains people, in contrast, are a quiet, more reserved people. They are not so friendly when you become acquainted with them."

Mrs. Hanson sat up in her chair. She was wearing a plain print dress, neat and clean. "I feel," she pointed out, "that England has given India a great deal even though it has not been a good one. If the Hindus and Mohammedans could only get along better, they might have a good, strong country. The Indians have good minds. You will find them in high positions in the government, but the village people are very ignorant. If all Indians were like their leaders, Ghandi and Pandit Jawahar Lal Nehru, I feel that they could be independent. But you see, so many of them are ignorant, and others are out for their own good."

"The people of India live very simply," she said. "They are simple, Bob, Mark and Stanley, explained. 'Their houses are made of mud in the villages and are covered with straw. My, but those people like to live together. The huts are crowded together while they go out to the fields to work. And in the fields, all the work is done by hand. The harvesting is done with a sickle and the grain is carried in on their heads.'"

The youthful mother of five children frowned through her rimless glasses as she said, "The money-lender is one of the curses of the land. So many people just live in debt all their life. Their children even inherit their parents' debt and go through life with it. But the short-lived frown disappeared as Mrs. Hanson remarked, "There is a good side to India. There is happiness there. The book, 'Mother India,' doesn't give the complete picture. The people have higher thoughts. But sanitation is very poor. Water comes from a village pond. The same water is used for bathing, cooking and washing, not to mention the bathing of animals in the same water."

"And the caste system makes life very uncomfortable for millions. Ghandi has been trying to do away with this. A non-Hindu must be very careful when he enters a Hindu home. For if he, the non-Hindu, touches any of their food and such, according to those followers of the Hindu faith, it becomes polluted. The same water is used for bathing, cooking and washing, not to mention the bathing of animals in the same water."

ber 4, 1888. In 1907 he graduated from high school there with three others, "three girls and Harry," as Mrs. Hanson puts it. Dr. Hanson also attended Hamline University in 1912, received a fellowship to Syracuse University, and was given an honorary Doctor of Divinity degree from Hamline in June, 1943. Three of the Hansons' four sons have attended Hamline, of whom Mark, the oldest, now in the Army A.S.T.P., was graduated magna cum laude. He will enter at the Boston City Hospital beginning October 1. The missing Bob, before he entered the service, had a half year to complete at Hamline, while Stanley attended one year before entering the Navy V-12 and is now in Midshipman School. Earl, the youngest of the boys, who graduated from Newton High School this past June, is now at Bryn Mawr College in Edith, the youngest of the Hanson children, who is five and has becoming blonde hair, will enter kindergarten in Newton in September. She saw her big brother Bob the first time and for only a few days when he was home on his last leave in April 1943. Thus, this is an epochal year for the Hansons.

"In India, you have to learn to shift for yourself, so we taught our boys to do so," Mrs. Hanson explained. Bob was born in Lucknow, India, on February 4, 1920, and an athletic field in Woodstock, Mussoorie, India, in the United Provinces will be named in his honor. "Bob was always getting into trouble," the mother of America's ace told, "but he always managed to land on his feet. So I feel it here were any way for him to get out of that place. He did." Maybe a tear or two came to Mrs. Hanson's eyes as she revealed how nice people were. "I get letters from all parts of the United States from people I never knew, and Mrs. Boyington, mother of another pilot missing in the Pacific, also wrote to me. And the crew of the destroyer who first picked Bob up when he was missing the first time wrote, 'Bob's our pilot now, and we're still looking for him!'"

Victory Gardens

By Frances D. Smith, Chairman Victory Garden for Newton
How does your garden grow? The answer is simple — your gardens are growing, being well taken care of and they are yielding good crops in spite of a very trying growing season. Miss Dorothy Harrison, Middlesex County Garden Supervisor, and I made a tour of the Victory Gardens of Newton last week. From what we observed the above statement is true. Needless to say it was a physical impossibility to cover the 8,000 or more established gardens one day, but we did survey the Community Gardens and some individual back yard gardens that saw last year. It was the only way we could make definite comparison. As for the Community Gardens it was obvious in most improved and that the gardeners had taken advantage on fertilizers, compost heaps, mulching and weeding. Speaking of the compost pile, another year try planting squash and pumpkins over it as they see fit thereby covering it instead of allowing crab grass and weed to flourish. It also conserves space in the vegetable garden as these plants require adequate room to grow.

Most of the Community Gardeners have kept up their borders around their individual plots cut down to eliminate the weeds and grass. It does take a little extra time and work but in the long run it is well worth the extra effort. Generally speaking these gardeners are to be commended on their work—this year particularly. They have stuck to their task in spite of early killing frosts, early heat and the dryness topped off by a bumper crop of mosquitos and crop destructive pests as woodchucks, rabbits and such. However, next winter you will be glad that you persevered to grow the vegetables. At the time I urge you to can as much of your surplus fruit and vegetables as possible. I have personally found that it is no hotter in my kitchen doing this work than it is sitting around thinking of the heat. There is nothing that can add to a statement made by Miss Edith West, Home Demonstration Agent for the County of Middlesex. "Home canners did an excellent job in 1943 in preserving food. Canning the food surplus from the market gardens as well as Victory gardens is just as important this year as last. We feel sure you are doing your part in conserving food — one of the mightiest weapons of war."

Notice To Contractors

Sealed proposals for the construction of sanitary sewers in Kingman Rd., Manchester Rd. and Wenham Rd., in accordance with a plan in file in the office of the City Engineer numbered and entitled as follows: No. 29183, City of Newton, Massachusetts. Contract Plan of Sewers in Kingman Rd., Manchester Rd., and Wenham Rd., No. 29183, Ernest H. Harvey, City Engineer, will be received at the office of the Street Commissioner, City Hall, 1000 Commonwealth Ave., Newton Centre, Mass., until 10 A.M., August 17th, 1944, at which place and time they will be publicly opened and read.

All proposals must be sealed proposals, made in duplicate upon blank forms furnished by said Commissioner, one proposal to be deposited with the Commissioner and the other to be deposited with a certified check upon a national bank or trust company in the Commonwealth of Massachusetts for the sum of Fifteen Hundred Dollars payable to and to become the property of the City of Newton. The proposal is accepted and the bidder neglects or refuses to comply with the terms of the proposal. One proposal (without check), must be filed by the bidder in the office of the Comptroller of Accounts of Newton, prior to the time set for opening bids. (See Ordinances of the City of Newton, Chapter 2, Section 21, as amended.) A sufficient bond for the faithful performance of the contract price will be required.

Said Commissioner reserves the right to reject all proposals or to reject or accept any proposal, and to award the contract as he may deem to be for the best interests of the City of Newton, and any contract made will be made subject to appropriations and grants to meet payments thereunder. Attention is called to the fact that minimum wage rates have been established for this project in accordance with Chapter 461, Act of 1935, and are set forth in the contract documents.

John D. Haughey, Street Commissioner.

Is there any way we can help you do the job more successfully, or more easily and efficiently? Would you like to attend a fruit canning demonstration in your community? Would you like to can under supervision with a few neighbors? The Extension Service would provide a competent supervisor. Would you like to attend a jam, jelly and pickle making demonstration? Would you like to receive canning bulletins? If you are interested in any of the above points, please call me at Bigelow 7600—Committee on Public Safety office in the Newtonville Library.

Building Increases During July

The amount represented by building permits in Newton during July exceeded the sum expended during all of last year, according to a compilation issued Tuesday by the Newton Building Department.

41 permits were issued during July amounting to $113,016, which included the estimated cost of rebuilding the Church of the Messiah, Auburndale, which was destroyed by fire. For the first seven months of the year 1944 the 170 permits issued represented a total outlay of $1,639,968. The total for 1943 was 216 permits for $87,152, while in 1942, 278 permits were issued for $385,310.

Last month the following permits were issued:

Thus by making it unnecessary for these riders to crowd into buses and street cars, the car club will relieve the strain on the public transportation system. Either type of ride-sharing arrangement must be a definite agreement regularly carried out and each applicant under OPA mileage regulations, must submit the signature of his rider with his application.

It may be necessary for some drivers to change their driving habits, even to the extent of looking for car-sharers among people home-to-work driving schedules to accommodate them, but we feel sure that all drivers, when they fully understand the necessity for conserving essential gasoline and tires, will be glad to cooperate with the government in this vital wartime program.

Lt. Hanson

skies on January 14 after being separated from his squadron while covering a flight of bombers in Simpson Harbor. His bag was limited to five only because lack of ammunition and gasoline forced him to return to his base.

The citation accompanying the Navy Cross follows: "For extraordinary heroism while serving as pilot of a fighter plane attached to Marine Fighting Squadron 215 in action against enemy Japanese forces in the Solomon Islands Area from January 5 to February 3, 1944. Intercepted by a superior number of Japanese fighters while covering a flight of our bombers in a strike against enemy shipping in Simpson Harbor on January 14, First Lieutenant Hanson boldly engaged the hostile planes in fierce combat, pressing home repeated attacks with devastating force.

"Separated from his squadron during the intense action, he valiantly continued the engagement alone, successfully destroying five enemy planes before being forced by lack of ammunition and gasoline to return to his base. First Lieutenant Hanson's superb airmanship, brilliant initiative and dauntless fighting spirit enabled our bombers to deliver a crushing blow to the Japanese in that sector and return safe to their base and his conduct throughout was in keeping with the highest traditions of the United States Naval Service."

Recent Engagements
Mr. and Mrs. Eliot Leland Wight of Long Meadow, announce the engagement of their daughter, Winifred Carter, to Corporal Harold A. Chamberlin Jr., USAAF, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold A. Chamberlin of Newtonville.

RECENT MARRIAGES

Merrill-Goodband

Mr. and Mrs. George Goodband of Newton Centre announce the marriage of their daughter, Elizabeth Margaret, to Sgt. Frank Bartlett Merrill, U.S.M.C., son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Merrill of Marblehead. The wedding took place at the home of the bride on July 22nd.

The bride wore an ivory bridal suit with a corsage of passion flowers. Mrs. Warren Peabody, sister of the groom, attended the bride, wearing powder blue suit. Her corsage was pink rose buds. Best man was Gordon Goodband.

Sgt. Merrill has just returned from the States after being with the first Marine Division in the South Pacific for the past 26 months.

Priore - Messina

At an informal ceremony on Wednesday evening, August 2nd, at her home, 197 Walnut street, Newtonville, Mrs. Letitia Messina was married to Corporal Patrick L. Priore. The 7:30 o'clock double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Ralph H. Rogers, pastor of the Auburndale Congregational Church. A reception followed.

Gowned in purple with a corsage of orchids, the bride was attended by Mrs. Elton Gass who wore a flowered print with a corsage of 5 to 6 roses. The best man, United States Coast Guard, was the best man for Corporal Priore who entered the Army in March, 1942, and is at present stationed at Camp Polk, Louisiana.

Following a trip to Cape Cod, Corporal Priore will return to duty. Mrs. Priore will continue on with her business, Letty's Beauty Salon, in Newtonville.

Mann-Sneath

Miss Martha Fowler Sneath, daughter of Prof. and Mrs. George M. Sneath of 78 Plainfield street, Waban and Orleans, was married to Lt.-Com. Bernard Freeman Mann, USN, MC, Com. of Dr. and Mrs. Bernard F. Mann of Sudbury, Maine. The ceremony was performed at the home of the bride's parents last Friday by the Rev. Joseph C. MacDonald, pastor of the Union Church in Waban.

Gowned in white marquisette trimmed with pearl beading, the bride wore a tulle veil held by a cap of Brussels lace and orange blossoms. Her bouquet combined Eucharis lilies and sweethearts roses. Her cousin, Miss Carol F. Smith, of New Haven, Ct., was the maid of honor. She wore blue tulle and net and carried pink gladioli and scabiosa. Frank Manning, of Milton, was the best man for Lt.-Com. Mann.

The bride graduated from Wellesley where she was a member of Zeta Alpha society. Lt.-Com. Mann was graduated from Bates College and Boston University Medical School. He has had 26 months of service in the Pacific area. At present he is assigned to the Lahey Clinic for post-graduate instruction in Pathology.

Ilg-Wells

At the Union Church in Waban on the evening of Saturday, August 5, Miss Ramona Fehr Wells, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Wells, became the bride of Lt. Ramond A. Ilg, Jr., USA, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ramond Arthur Ilg of Belmont. The Rev. Joseph C. MacDonald performed the 8 o'clock ceremony, which was followed by a reception in the illuminated garden at the home of the bride's parents at 120 Collins road, Waban.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of ivory satin trimmed with heirloom lace. Her full-length tulle veil fell from a coronet of orange blossoms and she carried a cascade bouquet of white orchids, gladioli and stephanotis. Mrs. James Russell Chidley, Jr., was her sister's matron of honor and wore a gown of pale pink chiffon and carried a cascade bouquet of contrasting colors. The bridesmaids were Miss Gloria Fehr Wells and Miss Olga Fehr Wells, sisters of the bride, and Mrs. William Preston Sawyer and Mrs. William Robert McDonald, aunts of the bridegroom.

They wore similar gowns of aqua and carried cascade bouquets with pink predominating.

Mrs. Wells was crowned in aqua crepe, with a corsage of gladioli, while Mrs. Ilg, chose a gown of coral, with a corsage of blending flowers.

William Preston Sawyer was his brother-in-law's best man, and the ushers included Plt. Officer Robert McDonald of the air transport command, Edward Chase of Cambridge, Stuart Stockwell of Belmont and Lt. Philip G. Shearman, Jr., of Boston.

Mrs. Ilg was graduated from Colby Junior College in 1941, and Lt. Ilg was graduated from Lawrence Academy and Syracuse University in 1943, where he was a member of Phi-Gamma Delta fraternity.

Barletta-Christian

Sacred Heart Church, Newton Centre, was the setting for the marriage on Sunday afternoon of Miss Evelyn Louise Christian, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles F. Christian of 944 Centre street, Newton Centre, to Carmen C. Barletta, son of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony Barletta of Revere.

Rev. Francis X. Murray performed the 3 o'clock ceremony. Miss Virginia Christian was the maid of honor for her sister and the flower girls were Joan Ferrino and Barbara Colantoune, both of Boston. Dr. Peter Ferrino of Boston was the best man and the ushers were John Ligotti of Boston, Charles F. Christian, Jr., of Newton Centre, Paul Colantoune, Alfred Stroi, Philip Barletta and Anthony Carmise.

When Mr. and Mrs. Barletta return from a trip to North Conway, N. H., they will live in Boston.

Hudson-Riutta

Wearing white satin fashioned with a lace yoke, Miss Elvi Ellen Riutta, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Antio Riutta of Wellesley and Warren, Me., became the bride Saturday evening of Ensign Charles H. Hudson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald P. Hudson of 176 Waltham street, West Newton.

Rev. Hamilton M. Gifford performed the ceremony in the Newtonville Methodist Church at 8 o'clock and a reception followed.

The bride's fingertip length veil fell from a tiara of pearls and orange blossoms and she carried a bouquet of white roses with an orchid corsage in the center.

Miss Ronnie Poluzzi of Wellesley was the maid of honor and the bridesmaids were Miss Ella Riutta of Warren, Me., and Miss Sally Hudson of West Newton.

The maid of honor wore turquoise net and tulle, and carried yellow roses. The bridesmaids wore yellow net and tulle and carried pink roses. The bride's mother wore duobunnet lace and the bridegroom's mother chose light blue net over print tulle.

Ensign Richard W. Fava of Roslindale was the best man and the ushers were Van Courtland Lawrence of Brookline and Floyd Dodge of Waltham.

The bride was graduated from Union, Me., High School and Wilfred Academy. Ensign Hudson, a pilot of a Navy torpedo bomber, was graduated from Newton High School and Northeastern University. He will report to Norfolk, Va., for assignment to duty.

Bixby-Butler

Miss Eleanor Rochford Butler, niece of Mr. James L. Rochford and Dr. Grace E. Rochford of Wellesley Hills, was married at their home on Saturday, July 29, to Ralph L. Bixby, son of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Bixby of 774 Commonwealth avenue, Newton Centre. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Dr. James P. Berkeley.

Given in marriage by her uncle, the bride wore a finger tip veil with her gown of embroidered white marquisette. Her only attendant was Mrs. Frank L. Pixley of Batavia, N. Y., and Harry McGowan of Milton was the best man for Mr. Bixby.

Mrs. Bixby graduated from Wellesley College and Mr. Bixby is a graduate of Harvard College.

DeRusha-Tees

Miss Helen Louise Tees, daughter of Mr. Charles W. Tees of Arlington, and the late Mrs. Tees, was married on July 22 to Aviation Cadet Henry William DeRusha, USAF, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Paul DeRusha of 37 Kenneth street, Newton Highlands. The ceremony was performed at a nuptial mass in the Immaculate Conception church, North Cambridge by the Rev. John F. Broderick. A wedding breakfast followed at Longwood Towers, Brookline.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was crowned in ivory satin with a train, and a fingertip veil of tulle. She carried a showy bouquet of white orchids, roses and stephanotis. Her honor attendant, Mrs. Mary Desmond, of Arlington, wore a gown of blue silk jersey and net and carried a bouquet of larkspur, pink carnations and delphinium. The bridesmaids, Miss Marjorie Tees of Arlington, sister of the bride, and Miss Mary DeRusha, of Newton Highlands, sister of the bridegroom, were bridesmaids. They wore gowns in pink embroidered organza and carried bouquets of the same flowers as the matron of honor with this prettification. All three bride attendants wore coronets of flowers in their hair.

Serving as best man was Aviation Cadet Charles Faustlicht, USAAF, of Roxbury and Aviation Cadet Arthur Greene, USAAF, of Auburndale, was the usher.

Both Cadet and Mrs. DeRusha are graduates of Hyannis Teachers College. At present Cadet DeRusha is stationed at Turner Field, Ga.

Previously Reported
Missing Over France

Word has been received from the War Department by Mrs. Delia Kavanagh of 11 Bowers street, Newtonville, informing her that her son, 2nd Lt. James F. Kavanagh, who was reported as missing over France on June 19, is a prisoner of war of the Germans.

Lt. Kavanagh, a bombardier in the Army Air Forces, was wounded last October and after two months in a hospital in England, returned to duty.

A recent letter from Lt. Kavanagh to his family revealed that he also took part in the aerial action on D-Day in support of the Normandy invasion. He had participated in the first raid on the Ploesti oil fields, for which he received the Presidential Citation. He had also been awarded the Air Medal with three Oak Leaf Clusters.

A graduate of Our Lady's High School, he entered the service Aug. 1, 1942 and was commissioned Feb. 13, 1943. He went overseas about a year ago. Before entering the army he was employed by a wool concern in Jamaica Plain.

In April he had a three-day reunion with his brother, Staff Sgt. Roger C. Kavanagh, who is stationed in England. Sgt. Kavanagh, a member of a ground crew of the Army Air Forces has been overseas since last December.

They have three sisters, Miss Helen Kavanagh, employed in the office of the Newton Street Department; Miss Margaret Kavanagh, in the office of the Water Department; and Mrs. Mary Griffin, whose husband, Sgt. David Griffin, is stationed in England.

Two Newton Men Wounded

Casualty lists issued by the War Department include two Newton men. Pvt. Samuel L. Raymond, husband of Mrs. Helen J. Raymond of 18 Pearl street, Newton, has been wounded in the Mediterranean area and Pvt. John D. Voner of 9 Cottage place, West Newton, is a casualty in the European area.

Pvt. Raymond, son of Mrs. Angelina Arena of Newton, attended Watertown High School and was employed by the Economy Grocery Stores when he was inducted into Federal service with the National Guard in January 1941. He has two brothers in the services, T-Sgt. Joseph Raymond, stationed at Camp Pickett, Va., and Sea Bee Dominic J. Raymond, now in the Pacific area.

Pvt. Voner is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Voner of Auburndale.

Ensign Hudson Returns From Pacific Area

A Newton flier is a member of Navy Air Group 10, which has just returned to America. In 2,800 combat missions during six months of carrier operations in the Pacific the group dealt hard blows at the Japanese.

Ensign Charles H. Hudson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald P. Hudson of 176 Waltham street, West Newton, is one of 15 New England members of the group, which has shot down 38 enemy planes, probably destroyed 10 others and damaged 23 others in aerial combat. Its fliers destroyed 193 enemy planes on the ground, sank 15 ships, including two destroyers, damaged 62 ships, including two aircraft carriers, two destroyers and a cruiser. They dropped more than 900 tons of bombs at a loss of 12 pilots and seven air crewmen downed in action.

Group 10 took part in the first successful night bombing attack ever staged by Navy carrier planes during the first raid on Truk on Nov. 16 and 17, and on Jan. 19, it took part in the Battle of the Eastern Philippines and accounted for 19 enemy planes. From January to July the group took part in nearly every major fleet air attack in the Pacific.

Lt. Sander Fails To Return From Flight Over France

Lt. Robert B. Sander, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles G. Sander, of 72 Cabot street, Newton was last seen over St. Annez, France, on June 8, according to word received from members of his squadron. In the pre-invasion period, he flew 13 missions in 14 days and on D-Day he landed at a strange field through 15,000 feet of black weather, according to a letter sent the night before his final mission. He was the youngest in his squadron and his comrades marveled at his fighting ability.

Flying, first a Thunderbolt and a Mustang, from his base in England, Lt. Sander escorted heavy bombers on raids over Germany and went on strafing raids of his own. With a fellow pilot he was credited with destroying two locomotives and an enemy plane. In addition, he hinted at other successes in his last letter. He referred to his Mustang as "the best ship in the world."

Lt. Sander was graduated from Newton High school in 1942 and entered the Army on Jan. 30, 1943. He received his wings at the age of 19 on Nov. 3, 1943. He was shipped overseas in March, 1943, and was on the ocean on his 20th birthday on March 15. His father is a veteran of World War I and is now a member of the Coast Guard Reserve. He has two brothers, Charles, Jr., who has received a medical discharge from the Army and Norman, a pupil at Newton High School.

WAC Joan James
Arrives Home
From Overseas Duty

Tech. 5th Grade Joan M. James, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Caliri has arrived home after 19 months of overseas duty. One of the first Massachusetts girls to join the WAC she was a member of the first WAC contingent to land in Africa June 26, 1943. She was assigned as a driver of a staff car and had as her passengers Gen. Dwight Eisenhower; other high ranking officers and many visiting movie stars.

Cpl. James said the first thing she did on arriving in New York, despite the heat, was to step into a hot shower. Describing conditions overseas for the WACs she said: "No bed of roses, nor is it a bed of thorns. Most of the girls like it, despite continual shortages of many things we once considered necessities. There was always a lack of sheets and pillow cases and we never could get 'cokes' or ice and most of the girls were bothered much by the air raids. The only time I was aware of danger in driving was when we ran into shrapnel."

WACs arrived at her home, 120 Auburndale avenue, West Newton on Monday for a furlough.

Pvt. Anderson
Convalescing Overseas

Wounded by shrapnel while on duty in Italy, Pvt. Stewart P. Anderson, son of Dr. Homer W. Anderson, superintendent of Newton schools, and Mrs. Anderson of 41 Walden street, Newtonville, is now convalescing.

Pvt. Anderson was wounded on July 15, and the letters he first sent from the hospital were written by his nurse. His last letter written August 3, and received on Aug. 7, was written with his left hand with the explanation that the use of his right hand had not yet returned.

A student at the University of Iowa, he enlisted in the Army in September, 1943, and arrived in Italy last march with the infantry.

Lt. Robert Looney
Fatally Wounded
In France

Lt. Robert E. Looney, 25, of 259 Pearl street, Newton, who had only been overseas four weeks, was fatally wounded in France.

Information first received stated that he was expected to recover, but later word revealed that he died on the day that he was wounded. Mrs. Looney, the former Marie Lane, gave birth to their daughter, Susanne Marie, July 23, and Aug. 4, a day after her arrival home from the hospital, the news of her husband's death reached her.

A graduate of Watertown High School, Lt. Looney was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Looney of Watertown. He entered the Army in October, 1940, and was commissioned at Fort Benning, Ga., in July, 1942. He has three brothers in the services: First Lt. Daniel F., now in a hospital in Italy, recovering from an illness; Cpl. Richard in the Army Signal Corps in Australia, and Radio Tech. 2-c Eugene, in the Navy at Pearl Harbor.

Mrs. Looney has a brother in the Army, Cpl. Leo Lane, in New Guinea, and a sister in the WAVES, S. H. Mildred Lane, stationed at Memphis, Tenn.

Citizens Advisory Comm.
Seeks Information
On Service Men

The Citizens Advisory Committee for Returning Veterans has mailed to the next of kin of service men, questionnaires which when filled out will aid the committee in assisting returning veterans to obtain jobs and in other ways become rehabilitated.

Questions to be answered in the questionnaire include the serviceman's marital status, education, occupation before entering service, how long employed in that position, name of last employer, and whether or not the employer gave any assurance of re-employment after the war.

Charles B. Floyd is chairman of the Citizens Advisory Committee. Other members of the committee are Roy S. Edwards, James P. Gallagher, Mayor Paul M. Goddard, Theodore R. Lockwood, Wm. B. Plumer and Stanton J. Ten Broeck, Jr.

The Union Services of the churches of Newton Centre will continue next Sunday, August 20, in The Methodist Church at eleven o'clock with Dr. H. D. Hawver as the preacher. The sermon subject will be "The Blessed Meek." Miss Marjorie M. Dow, soprano, will be the soloist, with Mrs. Frederick W. Briggs, Jr., as organist.

Private Clark
Wounded In Battle
On Saipan

Pfc. Frank K. Clark, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter A. Clark of 9 West street, Auburndale, was wounded on Saipan after taking part in the battle of the Marshall Islands, according to Navy casualty lists issued Tuesday. The extent or nature of his injuries were not revealed, but in a letter to his parents he wrote that they were not to worry about him. His father served in the Marines during World War I.

Enlisting in the Marines soon after his graduation from Newton High School in June, 1942, Clark was employed by the Sherman Paper Products Company until he was called into service the following December. He requested training as a Marine Raider and was with the Fourth Marine Division in its conquest of the Marshall Islands and Saipan.

While at Newton High, Clark played the trumpet in the band and was also on the tennis, basketball and the jayvee football team.

City Provides Recreation
For Many Children
At Playgrounds Here

Nearly 300 persons attended the annual field day of Boyd Park, Newton, Tuesday. The program included dancing exhibitions and novelty races for boys and girls.

Recreation Commissioner F. Ewing Wilson awarded prizes and the program was under the direction of Mrs. Ragna Hovgaard and John F. Donahue, supervisors; Miss Mary Feeney, Miss Elizabeth Leary, Philip Teschner, Guy Baker, Mrs. Margaret Hills, Miss Georgie Curtin, Miss Gladys Forbush and Miss Catherine E. Harney, instructors.

At the Angin Playground a handwork exhibition by children from four to eight years of age marked the annual field day. Other features were novelty races and a "Horrible" parade, while the costume relay was postponed because of the heat.

Again, prizes were awarded by Recreation Commissioner F. Ewing Wilson. In charge of the program were Supervisor John B. Dacey, Miss Mary Guiney and Miss Kay Hicks, instructors; Miss Josephine Silksonis, Roger Cabot, Miss Virginia Monroe and Fred Fagan, volunteer assistants. Judges were Mrs. John Guiney, Mrs. Frederick Hunt and Mrs. James Trefoy.

Handwork exhibitions and a girls' tumbling act were features of the annual field day held jointly by the Newton Centre, Newton Highlands and Thompsonville playgrounds Tuesday at Newton Centre.

Prizes were awarded by Recreation Commissioner F. Ewing Wilson. In charge of the program were John B. Dacey, supervisor; Miss Sheila T. Parker, Miss Barbara A. Ladoo and Roger Cabot, Newton Centre directors; Miss Grace Murphy and Miss Helen Maloney, Thompsonville directors; Miss Barbara Dittmar and John McBarrow, Newton Highland directors.

Andres Promoted To Major In Army
Air Forces

Arthur E. Andres, one of Newton's first servicemen to be decorated in World War II, has been promoted to major in the Army Air Forces at the age of 25. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene C. Andres of 61 Kirkstall road, Newtonville. The promotion was announced by the War Department August 13.

On his first pursuit flight, Andres, a second lieutenant at the time, was forced down in the jungle and returned to his camp after a 26-day ordeal. He was befriended by natives after he made a crash landing on a narrow beach. General MacArthur awarded him the Distinguished Service Cross for his heroism over Lae in New Guinea in May, 1942.

Major Andres was graduated from the Newton High School and attended the University of Michigan, in the 98th College Training Division and then placed in the West Coast Training Command Unit. He took pre-flight training at Santa Ana, Primar at Eagle Field, Dos Palos, and Basic at Merced, all in California. He earned his Lieutenant's bars at the Advanced Flying School in Phoenix, Arizona. He will return to Luke Field for assignment to his new post after a fifteen-day leave which he is spending at home.

Politics With Color

by P. W. C.

Herbert Brownell

Boston was honored this week by a visit from the chairman of the Republican National Committee, Herbert Brownell. Brownell first attracted attention in this locality when he successfully managed Gov. Dewey's campaign for the Governorship of the Empire state. After watching this man in action for over an hour, answering all sorts of questions propounded by the members of the Fourth Estate in Boston, it is easy to understand why Thomas E. Dewey rose to the top in New York.

First, let me give my readers a few impressions of the New Yorker. He is of medium height, lightly built, and decidedly youthful in appearance, despite a marked recession of hair from his forehead. He is quiet, modest and restrained in his speech. There is nothing of the typical professional politician about him. When he entered the private dining room of the Parker House, where the breakfast to the press was given last Monday morning, many of the twenty-five men present failed to notice him. However, the proceedings had not been under way five minutes before we all felt his personality. There is much color and tremendous power to this unassuming gentleman. He radiates confidence and optimism and seems to know all the answers. He answers slightly embarrassing questions with ease and apparent frankness and he does a mighty good job of parrying more difficult and complex questions, especially those which it is hardly fair to ask him.

For example, although it was farthest from my thoughts to put the man on the spot, he could not help asking him what, if anything, he had to say regarding Drew Pearson's crack on the radio the previous evening about the tremendous cost of the recent Presidential trip to Hawaii. The statement was made in great secrecy clothed this trip, partly because the vast amount of protection required to guard our Commander-in-Chief resulted in an estimated expense of some $20,000,000. Query, was this terrific expense justified by the contribution the trip made to the proper prosecution of the war?

As I recall Brownell's answer, it was, in substance, that if it could be proved that this trip was, in the main, prompted by political considerations, the American people could be counted on to rebuke the President. Not a bad answer, was it?

There were quite a few pointed questions about the CIO and its former Political Action Committee, now operating under a slightly different name, and I referred your columnist that Brownell preferred to refer to this outfit as the Hillman-Browder wing of the present Democratic party. Curiously enough, when he was describing the make-up of the party today, he omitted any reference to the Southern bloc of Democrats. He did mention the Hillman-Browder faction, the Wallace wing and the element under the leadership of the big city bosses like Flynn, Kelly and Hannegan. If anybody else noted this omission, it was not considered significant, for there was no request for an explanation.

A pointed query about the contemplated $25,000,000 slush fund which the CIO plans to spend in order to re-elect the President for a fourth term caused Brownell to state that this would, of course, be a violation of the Hatch Act and would doubtless result in proper action being taken by the departments along these lines closely.

I waited in vain for queries about Wendell L. Willkie, the highly unpopular Congressman Hamilton Fish of New York, who has recently been renominated by the GOP in spite of public opposition by both Willkie and Gov. Dewey. This was most unusual. However, one may raise the embarrassing question of accepting or refusing the support of Gerald Smith. The answer given was that the New York Governor would accept the support of ANY GOOD American who did NOT object to his religious prejudice in the campaign.

Although there were no formal speeches at this breakfast, Chairman Rowell of the GOP State Committee did suggest that Brownell make a few informal comments concerning his present trip to New England. Inasmuch as the bulk of his remarks were duly reported in the Boston papers, it is not necessary to quote them here. However, it might be helpful to give my personal impressions of the general campaign strategy, as suggested by the speaker. Two points are very clear in my mind. First, the GOP will stress the fact that the Democrats do not APPEAR to have any domestic program whatsoever. The party in power is playing up the war for all it is worth and thus obscuring all important domestic problems. This is not a proper procedure for the simple reason that the incoming President will very likely have about three years of peace-time problems and only one year of war-time problems. Consequently, all this emphasis on the Commander-in-Chief and his vital importance in the general scheme of things is uncalled for.

Secondly, the GOP will bear down hard on the constant bickering, back-biting and bungling of Mr. Roosevelt's "tired old men."

The advanced ages of many who hold Cabinet posts or other important assignments in Washington will be properly stressed and compared with the President's attitude when he was frantically trying to pack the Supreme Court a few short years ago. These elderly Justices were pictured as tired, worn-out old men who had outlived their usefulness, Well,

NEWTON In The Past

55 Years Ago

Newton Graphic, August 16, 1889
A meeting of gentlemen interested in the proposed West Newton, Waltham and Watertown electric railroad, was held in Waltham yesterday afternoon.

The fair students of Lasell will soon turn their steps toward the seminary and indications point to a very large number of pupils. The Bowen block, Newton Highlands, containing two stores and two tenements, is nearly completed and will soon be ready for occupancy.

Electric lights are appearing on various streets of Newton Centre. It is to be hoped that they will give more light than the gas lights which have done duty in the past.

50 Years Ago

Newton Graphic, August 17, 1894
The grade crossings in Newton have been elevated at last, and the railroad company have done just as they pleased. For the past week or two men have been at work on the crossings and they have been elevated about two inches.

Automatic sprinklers for protection in case of fire have been put in at Coddington's Mills, Newton Lower Falls.

Cows pasturing on public streets have become to be a usual thing again in Nonantum. The plans for the new rectory in Nonantum call for nine rooms as well as an unfinished attic, and if the house looks as good as the plan it will indeed be a good one. The new library building on Institution Hill, Newton Centre, was commenced this week, workmen starting in on the foundation.

25 Years Ago

Newton Graphic, August 15, 1919
The assessors announced the tax rate for the present year would be $19.80. The increase from last year which was $18.40 is due to the Boston Elevated Assessment and a decrease in the income tax.

Several hundred members of the Brae Burn Country Club, the Woodland Golf Club, Albemarle, Chestnut Hill and Commonwealth Clubs are affected by the recent decision of the Supreme Court and local police toward Sunday golfing. The police have served warning to those who play on Sunday that the law, which has been in abeyance, is to be enforced, although it is out that the move is not purely a local one.

The patrolmen of the local Police Department are preparing a petition soon to be presented to Mayor Childs and the Board of Aldermen in which they ask an increase in pay. At present the men, who have served at least four years receive $1500 or $4.10 a day. In the petition they ask that this be the rate paid to first-year men and that the pay increase $100 a year until the men who have served the city four years or more are receiving $1800.

Kiwanis Club

President Walter Hood presided at the Tuesday afternoon Dinner Meeting of the Kiwanis Club held at the Newton YMCA, August 15th. War Bond sales of the day totaled $37. Mr. K. S. Crosby of the Valdesia, Georgia, Kiwanis Club paid us a visit. Arthur P. Kelly, operator of the Norumbega Garage, Auburndale was inducted as a new member. President Hood announced that plans are being made for the outing to be held in September which is being drawn up to increase the minimum wage of those under twenty-one years of age.

Speaker of the day was Harold A. Wooster, Librarian of the City of Newton who spoke on "The Library and Education Looking Forward." He told us about the Newton Library; its history, development, and plans for the future. We should all be proud of our City's fine library, and its staff which makes every effort to make it the best.

An outstanding program is promised for next week when the club will hear Carl D. Smith, President of Babson Institute, and the Vice Chairman of the Committee for Economic Development in New England. The subject of Mr. Smith's talk will be "A Pattern for Post-War Action."

What is sauce for the goose should be sauce for the gander, should it not? Furthermore, we are currently engaged in an all-out war and it is more than ordinarily important that we should have men of youth and vigor in all high positions.

Two more points. Brownell stressed the fact that the 1944 campaign was being built around the twenty-six Republican Governors and their state organizations. They have the "know-how." They have the necessary electoral votes in their states to more than assure the brilliant New Yorker's election to the Presidency. Gov. Dewey is unquestionably stronger today than ever before. Furthermore, the trend toward the GOP in recent months has been about 6 per cent as compared with the 1940 vote. A trend of only 5 per cent would be sufficient to elect Dewey.

Finally, there is an atmosphere of smooth efficiency and perfect team-work in this campaign. For once in his career, Mr. Roosevelt is confronted by a man who appears to be at least his equal in political sagacity and who can most certainly hold his own, and more, possibly, on the radio. Watch the fur fly from Labor Day on.

P.W.C.

Camp Frank A. Day

Brookfield, Mass.

Friday, August 11.
Saturday evening, August 12, another exciting "Truth and Consequence" show was staged in the dining-hall, "Walvo" Smith was awarded first prize on his impersonation of a fan dancer. It was an excellent performance for one who had never seen a fan dancer. Mr. Johnson and Mr. Allen were on the stage again, and their consequence, seeing which could make himself the more beautiful, brought down the house. They were both supplied with cosmetics and accessories and did admirably. Who would never have known them, when they had finished with their makeup.

Monday evening, Joe Lorraine made his annual visit to the camp, much to the delight of campers old and new. He played his bells, his banjo, related ghost stories, told humorous stories, and showed himself to be a first-rate ventriloquist. Joe always makes a hit at Camp Day.

Tuesday evening was given over to the weekly boxing exhibition. There were bouts for the midges, juniors, and seniors, and how the old dining-hall shook with the thorough applause of partisan rooters.

Wednesday evening was a free night in camp. The new boys who arrived for the third period of camp were tired from their day's journey and welcomed the opportunity of taking it easy. Boys and campers were enjoyed by all those eligible. One free evening a week when nothing is scheduled is proving very popular this year.

Thursday night motion pictures were shown. The feature picture was "The Lives of the Bengal Lancers."

Tonight a basketball game is scheduled with the fast high school team of Brookfield, and a week from tonight, the Camp Day baseball team takes on Brookfield town team, whom they have already defeated once this year, earlier in the season.

Once again the time is approaching for the annual town meeting and Boy's Day that follows the election when the successful candidates take over the administration of the camp for the year. Ready to depart are the boys, and the Walvoys. Signs are now being displayed from every conceivable vantage point. Parades and banners, speeches and political maneuvering, will be evidence during any period of free time. The waterfront with its fine opportunities for boating, canoeing, sailing, and bathing is a very popular spot on these hot August afternoons.

The camp spirit is running high, and a good evidence of this is the banner enrollment for the third period of camp. Instead of a dropping off in enrollment as is usually the case toward the end of camp season, there has been an increase in numbers.

"One thing of Quacumquaguet, Deep among the pines, Stands a camp in all its glory, Foremost of its kind."

Camp Massasoit Parents' Day

To Be Held At Y.M.C.A.

August 23rd
Members of the staff of Camp Massasoit, the day camp being conducted this summer at the Newton Y.M.C.A., have planned the program with Director Richard B. Simmons, for Parents' Day to be held Wednesday, August 23rd, during the final week of the camp. While only boys attending camp the last week will participate, all boys who have been in the camp at any time during the summer, are being invited to attend this event with their parents.

The Parents' Day program will start at 6.45 p.m. with the Cadets, boys who are eight and nine years old, playing softball and demonstrating their skill in archery, and the Juniors and Junior High School boys, boys ten years old and up, taking part in baseball, softball and archery. Mrs. Anita Howart will direct both groups in archery. Alden Read will be in charge of the Junior High School boys playing baseball, and Albert Evans and Roger Stanton will supervise the Cadets and Juniors boys playing softball. All of these activities will take place on the "Y" athletic field.

Following the outdoor program there will be a swimming period by the Cadets, and a later one for the Junior High School boys, when the campers can demonstrate their swimming skills and their progress during the camping period. All under the supervision of C. Wade Abbott, Associate Physical Director at the "Y."

Immediately following the swimming demonstration, the Cadets will have a half hour period of stories by Mrs. Cobb who has done this as a part of the camping program one day a week all summer. Mrs. Cobb is the co-author with Mr. Cobb of the books used extensively in the elementary grades of the schools.

The concluding part of the Parents' Day program will be an Assembly period in the "Y" auditorium, which will be similar to the camp daily assembly program. The assembly will be in charge of Director Richard B. Simmons. He will open it with a welcome to the parents and friends of the boys, and then one of the campers will lead the Flag Salute. Singing will be led by Wendell P. Hager, Associate Boys' Work Secretary at the "Y" with C. Wade Abbott at the piano. The presentation of awards will be in charge of Alden W. Read. Awards will be given in archery, track and field, swimming, and for craft work. The craft awards will be given to the best pieces selected by a committee from the exhibit. Wendell P. Hager has been in charge of the craft work in the camp. A daily part of the camp noon program has been movies, so a movie will be shown. The final part of the Assembly will be the singing of the National Anthem.

The camp staff is Richard B. Simmons, Physical Director at the "Y"—Camp Director; and Associates: C. Wade Abbott, Associate Physical Director; Wendell P. Hager, Associate Boys' Secretary; Alden Read, Assistant Principal at the Frank A. Day Junior High School; Richard W. Hubbard, teacher in the Belmont Junior High School; Roger Stanton; Mrs. Anita Howart; Albert Evans; Francis Kuzich, and Al Rogan.

GO EASY WITH THAT OIL. CAN, JANE. TOO MUCH OIL IN THAT VACUUM CLEANER MOTOR IS JUST AS BAD AS NONE.

Boston Edison Company says... right! It's good sense to oil your vacuum cleaner and other electrical appliances periodically but be careful not to over-oil. Too much oil damages motor armatures.

"Mummy, where's the wall that Daddy said he'd built around our house?"

LAST NIGHT SHE HEARD THEM... those murmured words of Daddy's, that sent his little daughter out bright and early, looking for a wall.

It was "Daddy's time" when it happened... the half hour they always spent together, before Mummy hurried her to bed.

Her cardboard fort stood beneath the elm tree, the last rays of sunshine glinting through the branches... together they bent eagerly above it, four busy hands piling a stout stockade of twigs...

"Build the wall higher, Daddy," Mary commanded, "to keep the naughty insects out!"

Then Mummy called, and Daddy swung her up, with a hug that almost hurt... and a whisper, barely caught, as he carried her upstairs—"Thank God I've built a strong wall round this house!"

AND SO HE HAD—a high, strong wall, invisible though it be to his daughter's eyes, a carefully planned life insurance program, to protect his family from the possibility of want.

As so many independence-loving New Englanders have done for over half a century, he took his problem to a long established New England company, the Boston Mutual, where he could count on neighborly understanding and advice.

Here protection is readily available, no matter how modest your income, on a weekly, quarterly, semi-annual, or annual basis. Today this company serves over 364,000 New England families.

You will find your local Boston Mutual representative a friendly counsellor, thoroughly trained in insurance problems.

Dining With Jane and Bill

Jane: Have you noticed what Junior's been eating this summer? He shies away from any foods he has to chew. He's been drinking about two quarts of milk a day and not much else.

Bill: What's the matter with milk? Milk is good for him, isn't it?

Jane: Yes, it is good for him. He needs about a quart of milk a day, but he needs other foods too. Let me tell you what happened this afternoon. I took Junior to the dentist and the two of us were given a lecture. The dentist asked Junior what he had been eating. Then he said, "You don't make much use of your teeth when you drink milk and eat only soft foods, do you? Those new teeth of yours need to be biting into foods. You can't keep your gums strong and firm unless you exercise them." Junior was quite impressed—especially after the dentist brought out some sets of teeth and showed him what might happen if they are not properly cared for.

Bill: Do you think the lecture did any good?

Jane: Well, when we came home Junior was hungry. I gave him a few raw carrot sticks with a peanut butter sandwich. He didn't want the carrot sticks at first but I reminded him of what the dentist had said. After a couple of bites he grinned sheepishly and said he didn't know that carrots were so good. When I had my back turned he ate the crusts of the bread too, which is something new for him.

Bill: That's great.

Jane: I think you could help with this problem too, Bill. Junior always copies everything you do. If you would make it a habit to take something crisp and chewy like an apple between meals, I'll bet we'll find Junior doing the same thing pretty soon. Probably be good for you too.

Bill: Okay, Jane, we'll all get in on this.

Foods especially good for exercising the gums and keeping them healthy and firm: raw carrots and turnips apples salad greens whole grain breads—particularly the crusts meats

Connells Celebrate 25th Anniversary

Relatives and friends attended an open house and reception in honor of the 25th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Patrick F. Connell on 334 Linwood avenue, Newtonville, Sunday.

Mr. Connell is a former chairman of the Sons' Squadron committee of the Newton Post American Legion and Mrs. Connell is president of the Newton Unit, American Legion Auxiliary. Their son, Pfc. Thomas F. USMC, who is now on Saipan Island, is a past captain of the Sons' Squadron. A daughter, Communication Specialist 3-C Mary Louise, WAVE, was home from Washington, D. C., for the occasion. Other children of the couple are Mrs. Christine Callan of Watertown; Katherine, Marion and Joseph Connell, Mr. and Mrs. Connell were married in Mary Immaculate of Lourdes Church, Newton Upper Falls on August 6, 1919.

The couple received many gifts of silver. Among others present were Mrs. Connell's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Schriber of Hyde Park.

RECENT ENGAGEMENTS

Mrs. C. Simoni of Newton Upper Falls announces the engagement of her daughter, Elena Pauline to Cedric Schofield, son of Mr. and Mrs. William W. Schofield, of Newton Upper Falls.

Mr. Schofield served in the Merchant Marine during 1942 and 1943 and is now employed as a printer for Rand Avery. The bride-elect is employed as a pharmacist.

SHERMAN WAS RIGHT

As they say out Blue Hill avenue way, "Hitler should have them." But in this case, alas, it was Lt. Colonel Eddie Hickey who had 'em. And the things he had were boils. Painful indeed, and Col. Eddie had 'em where no one should have them—on that part of his anatomy usually used for the purpose of sitting... The fighting in those rugged China mountains was fierce, at the time, the going was extremely difficult, and for a gent with boils, well, it must have been just about what Sherman had in mind, when he said the bad word, that time... It seems reasonable to suppose, too, that Cpl. Hickey may have been mulling a few choice bits of wordage concerning boils and things in general. Each he climbed in and around those mountains. However, at that time, they were driving the Japs in the general direction of Tokyo and time was of the essence. The Colonel could groan a little if he wished, but the trick, just then, was to keep his men on the heels of the fleeing Sons of, ahem, Heaven...

A high ranking Chinese officer, observing Col. Hickey's distress, went in to a huddle with his aides and presto, a solution was found for the relief of the limping American Colonel. They presented him with a horse!

That was pretty near the killing a fellow with kindness department! The Colonel rode, for the horse was guided with genuine concern and courteous. Each ride was increasingly painful and at the end of that particular campaign, Colonel Hickey spent much of his time with the Army doctors.

Hirohito should also have 'em!

By Bill Sullivan

The big series is on, the Browns arrived for four games and every one of these games vital to our Sox. St. Louis was as cocky as Jack Dempsey entering the ring, but they just didn't have the staying power Jack had, and at the end of 13 innings were on the losing end 7-6. It was one of the best games ever seen but it sure looked dark, with the Browns leading 5-1 in the fourth inning. Mike Ryba started pitching for the Sox but with the temperature 100 Mike couldn't stand the heat so gave away to Hausman who pitched brilliantly for six innings, making only one bad pitch to Stephens who whaled it over the fence in the eighth. Barrett pitched 1 inning and gave way to a pinch hitter. With St. Louis leading 6-5 in the ninth Buckner batting for Newnam came to center. Cronin batted for Barrett and hit one away out to center but Kreevich pulled it down, then Leon Culbertson socked one over the fence in left center to tie up the ball game. Then the crowd got another thrill when the bull-pen came Rex Cecil the rookie pitcher who just arrived that p.m. from San Diego. This was a spot, but Rex made himself solid with Boston fans by turning the Browns back for four innings striking out Gaster and Butteridge with the bases full in the tenth. He held them safe for the next three innings but had to bear down all the time as the Browns got a hit in each inning, then came the climax with one away in the 13th. Bobby Doerr winding batter in the American League drove one out of the park for a home run to win the ball game for the Sox.

Penway Park was jammed and every one there got many thrills. Stephens hit two home runs and a double. McQuinn hit a home run and a single. Kreevich and Christman got two hits. Muncie pitched six innings and retired due to the heat. Caster pitched the rest of the game holding the Sox to three hits, but what hits, and he was charged with the loss. Our heroes were Culbertson who made five hits and scored three runs, tying the game with a homer. Bobby Doerr hit a home run winning the game. Rex Cecil pitched four innings to win his first ball game.

Base ball fans have seen and will see a great many excellent games but what a thrill it was to see all the Sox come rushing out of the dugout to greet Doerr. Cecil who had never been in a big league game came out with the towel he was trying to cool himself off with, and fairly hugged Bobbie. St. Louis was leading 6-1 in the second game when it was called at 6:30. This should be finished later and maybe we can pull this one out of the fire. As it stands now we are still 6 1/2 games behind the Browns so it looks like St. Louis, as they took three out of four from the Yanks. Detroit has been coming along good and with two pitchers like Newhouse and Trout could sneak in, but don't sell Boston short yet, wait for another week. Boston has two more games here with St. Louis and then they play Cleveland and Detroit.

Tex Hughson pitched and won his final game for the Red Sox beating Chicago for the fifth time this year, giving him a record of 18 wins and 10 losses. Tex is a wonderful ball player, a great team man, he never asked Joe to pick any easy spots for him. All the fans, Joe Cronin and every one of his team mates thought the world of Tex. He won five games from Chicago and lost none; 2 from Washington and lost none; three from St. Louis and lost one; New York won two and lost two, Cleveland one and one, total won 18, lost 5, 112 strikeouts, always ready and willing.

I saw him pitch his first game for Boston when he split his finger in the first inning, but continued on to pitch a corker to win for Boston. The best of luck to you Tex, wherever you are, we all know you will give your best without a squawk. May we clean them out of the Sox and Sox and Sox and all the boys can get back here again. St. Louis Browns have now won 66 and lost 44, the Sox won 59 and lost 50; Detroit won 67 and lost 51; Yankees won 55, lost 52. Doerr is leading the American League batters with 330. Slobert of Philadelphia Athletics 329; Pete Fox, 320. There is no competition in the National League, the Cards are away out front leading by 17 1/2 games, having won 77 and lost 28. Cincinnati won 59 and lost 45; Pittsburgh won 58 and lost 45; Chicago won 47 and lost 54; Giants won 50 and lost 58; our Braves are next with 43 games won and 62 lost. Philadelphia won 41 and lost 61 and the Dodgers are last with 43 games won and 65 lost.

The St. Louis Cards are with the best. Mort Cooper should win about 22 games. Lanier will win over 20 and the other pitchers are consistent winners. Musial is hitting .353, second to Walker of the Dodgers, who has .355. Hopp of the Cards is third with .334; they are very fast with a very good infield. Sanders at first, Marion short and Kuroski at third are all stars and either Fallon or Verban at second can hold their end up. Walter Cooper and O'Dea take care of the catching department. The Braves need two more first class pitchers and some 300 batters. They have played excellent ball at times, then very bad at others. Red Barrett has pitched his head off trying to win. Andrews and Tobin have pitched excellent ball but you can't win without runs. Javery is now laid up with a sore side. Connie Mack picked his all star team of players who are still living, here it is. Do you agree with Conny? Moose Grove and Walter Johnson, pitchers; Mickey Cochrane, catcher; George Sisler, first; Eddie Collins, second; the great Honus Wagner, short; Frank Baker, third, with an outfield of Babe Ruth in right, our own Speaker in center and the one and only peerless Ty Cobb in left. Lt. Bell Dickey, catcher. The Bambino with the record of 60 homers in 1927 drew cheers from the crowd when he appeared. It was a great night for Connie who is 81 years old and he has had a wonderful career as manager. Heard from Sergeant Charlie Thompson and Corporal Eddie Patrick of Thornton street, Newton. Both of these boys have been fighting the Japs for nearly three years and they say keep "What's Cookin' coming along as they get quite a kick out of it.

RATION BOARD ENFORCES 'FULL CAR' POLICY

Complying with a nationwide program to save gasoline and tires, the Newton Rationing Board today announced a rigid program to require all home-to-work drivers to carry "full car clubs."

With inauguration of the new plan, local War Price and Rationing Boards will be expected to refuse full supplemental gasoline rations to home-to-work drivers who have not yet completed full car clubs.

Under the mileage rationing regulations, home-to-work drivers are required to carry three riders in addition to the driver, in order to qualify for supplemental mileage.

BIKE BRAKES FAIL BOY INJURED

Albert Crowley, 14, of 14 Dana road, West Newton, suffered a possible leg fracture Wednesday when he lost control of his bicycle while riding on the side of the Auburndale Boat House at Norumbega Park, 2347 Commonwealth avenue.

The boy was removed to the Newton Hospital in the police ambulance by Patrolmen William L. Wheland and Thomas L. McEnaney. He told the police the crash resulted when the bicycle's brakes wouldn't work. The accident occurred shortly after noon.

H. S. FOOTBALL PLAYER JOINS NAVY

Roger P. Peck, son of Mr. and Mrs. Cady K. Peck of 130 Oakdale road, Newton Highlands, has enlisted in the U. S. Naval Reserve. He left last Friday for Sampson, N. Y., for his boot training. Roger is a graduate of Newton High School where he was a back on the football squad. He also played on the hockey team.

Camp Robinson, Arkansas

Our Father, whose redeeming love continually strives against every evil, we thank Thee for the rising tide of Allied victories around the world. May the souls of our comrades who have made the supreme sacrifice find joy and peace with Thee and may the tender presence of Thy Spirit comfort their loved ones. Give healing and strength to the sick and wounded. Help us to be good stewards of our heritage of Liberty and Truth as well as of our material resources and personal talents so that peace and righteousness may prevail and Thy Kingdom come among men. Amen.

REV. HANSON RECEIVES PH.D. DEGREE FROM B.U.

Rev. Harry A. Hanson, D. D., 31 Brooks avenue, Newtonville, president of Lucknow College in India, received the degree of Doctor of Philosophy, in absentia, at the summer commencement exercises of Boston University Saturday.

Dr. Hanson, whose hero son, First Lieut. Robert M. Hanson, has been awarded the Congressional Medal of Honor, is on his way back to India to take over his duties as president of Lucknow. He has been in missionary service in India since his graduation from Boston University in 1916.

Lieut. Hanson is listed as missing in action with 25 Japanese planes to his credit.

STOP SIGNS IGNORED—POLICE ACT

After receiving complaints that stop and enter signs are being ignored in Newton, Charles Walker, a sergeant today ordered sergeants, route officers and motorcycle officers to "see that the practice stops."

SGT. CANTER PRINTS AIR FORCE NEWSPAPER

AN EIGHTH AAF COMPOSITE STATION, England (Special to "What's Cookin' in Newton")—Sergeant Sidney S. Canter, 24, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Canter, 14 Noble street, West Newton, is one of the busiest soldiers on the P-47 Thunderbolt fighter training station where he is located. Chief clerk in the publications section, he has charge of turning out printing and mimeographing work for the entire station.

Such things as the station newspaper edited and published by the enlisted men on the field, the daily special orders of the commanding officer, directives issued by the various departments, and the station daily bulletin, are example of the work printed in Sgt. Canter's section. The Sergeant has been serving overseas since August of 1942.

Sgt. Canter attended Waltham High School and was graduated in the class of 1938. He later entered Boston University majoring in business administration. Prior to entering military service in January of 1942, he was sales manager for the Packard Paper Box Company of Malden. His father, Mr. Joseph Canter, is an executive of the same concern.

VINCENT P. BARRY DIES

The funeral of Vincent P. Barry, brother of Msgr. Robert P. Barry, who died July 22nd, was conducted from the home of his sisters, the Misses Mary A. and Elizabeth L. Barry of 949 Center street, Newton Center, followed by a solemn requiem mass sung at 10 o'clock at the Church of the Sacred Heart. Rev. John Catter was the celebrant of the mass and was assisted by the Rev. John Scollan, deacon, and the Rev. John Doyle, who was the sub-deacon. Master of ceremonies was Rev. William W. Conelys.

REPORTS ATTEMPT TO ENTER HOME

An attempted burglary at his home was reported to the police by James F. Queenan, 99 Devonshire road, Waban. He found that the screen of the porch door had been cut near the lock. The thief did not gain entrance, however, and it is believed that he was scared away before he could enter.

Newton Merry-Go-Round

By Paul Considine

There's a thermometer outside the window and as your local correspondent, praying for rain, the mercury once again registers 105. That's really a bit on the hot side for the Garden City and after three weeks of it, the natives are wistfully praying for a nice chilly ninety in the shade. It will be awful if it's eventually discovered that Hitler and Company have come up with another secret weapon and slipped our town south of the border. The folks up Chestnut Hill and Waban way won't approve, and they certainly aren't going to enjoy the prospect of wearing sombreros either.

However, the hot sun and the stifling humidity, give all of us some slight idea of what you fellows with the guns are taking in the real hot spots. After all, 105 in Newton is a far cry from 135 down around the equator. Everyone realizes the fact, too, and there's little complaining. Some of the defense plants are actually over-like, these days, but the gals and the old timers are still in there, so's to keep their machines operating in the usual tempo.

There are no strikes or strikers in your home town—or lay-offs because of the heat.

AROUND TOWN

Sgt. LeRoy Coleman, reported missing some weeks ago, is a prisoner in Germany. Leroy formerly lived on Avon place, Newton. Sgt. Charles Walker, a radio gunner aboard a Flying Fortress, has completed fifteen missions. Sgt. Walker formerly lived on Omar terrace, Newtonville... Presentation of the Congressional Medal of Honor, awarded to First Lt. Robert M. Hanson, will be made to his mother, Mrs. Jean D. Hanson of 31 Brooks avenue, Newtonville, at a public ceremony at Boston Common Saturday. Lt. Hanson has been reported missing since last February and his total bag of Jap planes is 25. He knocked down twenty of them in six days... T/Sgt. Edward McCarthy, waist gunner on a medium bomber based in Italy, has been awarded the Air Medal for meritorious achievement. Formerly of Winslow road, Waban, Sgt. McCarthy is now doing a little gunning in Burma... Sgt. John Carley of the Marines, home after 20 odd months of scrapping with the monkeymen in the South Pacific (Continued on Page 4) and ready for immediate mobilization in the event it should be required, either by enemy action or by local disasters. The tedious manning of Control and Report Centres has been discontinued, and the alerting of the organization, including the sounding of the air raid signals, has been entrusted to the State Police. However, the 400,000 members of Civilian Defense in Massachusetts know their job and their assignments, and we feel sure will not be found wanting if the occasion should arise.

Recent Deaths In Newton

Timothy J. O'Connell

Timothy J. O'Connell of 326 River street, West Newton, husband of the late Margaret C. O'Connell, and father of Rev. Edward T. O'Connell of St. Aidan's Church, Brookline, died at St. Elizabeth's Hospital, Brighton, on Thursday, August 10, following a brief illness.

Mr. O'Connell was in his 74th year. He was born in Macroom, County Cork, Ireland, the son of Timothy and Eleanor (Harrigan) O'Connell. He had been a resident of West Newton for more than 50 years. For many years he was employed as a machinist at the Watertown Arsenal retiring about three years ago, and recently was employed in war work at W. H. Nichols and Sons Co. in Waltham. He was a member of St. Bernard's Court, M. C. O. F. of which he was a past chief ranger.

Surviving him besides his son are three daughters, Mrs. Walter Brooks of Dorchester, Mrs. William Johnston and Miss Margaret O'Connell, both of West Newton, a sister, Mrs. Mary Duggan of Newtonville and one grandson, Walter Brooks, Jr.

Funeral services were held from his home on Saturday morning, August 12, at 10 o'clock by his son, Rev. Edward T. O'Connell assisted by Rev. Francis P. Sullivan, deacon, and Rev. John A. Saunders, sub-deacon. Seated in the sanctuary were Rev. John J. Crane, S. T. L., pastor of St. Bernard's Church; Rev. John T.

Creagh, J.U.D., pastor of St. Aidan's Church; Rev. Thomas L. Boland, pastor of Sacred Heart Church, South Natick; Rev. James J. Manning of Newton Centre; Rev. John J. Fogarty of Waban; Rev. Francis A. Barry of Melrose; Rev. Charles F. Dewey of Quincy; Rev. Joseph A. Sullivan of Gloucester; Rev. Daniel F. Riordan of Newton; Rev. Walter J. Doyle of Waban; Rev. John J. William J. Collins C.P.S., of Waltham; Rev. Charles B. Flannigan of Wellesley; Rev. Timothy M. Howard of Newton; Rev. John J. Connolly of the Cathedral, Boston; Rev. Otis F. Kelly of Wellesley Hills; Rev. Aloysius G. Madden of Brookline; Rev. John Gagan of Lynn; Rev. John J. Tierney of Milton; Miss Esther M. Costello was organist and Mrs. James F. Kirk-ligher sang "Angus Dei." Lawrence Jenkins sang "Pie Jesu" at the end of mass and "Miserere Mei" at the recessional. Members of St. Bernard's Court, M. C. O. F., comprised the honorary escort under the direction of Miss Mary Gleason, chief ranger. A delegation of employees of W. H. Nichols and Sons of Waltham was led by William Cusack, assistant superintendent. Among others present were Mayor John F. Devane and City Counsellor Ball Bartlett, both of Waltham.

Burial was in Calvary Cemetery, Waltham, with prayers by Rev. A. Madden of St. Aidan's Church, assisted by the other priests.

Full Answers to Fair Questions

JUST ASK FOR YOUR SERVICE REPRESENTATIVE

We want to answer all questions about wartime telephone service as completely as possible.

This isn't always easy when people plan to move, or take a house for the summer, and learn they cannot get a telephone at the new address.

The general answer to such questions is that war has about used up reserve telephone facilities. So we must make what we have give the best service we can to the greatest number.

Every customer has a different problem, a different set of questions—we can't answer them all here—a husband away in service, serious illness, a baby expected, important war work, dozens of other reasons why a telephone is wanted.

If you have a specific question, please get in touch with a Service Representative or the Manager at your local Telephone Business Office.

American Spirit

World War II has brought us in closer contact with people all over the world and they are well aware of our "True American Spirit" which makes an American. We in America take it for granted... it is our heritage. This spirit was shown by three boys who live on Wade street, Newton Highlands—William Scully, 13, Anthony Ferrazzo, 12, and Thomas Ferrazzo, 10. The boys solicited trinkets and knick knacks from neighbors, sold them, and to add the fund ran movies on Saturday, July 22nd. The receipts, $7.17, were presented to the Newton Red Cross at the Chapter House in Newtonville. The money will go into the Junior Red Cross fund which helps our own service men's children or children in foreign countries. The American spirit will never cease as shown by a deed of this sort.

Bill and Anthony are pupils of the Weeks Junior High School and Tom attends the Hyde School in Newton Highlands.

PURPLE HEART, CLUSTER GIVEN

Twice wounded on the Anzio Beachhead, Pvt. Joseph H. Bel-deszek, 27, of 676 Boylston street, Newton Centre, whose name appears on an Army casualty list, has rejoined his company in Italy, according to word received by his wife, Mrs. Elizabeth M. Bel-deszek. Pvt. Bel-deszek was first wounded by shrapnel on May 28 and returned to action after being treated at the scene. Two days later he was again struck by shrapnel and spent a month in a hospital. In his latest letter he states that he is feeling better and is back with his company.

OLD ADAGE "SAFE AT HOME" CONTRADICTION

A taste of the battlefield right in Newton Upper Falls was given James Keizer of 1044 Chestnut street on August 8.

He reported to Newton Police that while on the lawn of his home a .22 calibre rifle bullet passed over his head. The source of the missile was not revealed.

A CASE OF TRY TRY AGAIN

One of the qualities that have made the United States Marine Corps famous is persistence, and if you ask his superior officers, Pfc. Larry Greenberg, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Greenberg, 87 Clark street, Newton Centre, has more than his share of it.

Greenberg has certainly worn down resistance of recruiting officers to get into the service. Nine times he applied for enlistment in the Corps, beginning when he reached his 17th birthday, and eight times he was turned down as underweight and below the required height.

Eventually the height standard was reduced, but he still had the weight obstacle. He weighed only 98 pounds and the minimum needed was 110 pounds so he ate fattening foods. Once when the scales at the recruiting station showed that he was up to 104 pounds, he drank ice cold water until he could hold no more. He returned to the scales but though he had acquired over four pounds additional by this means, he still fell short of the minimum requirement.

On his ninth try he was successful and tipped the scales at 110½ and was accepted... a year had elapsed from the time he first applied.

Pvt. Greenberg was shipped out after basic training at Parris Island. Instead of being sent to the South Pacific to fight Japs as he had hoped, he found himself a member of a garrison on one of the Virgin Islands.

Did he care? Yes! He didn't wait to make it known that he wanted to get closer to the fighting.

Pfc. Greenberg is now at Eagle Mt. Lake, Texas, training to become an aerial gunner in the Marine Air Corps.

LT. GOUGH WRITES OF AMG

First Lt. Edward A. Gough of 6 Silver Lake avenue, Newton in a letter describes his work in the Allied Military Government in France in a letter to Edmund T. Duggan, Newton Soldiers' Relief Commissioner.

Dear Ed: Here I am again. I've been definitely on the move since the last time I wrote. I am now part of a special group which has been conducting a Refugee and Evacuation camp immediately behind what is of the termed "the front line." I have seen so much but censorship prevents my mentioning 99 per cent of all that I have seen and been a part of. I've been so close to an immense and deadly struggle and have been so much a part of the game that one might say I've been "directly behind the pitcher." Here, at the Refugee Camp, which is a very well preserved chateau of 14th century France, I've handled every sort of problem imaginable. The lame, halt, blind, very young, very old, of problem imaginable, terrified and the heartbroken have come in large numbers. They have arrived all hours of day and night. In the first five days that I was here, I actually got only a total of eight hours sleep. Tragedy and comedy has been never far away.

THIEF EMPTIES PURSE—RETURNS IT BY MAIL

A thoughtful thief returned his victim's purse through the mails, according to a report made last Thursday to Newton Police.

Mrs. E. W. Dolan of 42 Washington avenue, Wellesley, told police that a purse containing $30 was taken from her in a West Newton store. She said that the empty purse was later dropped into a mail box and was returned to her through the Post Office.

NEWTON CAPTAIN'S SQUADRON CITED

A Newton High School graduate, who was recently promoted to captain for his exploits in the air, is a member of the Pioneer P-51 Mustang group which received the Presidential citation, according to an announcement made recently from a Ninth Air Force Fighter base in France.

Capt. Felix M. Rogers, son of Mrs. F. F. Rogers of 1768 Beacon street, Brookline, formerly of Newton, is a member of the group which received the award from Lt.-Gen. Lewis H. Brereton.

Capt. Rogers enlisted two years ago and has been overseas since last November. He received the Distinguished Flying Cross and his promotion to captain in July after bagging two German planes on his 23rd birthday. His fighter group has escorted bombers to Berlin and other continental targets. It has also dove-bombed enemy objectives and has shot down 11 robot bombs.

3 NEWTON MEN RECEIVE CIVILIAN AWARDS

Three Newton residents have earned the Civilian Service award of the U. S. Navy Bureau of Yards and Docks for excellent services rendered while employed by the Navy as civilians on contract construction projects in the Boston area.

Citations and emblems have been sent by Capt. Hugo C. Fisher, U.S.N., officer in charge of construction in the First Naval District, to the following:

S. T. Romaszewicz, office assistant, 33 Sullivan avenue, Newton Upper Falls.

J. M. McInerney, assistant auditor, 45 Elmore street, Newton Centre.

MOTOR OVERHEATS AT GATH'S RESTAURANT

An overheated motor at Gath's Restaurant, 857 Washington street, Newtonville, required the attention of the Newton Fire Department for about an hour this morning.

Engine 4 responded to the call at 8:40 and returned to the station at 9:45 a.m.

THIEF EMPTIES PURSE—RETURNS IT BY MAIL

A thoughtful thief returned his victim's purse through the mails, according to a report made last Thursday to Newton Police.

CPL. GREEN EXPLAINS CARD GAME TO ROYALTY

When Cpl. Isador Green, 26, of the Army Air Forces went to England he hardly expected to chum with royalty, but something like that happened to him, according to a letter just received by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Hyman Green, of 23 Green park, Newton.

"At last I have something to write home about—I met the King and Queen and Princess Elizabeth, accompanied by Gen. Jimmy Doolittle, were coming to inspect the base. Dressed for inspection he went to the Red Cross Aero Club to kill time while awaiting the call for inspection.

He sat down at a table and started to play solitaire. "A card game he heard a din about the usual din then a hush," he wrote.

Then he turned. There, looking over my shoulder, watching me play, was the Queen of England! I was dumfounded!

"The queen asked me questions about the game she called Patience. Did I draw one or three cards at a time? How many times did I go through the deck? For five minutes we discussed the art of playing solitaire and table tennis, and for ten minutes I was the winner. I guided her around the club as the King and Princess Elizabeth stood quietly by the door watching us. Then inspection sounded and they left. The bubble had burst."

FIND THREE YOUTHS GUILTY OF 15 THEFTS

The safe robbery which occurred at the Newton Elk's Home on Centre street, April 30, and 15 other burglaries and thefts were solved when three youths were found guilty of the offenses in the Newton District Court.

One of the trio, 17 years old, was held in $1,000 bail for the Grand Jury, and the other two, one 15 and the other 16, were sentenced to the State Industrial School at Shirley.

MARINE HOSPITAL RECEIVES BOUQUETS FROM GARDEN CLUB

Eighty-two bouquets for the Marine Hospital in Brighton were brought to the meeting of the Newton Upper Falls Garden Club Aug. 8th at the home of Mrs. Albert Proctor, 1192 Chestnut street, Newton Upper Falls.

Plans were completed for the annual flower show to be held on Sept. 13, at the Emerson School, under the general chairmanship of Mrs. Harold T. Sprague.

Mrs. Austin Flint, president, conducted the business meeting and Mrs. Ida Miller assisted the hostesses in serving supper.

MAYOR CONGRATULATES COAST GUARD ON ANNIVERSARY

A proclamation congratulating the United States Coast Guard on the celebration of its 145th anniversary was issued today by Mayor Paul M. Goddard.

The proclamation follows: Citizens of Newton: On August 4th the United States Coast Guard will commemorate the 145th anniversary of its founding.

During its long years of service to our country the Coast Guard has served with distinction in war and peace. In the present war and hundreds of Newton men and women are serving in this branch of our armed services, and a large number of our citizens are serving in the Coast Guard Temporary Reserve.

The City of Newton congratulates the Coast Guard on this 145th anniversary and expresses its appreciation for the splendid service being rendered by our citizens who are members of this gallant service.

Paul M. Goddard, Mayor.

RESCUES WOMAN FROM DROWNING

A woman was saved from drowning in the Charles River Saturday afternoon after she and her companion, attending an outing at the Riverside Recreation Grounds, were plunged into the water when their canoe capsized.

Mrs. Cecelia Bovard, 39, of 113 Cedar street, Roxbury, and a sailer, Anthony J. Abbis, 19, of 124 Hollander street, Roxbury, were in the canoe when it overturned near the Recreation Grounds before the view of scores of persons on shore.

John C. Carpenter, 25, of 124 Harriet avenue, Quincy, and his companion, plunged into the water and swam to the spot where the woman had gone down. He succeeded in seizing her as she came to the surface and, with the help of the sailor, held her up until the Metropolitan Police launch arrived at the scene.

'JUNIE' STUBBS HURT IN FRANCE

Pfc. Frank R. (Junie) Stubbs, former Newton High, Harvard, and Boston Olympics hockey player, suffered a sprained wrist on July 7. Each was valued at $1,250. The pin was platinum, 2½ inches long, and set with 36 diamonds. The bracelet was a platinum link band, set with 35 diamonds and several emeralds and also valued at $1,250.

REPORTS LOSS OF JEWELS

The loss of a small fortune in jewelry was reported to the police of Newton by Mrs. Carey Mayfield, 39 Maynard street, Arlington.

She stated that while living at 222 Homer street, Newton Centre, she lost a bar pin and a bracelet on July 7. Each was valued at $1,250. The pin was platinum, 2½ inches long, and set with 36 diamonds. The bracelet was a platinum link band, set with 35 diamonds and several emeralds and also valued at $1,250.

WABAN SOLDIER HELPED RESCUE ROBOT VICTIMS

Pfc. Herbert C. Cole, 113 Quin-bequin road, Waban, recently was commended by his commanding officer for his part in the rescue of victims of a robot bomb in Southern England.

A member of a transport company, Pfc. Cole was with a group of enlisted personnel when a flying bomb crashed near an American Army billet, resulting in casualties and damage.

The men, none of whom was injured, drove trucks and jeeps to the scene of the accident and, working under the supervision of the British Passive Air Defense Command, carried the injured to hospitals and helped through the day in clearing away rubble and salvaging personal possessions of the victims.

CITY AWARDS SEWER CONTRACT

The city of Newton has awarded the contract for the large sewer construction project in the Brookline street section of Oak Hill to the lowest of 11 bidders at a price of $17,000.

Street Commissioner John D. Houghay declared yesterday that he expects the work to start next Monday.

A similar project in the Parker street section is being carried out by a contractor.

SHORTAGE OF HELP ON THE CITY'S OWN FORCE HAS CAUSED THE EXPEDIENTY OF LETTING THE WORK OUT ON CONTRACT

Shortage of help on the city's own force has caused the expediency of letting the work out on contract.

LOSES KEY, APPEALS TO FIREMAN

A woman who lost her key and consequently was unable to enter her home at 76 Austin street, Newtonville, yesterday afternoon found that a fireman with a ladder was just as good as a key.

She first appealed to the police and the latter referred the problem to the Fire Department. The fireman responded with a ladder, a fireman ascended to a second story window, and entered. He came down to the front door, opened it from the inside, and admitted the woman.

WHAT'S COOKING AUG. 15 MALONEY SGT. CONNELLY

Sgt. Edward L. Connelly, 34 Middle street, Newton, headed a list of 14 men eligible for promotion to lieutenant in the Metropolitan District Police, it was announced by the State Civil Service Department. Fourteen out of 18 candidates passed the test.

CAMP MASSASOIT HAS OUTING

Camp Massasoit, the Newton Y.M.C.A. Day Camp, on Church street, sponsored a bus trip on Tuesday for a group of 22 boys to the Beaver Brook Reservation, Waltham.

There the boys played softball and hiked through the woods, under the direction of Wendell Hager,

SGT. LARSON HOME ON FURLOUGH

Completing his required missions, on a Liberator bomber in four months, Staff Sgt. Clifford F. Larson, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. Martin B. Larson of 3 Milton avenue, West Newton, yesterday returned home on a 30-day furlough under the Army's rotation system.

An assistant engineer and gunner on the bomber, Sgt. Larson flew on 40 missions from his base in Italy. He holds the Air Medal with two Oak Leaf Clusters. He was graduated from Newton High School in 1941 and was employed by the Waltham Watch Co. when he entered the service in December, 1944. He was sent overseas last March.

His brother, Martin J. Larsson, also a staff sergeant is touring England with an Air Forces band in which he plays the trumpet. Their father is a mail carrier.

OBSERVES BIRTHDAY IN PRISON CAMP

Lieut. Santo F. Caruso, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Caruso of 316 River street, West Newton, observed his 24th birthday last Saturday in a German prison camp and his 12-year-old sister Sylvia, expressed her disappointment over being unable to send him a gift for the occasion.

Lieut. Caruso was reported missing in action after his first mission on June 20, and was later reported a prisoner. Four days before he was reported missing word came from Italy of the death of his grandmother, Mrs. Michela Costantini. Lieut. Caruso has arranged a high mass of requiem to be celebrated at 7 a.m. in St. Bernard's Church in honor of her mother.

COMPETE IN SWIM MEET

Nearly 150 boys and girls competed in 18 events at the annual swimming meet witnessed by 350 persons at the Auburndale Playground last Thursday.

Recreation Commissioner F. Ewing Wilson awarded the prizes. Arrangements were under the direction of John F. Donahue, supervisor; Miss Constance Ober and Albert Kurtog, life guards; Miss Helen Swaine, Miss Jean Hays, Miss Paul Flynn, and Robert Quinlan, instructors.

RUNAWAY JUDGED DELINQUENT

A found guilty on five counts, a 12-year-old runaway was judged a delinquent in the Newton District Court by Judge Donald E. Mayberry and the case was continued until Sept. 8, for disposition.

The cases of two Newton boys, 11 and 12 years old, who were charged with being the runaway's companions, were continued until Feb. 2, 1945, without a finding. Police say the boys broke into two homes in West Newton, a house in Auburndale and a store in West Newton.

Have You Had Dinner in the Oval Room lately?

We had the most delicious Lobster in the Oval Dining Room a few days ago, and only $1.75 for the full course dinner. The charmingly decorated Oval Room is delightful with cool breezes from the gardens blowing in through the tall windows. Everything tasted so good, you just know it has been prepared by expert chefs, and the service is gracious and efficient. The Fried Chicken a la Maryland, we learn, is cooked by a real southern cook. No wonder The Beaconsfield is a favorite with "Who's Who in Brookline and Newton". We are reserving a table for Sunday dinner for the family. Why don't you plan to do likewise?

Luncheon in the Oval Room is something to look forward to, also.

Exceptional facilities for Banquets, Meetings, Parties, Wedding Receptions.

We suggest early reservations to assure a comfortable home for the winter. A few desirable suites available.

Professor Ohmart Stresses Need For Pharmacists

In a statement released to the press last Wednesday, Leslie M. Ohmart, Professor of Pharmacy, at the Mass. College of Pharmacy, stated:

"In Massachusetts, as in every other state, there is at present a shortage of pharmacists. This does not mean that there has been any curtailment of essential professional services. On the contrary, by reducing store hours while actually working longer hours themselves, and by the elimination of activities not essential to public health, the pharmacists of this state have managed, so far, to meet the demand for their professional services.

From a superficial point of view, Massachusetts might be said to have been better situated than other states during the present emergency. Owing to the failure of Massachusetts to protect the health of its citizens by requiring proper educational qualifications as a prerequisite for the practice of pharmacy, we entered the war period with a relatively large number of licensed pharmacists. Thus, so far as the number of pharmacists is concerned, we were in a favorable position; from the point of view of the professional competence of many of these licensees, our position was and is unfavorable.

The end of the war and the return of the pharmacists now in service is not likely to relieve materially the national shortage of pharmacists. Shorter working hours and the retirement of many older men working will absorb many. Normal expansion of the profession in all its phases, from manufacturing to the retail store, has been halted by the demand of war. With the return of peace, expansion will be resumed, and at an accelerated pace.

For more than five years, the number of graduates of colleges of pharmacy has been only two-thirds of the number of pharmacists lost in the profession through death, retirement and change of occupation. Because of the reduction in enrollment occasioned by the demands of military service, the number to be graduated the next four years is likely to be less than one-fourth of those needed for replacement. This continuing deficit is not desirable from the standpoint of public health but it does afford marvelous opportunities to young men and women now faced with a choice of career. Graduates of colleges of pharmacy have always had a wide choice of positions both in pharmacy and in industry, generally. The prospects for the future are that the number of these positions, and their desirability, will be greatly multiplied."

Mrs. Kilmain Receives Letter From Lt. Kenney Commending Her Son

A letter praising her son, First Lieutenant Paul R. Kilmain has been received from Lt. Gen. George C. Kenney, commander of the Allied Air Forces in the South Pacific, by Mrs. Johanna M. Kilmain, of 391 Lexington street, Auburndale.

Lieut. Kilmain, a bombardier on a Liberator bomber, spotted a Jan convoy of five ships and his plane made low level bombing attacks and strafing runs through heavy anti-aircraft fire until all but one of the ships was damaged.

Gen. Kenney's letter states in part: "I would like to tell you how genuinely proud I am to have such men as your son in my command."

Entering the Army in March, 1941, Lieut. Kilmain went overseas in July, 1943.

CAPT. ROBERT H. BROWN, 5 Montrose street, Newton, is presented with the Air Medal by Lt. Colonel Chester L. Sluder, group commander of a 15th AAF P-51 Mustang fighter group, during award ceremonies at an Italian base.

15TH AAF IN ITALY - Capt.

Robert H. Brown, 26, 5 Montrose street, Newton, an engineering officer in a 15th AAF P-51 Mustang fighter squadron, has been awarded the Air Medal. The award was presented by Lt. Colonel Chester L. Sluder, San Antonio, Texas, commanding officer of the group.

The citation for the medal states: "For meritorious achievement in aerial flight while participating in sustained operational activities against the enemy between the dates June 2 and June 11, 1944."

The operational activity to which the citation refers was the historic first Italy to Russia shuttle mission. Capt. Brown was a member of the task force which handled the administration, supply, and maintenance of the Mustang fighter group's planes during operations.

Capt. Brown has been on active overseas duty in the Mediterranean theatre for nineteen months. In addition to the Air Medal, he wears the African-European-Middle East campaign ribbon with three clusters and the Distinguished Unit Citation ribbon with one cluster.

A graduate of Winthrop High school and Northeastern University, Capt. Brown entered the armed service in May 1941. He was commissioned as a Second Lieutenant at Chantute Field, Ill., in October 1942. He was promoted to the grade of Captain in March 1944.

Sgt. Sullivan Responsible For P-47 Guns

TO: Newton Graphic from A Ninth Air Force Thunderbolt Base, France: Sgt. Edward J. Sullivan, whose wife, Ellen W., lives at 24 Garland road, Newton Center, is in France with the first U. S. fighter group to begin operations from French soil.

Sgt. Sullivan is an armament assistant flight chief in a Ninth Air Force P-47 Thunderbolt fighter squadron. He is responsible for the proper maintenance of the 47's basic armament, the .50 calibre machine guns. This requires, he said: "Constant inspections of the guns, assembly and disassembly, daily cleaning, and the constant ing and re-harmonizing of the guns."

"Sully," as most of the men call him, also loads and fuzes 500 and 1000 pound bombs so that the Thunderbolts can give support to the ground troops by dive and glide bombing enemy strong points, fortifications and gun emplacements.

The father of two children, Ed, 4 months, and Gerard, 4 months, Sgt. Sullivan is living in France much like the ground troops. His home is in a fox-hole. He works much like the ground troops taking his turn doing regular details and guard duty. "The closest call I ever had," said Sully, "was one night when I was on guard. A lone Nazi dive bombed our field with a 500 pound bomb, and a few hundred pound bombs. The five hundred pound bomb landed within 200 yards of me and vibrated the ground under my feet."

A former student at Newton High school, Sully arrived in Normandy a short while after D-Day. He was dis-embarked in the middle of the night when German bombers dropped flames and bombs. Ack-ack guns filled the air with flak and chased them away. "It looked like the sky was on fire," Sgt. Sullivan commented. "I wouldn't have missed it for anything."

Sgt. Sullivan is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John V. Sullivan, 207 Elliot street, Newton Upper Falls.

Raytheon Newtonics

By Dorothy Williams

BIOGRAPHY OF A RAYTHEON TUBE. If the eye could only follow a radio tube from the time of its birth to the time of its death, what would it see? Well, as at any other birth, preparations are made carefully, the best experts called in, skilled hands assemble it. The tube is born and christened Raytheon. Its parents are well-trained Rayths who know how to bring up a tube that can go off to fight. It has had the best of everything and now is ready to give the best it has. Before the tube goes into service, it must go through severe tests, to weed out any defects. Found to be real fighting material, Raytheon Tube is sent overseas. When the tube landed, it found itself on French soil and among the first tubes to aid in carrying messages of advances in Normandy. As the invasion progressed, it carried broadcasts of hope to Allies, and broadcasts of terror to Germans. And just as it had succeeded in bringing help to an 18-year-old trapped American soldier, Raytheon Tube died—killed in action by a German sniper—while engaged in meritorious service. The tube had aided a soldier who was the son of the same Raytheon worker who gave the tube life on the assembly bench just a few months ago. And this woman is still on the job now sending hundreds more Raytheon tubes to help make sure that the blue star in her window won't turn gold.

CPL. ANTONELLIS DIES IN ENGLAND. Cpl. Joseph Antonellis, T-5, former Raytheon Radio Receiving Tube Division employee, and resident of 20 Jaspet, Newton, was killed on July 3 in England during a recent robot bombing raid.

Cpl. Antonellis entered the service in October, 1943, and received six months training at Camp Sibley. He was sent overseas in April, 1944, and had been stationed in England for two months. His parents received word of his death on July 15, exactly one month after his twenty-eighth birthday.

While employed at Raytheon, Cpl. Antonellis worked as a junior mechanic in Department 109. He had been with the company since 1936.

CRIME'S OVER-CROWDED. Tube Head Tim, company mascot, says that it should be easy to make an honest living—there's so little competition.

RAYS INTERVIEWED OVER RADIO. "Farmer" Russ, popular radio personality, will interview Cleone Cummings, Dept. 203, Leonard Lewis, Dept. 305, and Rose Shamlian, Dept. 105, on the "Who's Who at Raytheon" show, the Raytheon Radio Receiving Tube Division's new radio program, during the week of August 21.

Cleone Cummings of 771 Am. Legion Highway, Roslindale, worked as a grid operator in the summer, and in the fall she is scheduled to leave to join the faculty of the American College in Quito, Ecuador.

Bernard Lewis, 10 Arnold street, Roxbury, is also a summer worker who plans to return to Calvin Coolidge College in the fall. She intends to work on a part-time shift at Raytheon during the school term.

S-Sgt. Lane, Decorated

AN EIGHTH AAF BOMBER STATION, England (Special to Graphic)—The Distinguished Flying Cross has been awarded Staff Sergeant Robert L. Lane, 22, of West Newton, Mass., for "extraordinary achievement" as ball turret gunner on the Eighth AAF B-17 Flying Fortress "Jeanne" during numerous bombing attacks against military and industrial installations in Germany and Nazi-held countries of Europe.

In addition to the DFC, Sgt. Lane also holds the Air Medal with four Oak Leaf Clusters. He is the son of Mrs. Bertha Lane of 19 Langley road, West Newton, Mass., formerly of Keene, N. H. The filer is a former student of Keene High School, and Waltham (Mass.) High School. He was employed by Pratt & Whitney, Hartford, Conn., and W. H. Nicholas & Sons of Waltham, Mass., before entering the AAF.

Since beginning active duty, he has taken part in two of the greatest aerial battles between Eighth Air Force bombers and the Luftwaffe, and is credited with the probable destruction of a Messerschmitt 109 fighter plane. On April 29, when AAF bombers made an attack upon industrial targets in Berlin, they were attacked by Nazi fighters. Sgt. Lane's group was jumped by between 100 and 150 fighters, who blasted their way through the Fortress formation three times. On their second attack, Sgt. Lane set one of them on fire with his twin machine guns. Not one bullet from the German fighters struck his bomber during the battle.

A few days later on May 12, his group was again attacked by scores of fighters for half an hour before it reached the target in Lwizkawa. After the bombs were dropped, the German planes started to renew the battle, but the bombers' escort of P-38 Lightnings appeared and drove them off. One German 20-millimetre shell destroyed an engine of Sgt. Lane's Fortress, while his fellow gunners helped destroy four of the Nazis.

Included in Sgt. Lane's operations are six bombing attacks upon industrial targets in Berlin; aircraft factories at Wernsmünde, Brunswick and Regensburg; submarine pens and docks at Wilhelmshaven and Kiel, railroad yards at Frankfurt, and many Nazi airfields and pre-invasion objectives.

Newton Chapter American Red Cross

At Crystal Lake the following have completed the Beginners' swimming test and will receive their certificates: Joseph Williams, Charles Damon, Stanley Geddes, James McCloy and Richard Cahill. Those who have completed the intermediate swimming test are: Peter Russillo and John Adam.

Mrs. John Schwertman, Red Cross Worker In Burma

Mrs. Janet Schwertman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward L. Brown of 148 Dickerman road, Newton Highlands, is one of the first Red Cross workers to arrive at the jungle outpost in Burma where American soldiers are working on the Leda road to China.

An assistant program director, Mrs. Schwertman has been serving with the Red Cross in a native hut located in the jungles of Burma for the past six months. Her unit provides recreation for the enlisted Army personnel despite lack of facilities. The hut in which she lives has a grass roof, screened by bamboo, with old pieces of canvas forming the sides and bits of parachute cloth being used for decorations.

Her husband, John B. Schwertman, whom she married in 1938, is also serving with the American Red Cross as a field director in England. Mrs. Schwertman was graduated from Newton High School and from Oberlin College.

P.F.C. Bianchi

To Recuperate In Framingham Hospital

Pfc. Frederick D. Bianchi, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Bianchi of 81 Hawthorn street, Newton, was wounded in Normandy on June 18. In a letter received on August 11 he stated that he had arrived in South Carolina and will require treatment at the Cushing General Hospital in Framingham.

Pfc. Bianchi attended Newton High School where he played baseball, football and basketball. He was employed by the Bemis Associates in Watertown when he entered the Army in June 1942. He was sent to England last April.

He has two brothers in the Army, Staff Sgt. John Bianchi in the Army Air Forces in Italy, and Tech. Sgt. Emilio, in the Army Infantry in Italy. He has three other brothers, Patsy, Alfred and Guido, and two sisters, Eleanor and Mary.

Told By Radio Sister Safe

In a CBS broadcast from the fourth front in Southern France Wednesday Charles Hyde of 250 Woodward street Waban, head of the safety of his sister Countess Frances Guicciardi and her family.

CBS Correspondent Eric Sevareid in a shortwave broadcast describing the new landings told of a chance meeting with Mr. Hyde's sister who is the wife of Count Horace Guicciardi, and her two children to give Mr. Hyde the first news of her for three years. Sevareid said that the countess was "noticeably thin." She said that the Germans had allowed her a half-pound of bread every three days for herself and her two children. Francis Philippe, 14, and Marie Jose, 12.

Mr. Hyde wrote his sister and asked her to return to America when war seemed imminent in Europe, but she preferred to remain in France. A brother, Frederick C. Hyde, was also in France when the war broke out and was interned in a camp near Paris.

Civilian Service Awards Made At Arsenal

Two civilian employees of the Watertown Arsenal received exceptional Civilian Service Awards on Wednesday, August 23, from Brig. Gen. A. G. Gillespie, Commanding Officer at Watervliet Arsenal, Watervliet, N. Y.—they are—Dr. Horace H. Lester, physicist of the Laboratory and Wallace B. Kennedy, Senior Superintendent of Production in the Carriage Division.

Dr. Lester, who has been at Watertown Arsenal since August 7, 1922, resides in Cambridge. Mr. Kennedy came to the Arsenal in October 1925. He lives in Medford.

The importance of the Awards to these two employees is emphasized by the fact that less than 100 such awards have been made among the hundreds of thousands of War Department civilian employees.

In conjunction with the honors placed on Dr. Lester and Mr. Kennedy, 69 employees, who have been at the Arsenal for 25 years or more, and 136 other employees who have been here 10 years or more, will be given recognition.

Colonel John Mather, Commanding Officer, presented to a representative of each group the War Department emblem pin designating 25 years or 10 year service, respectively.

Among those who received Civilian Service Awards were the following Newton residents.

Sgt. Peter Saltonstall Killed In Action

Sgt. Peter B. Saltonstall, 23, son of Governor and Mrs. Leverett Saltonstall of 240 Chestnut Hill road, Chestnut Hill, was killed in action on August 13, while leading a patrol to clear Jap soldiers from the northern end of the island of Guam.

A telegram from the Navy Department informing him of the death of his son was received by the Governor on Friday at the State House just as he was preparing to leave for the day to join his family at their summer home. The telegram gave no details but a delayed dispatch was received from Guam on Saturday in which the details were disclosed.

Sgt. Saltonstall was in charge of a patrol which had strung out along a narrow jungle trail when a Marine shouted that there was a Jap ahead nearby. A pitched battle lasting five minutes ensued, and a small band of trapped Japs threw hand grenades. Unaware that one of his men had been killed and three others wounded, Sgt. Saltonstall ordered his patrol to close in, and was killed in the ensuing action.

Born in Newton on May 14, 1921, he was graduated from Noble and Greenough School in 1939 and entered Harvard that same year where he played freshman football and house football for two years. He was a member of Claverly Hall, the freshman smoker committee, the Dramatic Club, Pi Eta, Hasty-Pudding Institute of 1770 and the Parcellan Club and was one of the leaders of his class.

He left Harvard to join the Marine Corps, preferring to enlist as a private giving as his reason that he wanted to find out more about his fellow men and see how he stacked up against them, and thought the best way to do it was to join the Marine Corps and live with men from all walks of life. He later stated "I've learned a lot by it. I've found men who are much finer and nobler than my school and college pals; I've found some just as good and others who are so good. But more, I've found my own place among my fellow men."

After receiving his boot training at Parris Island he landed on Guadalcanal in October 1942 and was assigned to an active unit. He was assigned to an artillery battery and before leaving the island his section established a speed record for firing shells during a two minute period under fire. He was later stricken with malaria and sent to a hospital in New Zealand. Following his complete recovery he was put in charge of instruments and range finding for his battery on his return to duty. For the past two months he had been at a station where abouts of which he did not disclose.

Besides his parents he is survived by two brothers, Lt. Leverett Saltonstall, Jr., with the Army in the Pacific, and William Saltonstall, two sisters, Emily Saltonstall who is with the WAVES in Washington, and Susan Saltonstall, also by his grandmother, Mrs. Richard M. Saltonstall of Chestnut Hill.

Pfc. Latino Killed In Action

Pfc. Francis J. Latino, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph P. Latino of 304 California street, Newton, was killed in action on August 4 according to a telegram received on Tuesday by his parents from the War Department.

Pvt. Latino was a student at the Newton High School when he left to join the Army on July 6, 1943. He trained at Camp Croft, South Carolina and went to England last December.

His parents received a letter from him dated July 26 in which he told them he was about to go into action and asked them to wish him luck and pray for him. Two of his brothers are in the service, Pvt. Albert W., 18, who is in the Infantry at Camp Wheeler, Ga., and Arthur, 17, who is to report for duty in the Navy on Friday.

To Serve as Jurors

Kenneth Pinkham of 65 Goddard street, Newton Highlands, and Harold A. Horn of 6 Vaughn avenue, Newton Highlands, were drawn to serve as jurors in the Superior Court at Cambridge for the September 11 session, at a special meeting of the Newton Board of Aldermen. Walter F. Protti of 117 Parker street, Newton Highlands, was called for September 6.

Mr. Fenn, a graduate of Harvard in 1919, and of the Harvard Divinity School in 1922, has served as minister at the Unitarian churches in Augusta, Maine; Taunton and Chestnut Hill, Massachusetts.

The service on September 3 will be in charge of the Rev. Frank Edwin Smith, Regional Director of the New England Unitarian Council, and formerly minister of the First Unitarian Church in Pittsburgh, Pa.

Outwit Heavier Nazi Foe in Italy

Fighting with a company of light tanks supporting the 5th Army's advance in Northern Italy is 2nd Lt. James S. Rowley of 20 Devon road, Newton Centre.

Recently his platoon captured a German Ferdinand "tortoise" tank. While fighting in the hills, one of their light tanks spotted the giant machine. It circled the enemy by taking advantage of trees and small hills. Within 15 minutes it had closed in and opened point-blank fire. The Germans climbed out of their tank and were taken prisoners.

Pass Bar Examinations

Among the 48 candidates who passed the bar examinations given on June 30 and who will be sworn in on September 20 are two Newton residents. Foley of 880 Chestnut street, Waban, and 1st Lt. Joseph T. Hayes of 43 Warwick road, West Newton.

Mr. Foley who is 38 and married, is a graduate of Boston College and Boston College Law School. He is employed in the Civil Service Division in Boston. Lt. Hayes was graduated from the Newton High School, Northeastern University and Boston College Law School. Before entering the Army in April 1942, he was employed by Lever Bros. in Cambridge. He is now attached to the First Service Command. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph T. Hayes. His sister, Miss Estelle F. Hayes is secretary to Chief of Police Michael T. Hughes.

Aldermen Appropriate $10,500 For Playground Land

The Board of Aldermen at their meeting on Monday night voted an appropriation of $10,500 to acquire land between Montrose street, Newton Centre and Fellsme road, for the purpose of a playground. Residents of the section of Newton Centre east of Centre street and north of Commonwealth avenue have for several years been asking that a playground be established in that section, the only one in the district at present being located at the Ward School, for the use of children of elementary school age. Mayor Goddard recommended to the board that the necessary steps be taken to acquire this land for which they voted the appropriation.

The expenditure of $1,700 by the Street Department for the construction of Walnut Hill road from Kendall road to Parker avenue under the betterment law was authorized by the board. An appropriation of $15,000 for the Street Department for the maintenance of sidewalks was also made by the board; $1,250 additional for construction of a sewer in Exeter street, West Newton; $362 for the Engineering Dept. for auto maintenance and $1,500 for the Water Department for maintenance.

The Water Department was authorized to expend $1,930 for removal of the present four inch main on Murphy court to be replaced with a cement lined 6 inch main.

For settlement of the claim of Agnes Halloran for damages resulting from an accident the board voted an appropriation of $500.

Hearing was held on the acceptance of Parmenter Terrace, West Newton and Moody street, Newton Centre. These projects being referred to the public works committee for consideration.

A favorable report was voted on application for certificates of incorporation for the Civic Symphony Orchestra of Boston, from Benjamin Levin of 207 Waverly avenue, Harriet Cohn, 230 Dorset road and Fannie L. Friedland, 56 Homestead street.

Renewal of auctioneer licenses were granted to the following applicants: Charles Kenneth Anderson, 36 Pine Crest road, Ward 3; Hans W. Lundstrom, 155 Summer street, Ward 6; Paul Harris Drake, 25 Atherton place, Ward 4.

Rene Marchand of 19 Central avenue, Newtonville, was appointed a public weigher for the C. F. Eddy Co., West Newton.

The appointment of Ernest G. Angevine as an associate member of the Board of Appeal was confirmed by the board.

The Newton Hospital Aid Benefit Shop

September 6 marks the reopening of the Benefit Shop, located at 795 Washington street, Newtonville, after a months vacation for the staff of faithful volunteer workers from the Newtons and Wellesley. This notice comes as a plea to GRAPHIC readers for donations of goods with which to fill the shelves and counters depleted by the July sales. Many of you are coming home with new clothing to buy for the many Marys and Johnnies in which to reappear at school. Why not bring those outgrown garments to the shop, that less fortunate mothers may find clothing for their children at this time?

Besides garments and shoes for all members of the family, there is a constant call for glass, china, silver flat wear, and in fact for all sorts of household needs. If you cannot bring in the articles yourself, have them collected by telephoning Mrs. Raymond Perkins, Big 8123 by Tuesday of each week and they will be called for on Wednesday mornings.

On the opening day, Mrs. Fred Hardy and a group of workers from West Newton will be in charge and on Friday morning, Mrs. E. G. Allen will bring a committee from Newton Centre. The hours for opening are the same as in the past, Monday afternoons from two to four-thirty and Wednesday mornings from ten to twelve. Come in at one of those times and see what volunteer work is doing for your Newton Hospital.

Lt. Hanson Now Officially Reported Killed
Mother Receives Congressional Medal For Son at Impressive Ceremony

A telegram signed by Gen. Vandergift, commandant of the Marine Corps, was received by Mrs. Harry A. Hanson of 31 Brooks avenue, Newtonville, this week informing her that her son, Lt. Robert M. Hanson, who on Saturday was awarded the Congressional Medal of Honor, is now listed officially as having been killed in action. The telegram stated that a letter would follow.

Lt. Hanson was reported as missing six months ago, and at the end of the first three months' period his mother received an official telegram stating that he was still carried on the Marine Corps records as missing. In cases of missing Marine Corps files the procedure is to list them as missing for at least one year before declaring them officially dead, and as Lt. Hanson has been missing six months his mother feels that some new facts concerning his case may have been learned by officials.

On Saturday afternoon at a ceremony on Boston Common Mrs. Hanson received the Congressional Medal of Honor for her son, the presentation being made by Brig. Gen. Lewis G. Merritt. The ceremony began at 2 o'clock with the playing of "The Star Spangled Banner" by the Marine Band. The invocation was offered by Chaplain Fred J. Duplissy, USNR. Gen. Merritt in presenting the Medal said:

"We have gathered here on what is sacred ground in our nation's history to bestow this nation's highest Military honor on one of her most distinguished fighting sons." Gen. Merritt said. "Certainly the valor and invincible fighting spirit of Lt. Hanson has brought great credit to his own name, to his family and friends, to his home region and

"The medal and the words of tribute can pay only a small part of the debt which we owe Lt. Hanson and to his comrades by whose side he fought.

"And they are all fighting side by side, whether they are in Guam or Florence, in New Guinea, in Britain or Toulon, whether they are in planes or battleships, in tanks or submarines. Lt. Hanson and his comrades have made their sacrifice in vain if we do not do our full part to make their fighting successful and their victories quick and certain. We must strive our utmost to be worthy of men like Lt. Hanson in helping to speed the war to its conclusion and in building a lasting peace."

FATS FOR VICTORY

War is a greedy consumer of the resources of a nation as well as its manpower. For our millions of fighting men we need guns, explosives, tanks, trucks, munitions, food, clothing, medicines and innumerable highly specialized supplies. Inexhaustible reserves, moving endlessly when and where they are demanded in modern mechanized warfare are needed to insure Victory.

Most of the essential supplies of war require fats and oils either in their manufacture or in their operation.

Since fat is so necessary to Victory, saving fat is an essential wartime job raised to a new dignity and importance. By conserving, saving and turning in their used kitchen fats, American women are playing a considerable part in keeping our factories and war plants humming.

To meet industry's needs for fats and oils this year, women are asked to save and turn in to their meat dealer, every bit of fat over and above what is used for food. OPA allows two meat ration points for every pound turned in and the meat dealer pays four cents per pound in addition.

A minimum quota has been set by Government of 230,000,000 pounds of used kitchen fat this year, but twice that amount and more could be absorbed. Saving kitchen fat is the one war job every woman can do, and one that sustains and supports the more dangerous and dramatic achievements of our fighting men.

SAVE THE BEST IN ALL

It is but natural that American doctors should oppose Federal socialization of medicine. They have seen such systems curb incentive and progress in the medical field in other nations, and remove the personal relationship between doctor and patient, leaving in its stead an official system as impersonal as medical examinations at Army induction centers. If that's what this nation wants, socialized medicine will fill the bill. But the people should remember that it is not the doctors, but Mr. and Mrs. John Jones who will be the losers.

In seeking a practical method for voluntary pre-payment of medical costs to meet prolonged or serious illnesses, the public should not be misled by alluring promises of "free medicine" at the hands of the state. There can, however, be the fullest cooperation between Federal and local governments, industry, the people and the medical profession, to extend voluntary methods of health insurance without the regimentation and compulsion that inevitably follows socialized medicine.

Government can help solve such problems as malnutrition, bad housing and the inadequacy of Federal, State and municipal health programs. One of the legitimate functions of government is to seek ways and means to correct social and economic conditions which cause disease, and which all the health insurance in the world will not remedy.

Therefore, let us retain the great advantages of private medicine but add to them the benefits that will accrue from the co-operation of government and industry in eliminating causes of illness, as well as providing easy and economical methods of paying for it.

Pearl Harbor

Now that the President, currently campaigning as "Commander-in-Chief," has returned from his inspection trip in the Pacific, it seems to me that the voting public, which will elect a President on Nov. 7, is entitled to some detailed information regarding the Pearl Harbor fiasco. Admiral Kimmel, for one, is fed-up with this unnecessary delay and the chances are that the other "goat", General Short, would also appreciate being removed from the doghouse. Even a ten-year-old child must know that somebody higher up was to blame for this debacle. The same child must also know that this shocking mystery would have been solved long ago EXCEPT for the fact that it has been known for a long time that Mr. Roosevelt proposed to run for a fourth term. Presumably, therefore, there is something in the unwritten record to date which would NOT reflect very much credit on the occupant of the White House. Is not the American public entitled to know the facts—all of them—provided the national security would not be jeopardized? And how could our safety be jeopardized, in view of the fact that the Pearl Harbor affair occurred nearly three years ago and the entire situation in the Pacific war has changed drastically in our favor?

Let's have the facts, Mr. President and let's put an end to this business of publicly disgracing and humiliating high-ranking officers of our armed forces. Furthermore, why not instruct the Democratic nominee for Vice-President to keep his nose out of this business and make a little money on the side in some more sportsman-like way? I suppose you cannot blame Collier's magazine for running Senator Truman's article, tho' the editor's taste might properly be questioned. However, before very long we may find Governor Dewey coming out with some extremely pointed questions, couched in such language that the administration may find it difficult, if not impossible, to dodge them.

Senator Truman

There is one angle of the Truman nomination for Vice-President which has not had as much publicity as I anticipated and that is its effect on the labors of the hitherto popular Truman Committee in Congress. My readers have undoubtedly noticed that the press has not been as fulsome in its praise of this committee as it was prior to the Democratic convention. Is this because that portion of the press which hopes for Mr. Roosevelt's defeat in November (and it appears to be a considerable portion) has decided that it will be smart politics to "play down" the work of the Truman committee during the coming months in order that the G.O.P. may proceed with its obvious plan to discredit the Missouri Senator? We must not forget that it is this member of the Democratic ticket who represents the "Achilles heel" of the opposition. If the G.O.P. proposes to blast the entire array of Democratic bosses, including Kelly, Flynn, Hannegan and Hague, how can they pass up Truman, who owes his start in politics to one of the worst bosses in the whole crew, namely Boss Pendergast of Kansas City? To be sure, if we are going to be fair about this matter, we must admit that there is little, if any, evidence to indicate that Senator Truman has ever done anything of doubtful propriety for Boss Pendergast's benefit. So far as this columnist is concerned, Senator Truman is an excellent record in the Senate. Apart from the highly-publicized Truman committee, it is questionable if he would have made a deep impression on either Congress or the people as a whole. However, it is a fact that his work during the past few years HAS been very effective and has drawn unstinted praise, even from stiff-necked Republicans.

Now to the point. Was the administration concerned lest the Truman committee dig up some embarrassing facts about F.D.R.'s handling of either the domestic or the war front? Did it seem safer to remove Senator Truman from the picture and thus hamstringing the important work of this committee at a crucial time? Did they figure that it would take the committee several months to re-organize and get up full steam again? Consequently, did the administration, working thru' Messrs. Kelly, Flynn, Hannegan and Hague, intend to give the Vice-Presidential nomination to Senator Truman? It remains to be seen how much this will affect the G.O.P. campaign plans.

"The Republican"

I urge those of my readers who are interested in the Republican party to acquaint themselves with a relatively new magazine called "The Republican", an official party magazine, published at Mt. Morris, Ill., every month except July and December. The price is 25 cents per copy or $2.00 for one year. There is also a Chicago office at 53 West Jackson Blvd., Chicago, Ill. I shall have more to say about this very interesting magazine from time to time.

To SGT. PETER SALTONSTALL

(Killed at Guam, with the U. S. Marines)

No silver bars or maple leaf for you,
No plaudits of the crowd or blaring band;
A quiet youth who knew just what to do;
The foe had struck; this was your native land.

You enlisted in the ranks that you might know
The measure of your strength, your stalwart heart;
The Marines you knew would be the first to go,
And you were proud to be a humble part.

Your journey's end came on a jungle trail,
Where blazing guns had brought the foe to bay;
You knew your duty and you could not fail;
Your men charged in, with you to lead the way.

Upon the honor roll of every Bay State hall,
When right and justice reigns again supreme,
The name of Sergeant Peter Saltonstall
Will shine in glory . . . He was a good Marine.

Bill Maloney, U.S.M.C., 1917-1919.

Whither World?

The Bretton Woods Conference Part 3

The universal character of an economic famine stemming from cyclical trade depressions or other causes was referred to in part two of this article. It is to quarantine and eventually eliminate this economic plague which is an ever recurring scourge of our economic structure; that the United Nations Monetary Conference has recommended, the International Stabilization Fund, and the International Bank for Reconstruction and Development, remedial agents to prevent commercial stagnation and its consequent economic famine.

What is an Economic Famine?

An economic famine is reflected in the national economy by the loss of profits and the consequent loss of dividends to stock and bond holders. Loss of opportunity to earn a living by working men and women. Citizens who because of depleted income cannot meet their mortgage payments lose their homes. Recurring incidents in a world teeming with all that is essential to provide food, clothing and shelter in sufficient quantities to satiate the variable needs of all peoples, in all nations, and at a higher standard of living than has yet been attained, except by a relative small minority in the more prosperous nations.

Medians of Exchange

The exchange of products between individuals or nations may take place in two ways, directly or indirectly. The direct exchange is barter, the indirect exchange is through a medium, that because of the intrinsic value it represents or embodies it is generally acceptable as a measure of relative values. This medium is called money and the exchange is called buying and selling.

While direct exchange or barter of commodities served to satisfy the requirements of a primitive society, whose economic structure was almost wholly self-supporting, but it is inadequate as a method of exchange in the highly organized interdependent social structure that has evolved from the mechanization of the means of production and distribution of goods. The exchange of commodities by barter depends on what is called a "double coincidence of wants"; under the system of barter a baker who wants a pair of shoes, will have to find a shoemaker who wants bread. The exchange of goods by means of a medium of exchange, but it is inadequate as a method of exchange in the highly organized interdependent social structure that has evolved from the mechanization of the means of production and distribution of goods. The exchange of commodities by barter depends on what is called a "double coincidence of wants"; under the system of barter a baker who wants a pair of shoes, will have to find a shoemaker who wants bread. The exchange of goods by means of a medium of exchange, but it is inadequate as a method of exchange in the highly organized interdependent social structure that has evolved from the mechanization of the means of production and distribution of goods.

Money as a Medium of Exchange

Almost anything can be used as money, provided that it is generally acceptable. In diverse countries and at different times, cattle, slaves, salt, beads, silver, gold, tobacco, paper, etc., have been used as money, or a medium of exchange, and, consequently, as a standard of value. Gold and silver have superseded other commodities as money because they have to a greater degree than any other commodities the qualities required in a medium of exchange. They are durable, compact, easy recognizable and they are not subject to great changes in quantity. To this may be added the psychological effect which gold and silver create by virtue of their rarity and intrinsic beauty.

The Gold Standard

A country is on the gold standard when its money, silver coins, paper bills, etc., is redeemable on demand at a fixed weight of fine gold for each monetary unit. For example in the United States previous to March 1933 a one dollar bill was convertible into 25.8 grains of fine gold on demand. Thus its value in terms of other goods or services changed only in so far as the amount of goods or services purchasable by 25.8 grains of fine gold changed.

Under normal conditions, this insured a fairly stable medium of exchange, which is a basic requirement for the efficient functioning of the economic system.

To maintain the gold standard two things are necessary. One: Currency authority, usually a government, which must purchase at a fixed price, by applying a free of charge all gold brought to it. Two: The government must sell at the same price all gold demanded of it. Therefore gold remains the one commodity in a country on the gold standard which registers no change in price when measured by monetary units.

The government can easily fulfill its pledge to purchase gold at a fixed price, as it can print paper money for this purpose.

The Weak Link in the Gold Standard Chain

The gold reserve is the weak link in the gold standard. National treasuries issue, or permit banks to issue paper money which is valued in terms of gold; the assumption is that the holders of this money can obtain gold for it at any time by applying to the proper authorities. However the gold held in reserve by the government or its agents is only a small part of the face value of the money issued, or liabilities redeemable. It is assumed that all the currency issued will not be presented for redemption at the same time. However if adverse economic conditions at home or abroad should throw the economic balance out of equilibrium, and set into motion a wave of fear as to the stability of the financial structure; with the result that the government or its agents are called upon to redeem in gold large amounts of paper or other currency. Thus a sustained "run" on the gold reserves will eventually threaten the suspension of the gold standard.

Agnes Quigley

Agnes A. Quigley, 90, a resident of Newton for the past 25 years, died Monday at her home, 418 Newtonville avenue, Newtonville. Mrs. Quigley, widow of William D. Quigley, is survived by two daughters, with whom she made her home. Mrs. Rose T. Sugrue, and Miss Bernice R. Quigley; seven grandchildren; five great-grandchildren; and three great-grandchildren. She was born in Ireland. Mrs. Quigley, with the U. S. Army in Florida; Pvt. Robert Quigley, U. S. A., So. Carolina; and Sgt. Andre Sugrue, U. S. A., Amarillo, Fla.

She was a native of Donegal, Ireland, the daughter of the late Capt. John Boyle and Rosanna (Brazlin) Boyle. The funeral was conducted from her home Wednesday morning at 9 o'clock, with requiem high mass at the Church of Our Lady. Interment took place in the family lot in Calvary Cemetery, Waltham.

Louise Cummings

Mrs. Louise Cummings, 61, wife of Dr. Earle Clifton Cummings, of 830 Commonwealth avenue, Newton Centre, died August 11 after a long illness. She was born in Boston, the daughter of Charles S. and Harriet Jane (Mumford) deFreitas. Surviving are her husband; a son, Earle C., Jr.; a daughter, Mrs. Edith Miles of Newton; two brothers and three sisters.

Private funeral services were held on Tuesday and burial was in the Newton Cemetery.

William H. Crowley, 52, of 59 Duncklee street, Newton Highlands, died August 11 after a long illness. He had been a resident of Newton for 12 years.

Mr. Crowley was employed as a silver finisher with the firm of Gardner and Guilmet of Boston. He is a veteran of World War I.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Mary L. Pillion Crowley; a sister, Mrs. Walter Roach; three brothers, Lt. James of the Boston Police Department, John of West Roxbury, and Joseph of Dedham. The funeral was held August 14 from the home of his sister-in-law, Mrs. Joseph A. LaValle, 47 North Gate park, West Newton, with solemn mass of requiem in Sacred Heart Church, Newton Centre.

Rev. James T. Cotter celebrated the mass, assisted by Rev. Bernard Winn, deacon, and Rev. Columba Sullivan, S. J., sub-deacon.

The pallbearers were George Richard, Henry Matthews, Edward Lane and John Harvey. A delegation of members of the Boston Police Department was present. Interment was in Calvary Cemetery, Waltham, with prayers by Fr. Winn.

NEWTON

In The Past

55 Years Ago
Newton Graphic, August 23, 1889

It is estimated that the population of this city is about 25,000, taking as a basis the number of polls, according to the figures of the assessors for 1889. The city is growing very rapidly, and a large addition has been made to the residential population within the past few years. Many houses are now in process of erection and portions of the city, heretofore undeveloped, are coming into the market through generous expenditure of money. This is notably so in Waban, where new streets are being laid out and large tracts of land laid out in suitable house lots. With the advent of street car service, uniting more closely the various wards, the future growth of Newton promises to be very rapid.

Liberal — 100 of our citizens during the past two weeks have been presented with the Yale Gas Stove by the New Haven Manufacturing Co. Their agents have been hard at work trying to persuade the public that it was really a gift, but skepticism was so deep-rooted in our people that it has been difficult for them to believe. However, they have been brought to realize the truth and are now happy, and should they need more of the stoves, or furniture, the Newton agents, S. C. Thayer & Co., are prepared to supply the demand.

Cole's blacksmith shop (West Newton) is rapidly assuming shape and the building will be completed next week. It has been enlarged and is a substantial looking structure.

There is a good deal of complaint in regard to the Oak Square cars, and their vexatious delays on the turnouts, near the terminus. So many cars are run now that a double track is a necessity, but the West End is waiting for the record they made last week. It seems, however, that the waits might be made at the end of the route instead of the turnouts.

Mr. George W. Bush has one of the finest double teams in the city for road work, as can be seen by the record they made last week. He left here Wednesday morning with his family in his rubber-tired surrey, and that night took an early supper at Mt. Wachusett, 43 miles; the next morning he drove to Fitchburg, and from there to North Brattleboro, where he drove on to New Brattleboro and to North Brookfield. The fourth day he started for home and stopped over night in Worcester and thence home—a total distance travelled being 165 miles.

Union street, Newton Centre, is being finished this week. It has remained in a semi-chaotic state all summer and its completion will be a source of satisfaction to our citizens. A close board fence along the northern side would be partially screened from view the unattractive scenery on that side of the street.

The big safety deposit vaults for the use of the Newton Centre Trust Company have been put in this week. They were furnished by the Morris Safe Company of Boston and a half dozen men were kept busy several days getting the big iron sections into place. Each section was lowered down the elevator well into Richardson's cellar where the brick work around the vault space was removed to allow them to be put into place.

No community has equalled Newton's record in the sale of surplus Army food for where other cities and towns bought sparingly, or else were left with parts of large purchases on their hands. Newton has sold practically every bit of the $10,000 worth of supplies that were available. There is every probability that the city government will give the citizens further opportunity to reduce living costs by acquiring more of these foodstuffs.

Sgt. Hyatt, Missing In Action

Prof. and Mrs. James M. Hyatt of 1380 Walnut street, Newton Highlands have received word from their son, Sgt. James R. Hyatt, who was reported as missing in action on July 31, stating that he is safe and in a hospital in Italy. Sgt. Hyatt who is at present a photographer on a heavy bomber has been in Italy since last December and expects to return to duty soon.

His brother, Lt. Donald L. Hyatt, who is a bombardier, is located at Gulfport, Miss.

Samuel L. Thompson

Funeral services for Samuel L. Thompson of 83 Commonwealth park, West Newton Centre, retired New England sales manager for the General Foods Sales Company, were held Wednesday at 2:30 from the Bellingham Funeral Chapel, 26 Centre avenue, Newton, with services at the Newtonville Methodist Church.

Mr. Thompson, a past president of the Association of Manufacturers' Representatives, died Saturday at his summer home in Pocasset. He joined the General Foods Sales Company in 1922 and was appointed sales manager for New England in 1930. He retired on July 31.

A member of the Pennsylvania National Guard, he was a 32nd degree Mason and a member of the Shrine, the Sons of America, the Newtonville Methodist Church, the Moreau Club and was a past president of the Clafin Club of Newtonville.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Grace C. (Winchester) Thompson; two sons, Ensign Samuel L. Thompson, Jr., in the Pacific, and Pvt. William P. Thompson, stationed at Camp Swift, Tex.; a sister, Mrs. John M. Doelner of Scranton, Penn., and a brother, Walter Thompson, also of Scranton.

French toast topped with syrup or fruit sauce will make a good dessert for Sunday night supper.

Dr. William B. Breed

Dr. William B. Breed of 321 Hammond street, Chestnut Hill, head of the out-patient department of the Massachusetts General Hospital, died at the Phillips House, Boston on Monday, August 21. He was in his 62nd year.

Dr. Breed was born in Syracuse, New York and was graduated from the Hackley School, Harvard College and from Harvard Medical School in 1920. He was associated in medicine at the Harvard Medical School and was a former governor of the American College of Physicians in Massachusetts and on its credential committee. He served on the Council of the Massachusetts Medical Association as Suffolk County member.

He was a member of the American College of Physicians; the Massachusetts Medical Society; American Medical Association; American Heart Association; Boston Medical Library; the Tavern Club and the Harvard Club of Boston.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Ruth L. (Williams) Breed; two daughters, Elizabeth B. and Sylvia S., and a son, William S. Breed.

Funeral services were held this noon in the Memorial Chapel of Harvard College.

Dining With Jane and Bill

DINER WITH JANE AND BILL Jane: What have you got there Bill? Here, let me hold the door open for you. My heavens, tomatoes! It looks as if you have a bushel or more.

Bill: Aren't they beauties! A neighbor of John's has them for sale so I picked some up on the way home.

Jane: What do you think we're going to do with all of them? They won't keep for they're just right for eating now.

Bill: Well, my little lady, we're going to can them.

Jane: Can them! Why, Bill, you know I've never canned. I don't know a thing about it.

Bill: Really, Jane, it's about time you learned. You have a silly idea that just because you've never done it that it's hard work. We're not going to let these tomatoes go to waste. They'll taste mighty good next winter. Here's an apron for you and get one for me, too. This will be under control in no time.

Jane: How do you happen to know so much about it?

Bill: Oh, you'd be surprised! John told me that he helped Martha with the canning last week and we talked about it on the train. Besides I used to help can stuff in the Frat House at the University. I also picked up a leaflet from the Nutrition Center over in the Newtonville Library building.

Jane: You sound as if you know what you're talking about. What are the orders?

Bill: Here are the jars mother left us when she moved. Why don't you begin to wash them out with hot soapy water? Then scrub the rubber rings and boil them for 10 minutes in 1 quart water with 1 tablespoon of soda. It keeps the rings from flavoring the food.

Jane: What are you going to do with that big piece of cheesecloth? Say, that's a quick way to do it. Tie the tomato up in the cheesecloth, dip them in boiling water for a minute and then under the cold water faucet. Here, I'm free now, let me help skin them.

Bill: Sure, after you've peeled them halve or three-quarter the big ones and pack them into the jars, push them down pretty well. Not too tight, Jane. Leave a little space at the top for expansion.

Jane: How much salt? About one teaspoon for these quart jars?

Bill: Yes. And Jane, stick a knife down in each jar to let out the bubbles. Pass me a cloth, will you? I want to wipe off the rim of each jar.

Jane: How do you seal them?

Bill: I'll show you. Put on the rubber ring. Then the glass lid. Push the long wire over the top of the lid so it fits into the groove. Push down the short wire and complete the seal.

Jane: The water in the corner is warm, Bill.

Bill: Swell. Here they go. Fine. There's about two inches of water over the top of the jars.

Jane: How long do they have to stay in there? I don't want to have to hang around the kitchen all evening.

Bill: Just as soon as the water boils, we time them. It only takes 40 minutes for quarts, 30 for pints.

Jane: You're wonderful, Bill. I could do that myself I guess if you want to try me out on another bushel some time.

*Remove the air to get a full pack and decrease the oxygen in the jar since Vitamin C is readily oxidized.

Note: Are you canning? Have any questions? Call Big 7602.

HEADQUARTERS, 82nd AIRBORNE DIVISION, NORMANDY
—Soldiers of one parachute infantry regiment, 82nd Airborne Division, dropped over a wide area on D-Day and were unable to assemble as a tactical unit until the fourth day of the invasion.

The regiment, nevertheless, played a brilliant role in carrying out the mission of the airborne troops, which was to prevent the Germans from interfering with the ground assault force until the beach landings had been accomplished. A West Newton man in the regiment was Cpl. Robert C. Ellis of 148 Lousl Avenue.

"15TH AAF IN ITALY"—2nd Lt. Donald Everett Greene, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred L. Greene, 46 Elm street, West Newton, has recently joined a veteran B-24 Liberator heavy bombardment group stationed at present in Southern Italy.

Lt. Greene is a navigator on a B-24 heavy bomber. He entered the service in December of 1942. Before entering the service he attended Northwestern University, where he was a student of Liberal Arts.

AT A 12TH AAF B-25 BASE—

When the bombardier came barefoot from a bombing mission, as did Flight Officer Charles F. Donovan of Newton, after a recent attack on enemy rail bridges in the Po Valley area of Northern Italy, it is probable that enemy anti-aircraft opposition was determined.

The Newton flier, his feet shuffling along in the dust, presented himself for interrogation after the recent highly successful attack on the important communications targets. Wisecracking in the background were other bombardiers, who came home as well shod as they went out.

"Well, Zeke," queried the staff officer doing the interrogation, "what happened to you?"

"Our right engine was shot out by flak over the target," Lieutenant Donovan answered, "and coming home the pilot told us to jettison ammunition, guns, radio equipment and everything else. I guess I must have jettisoned my shoes."

A fellow crew member on Lieutenant Donovan's 12th AAF B-25 Mitchell medium bomber came forward with the shoes and the explanation that possibly the bombardier had been too excited after landing to notice that he had left them behind in the navigator's compartment.

Although badly damaged, the Billy Mitchell bomber made a safe single-engine landing at the home base. The pilot was First Lieutenant Sylvain A. Loyinofosse of Cheltenham, Pa.

15TH AAF IN ITALY—William B. Ness, Jr., 21, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Ness, Sr., 71 Wood End road, Newton Highlands, has been promoted to the rank of sergeant, according to an announcement from 15th AAF Headquarters.

Sgt. Ness is stationed in Italy with a Liberator bombardment group that has been seeing plenty of action over southern Europe. A member of the ground crew, his duties are concerned with the "on the spot" maintenance that enables the big bombers to continually blast Nazi held targets.

Sgt. Ness entered the Air Corps on October 29, 1942. He received his training in aircraft mechanics at the Army Air Force Technical School, Goldsboro, North Carolina.

AN AIR SERVICE COMMAND DEPOT (Somewhere in England)—Corporal Robert A. Durkee, son of Mr. and Mrs. Austin B. Durkee of 171 Concord street, Newton Lowell Falls is now serving as an Engine and Supercharger Mechanic in the Maintenance section of the largest Air Service Command depot in Britain.

He is one of thousands at this depot where America's fighters and bombers are assembled, modified and repaired to support our Allied armies battling in France.

They're In The Service Now..

(Special to the Newton Graphic)

BOSTON, August 15—WAVE Helen A. Chatfield of 62 Elmore street, Newton, Center, has completed her basic training and indoctrination course at the Naval Training School Hunter College, N. Y., and has received her orders to report to the Georgia State College for Women, Milledgeville, Ga., for further instruction.

Miss Chatfield attended Bentley's School of Accounting and Finance and prior to her enlistment in the WAVES she was employed as a bookkeeper.

She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. Weller Chatfield of Newton Centre.

Boston, August 15—WAVE Nadine G. Macdonald IIA-2-c has completed her basic training and indoctrination course at the Naval Training School, Hunter College, N. Y., and has received orders to report for duty at the Bethesda Naval Hospital, Bethesda, Maryland.

Miss MacDonald attended the New Rochelle College in New York. She has a brother in the service, Lieut. (jg) Ian Macdonald Naval Air Corps. She is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. W. J. MacDonald of 30 Berwick road, Newton Centre.

AT A 12TH AAF B-25 BASE—Sergeant Wendell P. Boston, whose home is at 132 High street, Newton Upper Falls, recently rounded out his 18th month of service on foreign soil, entitling him to wear three gold overseas stripes.

As authorized by a recent act of congress, one foreign service stripe is awarded to members of the Armed Force for each six-month period of duty outside the continental limits of the United States.

The Newton soldier earned the stripes serving as armament machinist with a 12th AAF B-25 Mitchell Bomb Squadron, veterans of the Tunisian, Sicilian and Italian campaigns in the Mediterranean area. He is a member of the European-Middle-East-African ribbon and the Italian campaign star.

Naval Aviator Cadet Edward B. Humphrey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Humphrey of Newton Highlands, has been transferred to the Naval Air Training Center at Pensacola, Florida, after successful completion of the primary flight training course at the Naval Air Station, Glenview, Illinois.

After passing the advanced flight training course at Pensacola, Cadet Humphrey will pin on his wings as a Naval Aviator and be commissioned as an Ensign in the Naval Reserve or as a Second Lieutenant in the Marine Corps Reserve.

Cadet Humphrey is a graduate of Newton High School and attended the Northeastern University at Boston. He began his Naval Aviation career at the Navy's Pre-flight school at the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill, North Carolina.

Mr. and Mrs. Eliot Leland Wright of Longmeadow announce the engagement of their daughter, Miss Winifred Carter Wright, to Cpl. Harold A. Chamberlin, Jr., USAAF, son of Lt. Comdr. and Mrs. Harold A. Chamberlin of 191 Upland road, Newtonville.

Miss Wright attended Vassar College and the Nursery Training School, and for the past year has been teaching in Vanport City, Ore. Cpl. WITH THE FIFTH ARMY, ITALY—Private First Class William E. Hurley, whose home is at 357 Elliot street, and Private First Class Otto Kalweit who lives at 283 Elliot street in Newton Upper Falls, have been cited by their regiment of the 88th Infantry Division and awarded the Combat Infantryman Badge for actual participation in combat with the enemy on the Fifth Army front in Italy.

Standards for the Badge are high. The decoration, which was recently authorized by the War Department, is awarded to the infantry soldier who has proved his fighting ability in combat.

The badge consists of a silver rifle set against a background of infantry blue, enclosed in a silver wreath.

Special to Graphic from "An Eighth Air Force Liberator Station, England: 2nd Lt. Lancer R. Weinrich has recently been awarded the Air Medal with One Oak Leaf Cluster. The citation in part reads as follows: "For meritorious achievement in accomplishing with distinction; aerial operational missions over enemy occupied continental Europe. Lt. Weinrich's actions reflect great credit upon himself and the armed forces of the United States."

Lt. Weinrich has flown twelve missions over the continent, participating in attacks on Oschersleben, Munich, Saarbrücken, Kiel, Bremen, and military installations in support of the U. S. invasion forces.

SAN ANTONIO AVIATION CADET CENTER, Tex.—At the San Antonio Aviation Cadet Center, Chaplain Clement J. Shaughnessy, 136 Jewett Street, Newton, former pastor of Our Lady of Guadalupe, Dallas, Texas, is taking a two-week indoctrination course of study in Army Air Forces ministry.

While at the Cadet Center, a unit of Central Flying Training Command, AAF Training Command, army chaplains, graduates of the Army Chaplain School at Harvard University, study air force perspectives, organization and official duties at the Chaplains' Transition Conferences Course.

Word has been received of the promotion to the rank of Sergeant of a Newton serviceman who is now stationed in Greenland. Sgt. Henry A. Patrick, who enlisted in the Army in November, 1942, and who is attending a radio school in Greenland told of his promotion in a letter to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Oswald Patrick of 30 Thornton street, Newton.

Sgt. Patrick graduated in 1941 from Our Lady's School, Newton, and was a former circulation manager of the Newton Graphic.

On July 27, Norman R. Millard, Jr., enlisted as a private in the Marines and was sent to Parris Island, South Carolina for his basic training. Pvt. Millard is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Norman R. Millard of 31 Lewis street, Newton. He graduated this past June from the Newton High School where he was a member of the glee club and where he played football on the intermediate team during his junior year.

AN EIGHTH AIR FORCE LIBERATOR STATION—The promotion of James J. Mahoney of 8 Wetherell street, Newton Upper Falls, Mass., from Major to Lieutenant Colonel was announced recently by Lt. General James R. Doolittle, Eighth Air Force commander.

Attaining the Massachusetts National Guard in 1935, Lt. Col. Mahoney was assigned to the 110th Cavalry, Troop "B," and served as an enlisted man in that unit until 1940. On Oct. 13, 1940, he entered the Air Corps as an aviator cadet, taking his primary training at the Chicago School of Aeronautics, Glenview, Ill., and basic training at Gunter Field, Ala.

His advanced training was completed at Maxwell Field, Ala. After passing the advanced flight training course at Pensacola, he was assigned as a pilot of observation aircraft and army transport planes from May, 1941 to Oct., 1943, and qualified as an instructor on one, two, and four-engine planes. Later, as pilot of B-25 Mitchell bombers, he flew anti-aircraft, flying on Atlantic coast anti-submarine patrol, he amassed a total of 1,500 hours of flying time. He received the Air Medal with oak leaf cluster in March, 1943.

Assigned as squadron commander, he arrived in England in April, 1944 with a heavy bombardment group commanded by Col. Eugene H. Snively, of Harlingen, Texas. Since then, he has participated in several bombing missions over Germany and occupied France. He was recently awarded a second oak leaf cluster to the Air Medal for "meritorious achievement in combat missions over enemy-occupied Europe."

Lt. Col. Mahoney graduated from Boston College in 1940, receiving the degree of Bachelor of Arts, majoring in economics. His mother, Mrs. Margaret M. Mahoney, lives at 8 Wetherell street, Newton Upper Falls, Mass. His wife, Mrs. Mary McKenna Mahoney, and his young son, James J. Mahoney, Jr. ("Jerry"), live at 92 Overlook road, Upper Montclair, N. J.

TUBES TURN THE TIDE. Have you ever noticed how frequently the big things hang on the little things? For instance, it takes but one more drop to make a full bucket of water overflow. Well, similarly, radio tubes were the little things that influenced a tremendous Russian victory, recently. It is a fact well known by U. S. Army officials that the lack of radio tubes was a major cause in the defeat of Germans as the Nazi army was seizing Stalingrad. The Germans were advancing so swiftly that the radio equipment could not be moved up fast enough or in large enough quantities to keep the advanced soldiers informed of orders. As a result, the German troops became lost, trapped, and captured due to lack of radioed directions. The production of radio equipment had so dropped in Germany that destroyed equipment could not be replaced quickly enough or in sufficient amounts to be of much use. So just for the sake of a tube, the messages were lost, and for the sake of the messages, the battle was lost. And... realizing the importance of the small things to the big... our Rays are holding fast on the job, making it their personal responsibility to see that no Allied battle will ever be lost for the sake of a Raytheon radio tube.

AVENGER. Learning that his brother, Lester, was missing in action over Austria, Theodore Jaffe, U. S. Army AAA Gun Br., who had just returned from the Aleutians, volunteered to go overseas again to avenge his brother.

On the day he received his overseas transfer, Jaffe, who is a former employee of Raytheon's Radio Receiving Tube Division, Newton, was notified of his brother's safety in a German camp. Jaffe, however, was shipped overseas and is now stationed in England.

While at Raytheon, he worked as Grid Mechanic in Dept. 203. A "FIRST" ON THE RAYTHEON PARADE. Raytheon's first employee—Ruth Harney, 71 Symphony road, Boston—was interviewed by "Farmer" Russ on the Raytheon Radio Receiving Tube Division's radio program broadcast over WEEI, WHDH, and WOR during the week of August 23.

Hired 18 years ago, Ruth originally cut all the glass, made all the flares by hand, made the stems for the first tubes... and sealed them in. At present Ruth works as supervisor in Dept. 202, and can pitch in on every job in her department if necessary.

Also appearing on the radio program, was Anna Coblyn, 57 Hubbard avenue, Cambridge. Anna, who has worked in Raytheon's Salvage Dept., cutting down waste to a minimum. Her department has won first place three times in the Attendance Contest.

The third girl to appear on the program was Norman Moryn, 234 N. Beacon street, Watertown. Norman works as Identification Clerk, photographing new employees, and preparing their identification badges for them to wear. After putting in a busy day, Norman still finds time to act as a Junior Hostess for the USO.

HE CAN ADD, TOO. Tube Head Tim, company mascot, says that there is only one man who always knows the date—and that's the bill collector. PURPLE HEART FOR RAY'S BROTHER. Pvt. John F. Benoit, U. S. A. Paratroops Div., brother of Ann Benoit, 12 Capital street, Newton, was awarded the Purple Heart for wounds received during the invasion of France.

Pvt. Benoit is a native of Newton and has been in the service for 15 months, eight of which has been spent overseas. At present the 22-year old soldier is recovering at a hospital in England. His sister, Ann Benoit, works as a Parts Operator in Dept. 301 of Raytheon's Radio Receiving Tube Division, Newton.

MARKSMANSHIP MEDAL FOR A COW. In a Boston graveyard Tube Head Tim read the following inscription: "Sacred to the memory of Eben Harvey, who departed this life suddenly and unexpectedly by a cow kicking him on the 15th of September, 1853. Well, done thou good and faithful servant."

RAY GIVEN SEND-OFF PARTY. Honoring his transfer to a Chicago office, a party was held for William Peters, 233 Jackson road, Newton, at Blinstrub's in Boston by fellow-workers, recently.

At the banquet, a purse was presented to him by members of Life Test, where Mr. Peters worked as a Lab. Assistant.

STORM WINDOWS AND DOORS METAL WEATHERSTRIPPING

IT'S HOT NOW!

But, just the same, we urge you to order your cold weather protection AT ONCE and avoid waiting for weeks when fall comes. We were weeks behind in installing awnings all spring and only by ordering weather stripping now will you avoid delays this fall and winter.

IT'S GOING TO BE JUST AS COLD THEN AS IT IS HOT NOW.

There will be a shortage of awnings materials next season and we are already taking orders for 1945 installations. First come, first served.

"The people of our state glory in the courage, fortitude and devotion to his country displayed by Lt. Hanson in shooting down 25 Japanese planes at a risk far beyond the call of duty," Saltonstall said.

"Mrs. Hanson, there is nothing I can say to lessen your sadness, but I know your son has earned the everlasting gratitude of his fellow men. For he offered all he had so that we, who are left in safety, and our children in the years to come, will enjoy in peace the blessings of a better world. That feeling in our hearts is a more enduring tribute than even a Congressional Medal of Honor. May I express my pride in the sacrifice in which you so directly share and my heartfelt sorrow for your loss."

"What courageous Americans have done in other times of national danger, Robert Hanson has proved can be done in this time of peril."

"We have no doubt as to our course. So let us sound the depths of our will and courage to pursue it to a victorious end. In no other way can we pay greater honor to Lt. Hanson to whom we owe so much devotion and so great a debt."

The ceremony was concluded with the playing of the Marine Hymn by the Marine band while a detachment of Marines stood at attention.

Official Regulations Covering Christmas Mail for the Armed Forces Overseas

The problems of overseas mail are more complex this year; it is therefore essential that the regulations as issued by the P. O. Dept. and enclosed herewith be strictly adhered to. The dates are September 15 to October 15 inclusive.

Proposed Minimum Wage for Mercantile Occupation

In our bulletin of June 10th we gave you the personnel of the Board appointed by the Minimum Wage Commission to revise the Retail Stores Minimum Wage Decree covering all Women and Minors engaged in selling. The Board have filed their report recommending by unanimous vote the following:

The decree to be known as the Minimum Wage for the "Mercantile Occupation" and to cover all Women and Minors (under 21) engaged in selling:

Full time experienced employees $17.00 per week; full time inexperienced employees, $15.50 per week; part time experienced employees, 40 cents per hour; part time inexperienced employees, 35 cents per hour.

"Experienced employees" means any one with six months' experience; "inexperienced employees" those with less than six months' experience; full time means any week of 36 hours or more, part time any week of less than 36 hours. Under Massachusetts Law no woman or minor can work more than 48 hours. While the above is subject to public hearings on August 21st and August 29th, later by approval or disapproval by the Minimum Wage Commission, we believe the proposals will prevail as they have met with general approval. When finally issued you will be sent a complete copy.

Handbook For Retailers

This booklet published by the "Committee for Economic Development" (we are the Local Committee for Newton, Needham and Wellesley) should and we know will be read by every Retailer, not that it is necessarily a blueprint for your particular business, but rather that from it you will obtain many valuable suggestions. While all our retail members will receive the booklet, we will gladly mail one to any one receiving this bulletin.

Do You Know That

Retailing is the largest industry in America when judged by the number of business establishments; on the average there is a retail store for each 74 persons living in the U. S.

Sherman Advances Four

Four executive advancements have been announced by Sherman Paper Products Corporation in Newton Upper Falls, as part of their post-war program.

E. W. Pitt, formerly Director of the Corroflex Division, has been named General Sales Manager. A graduate of Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Mr. Pitt had successfully held the positions: Regional Packaging Engineer, Advertising Manager, and Sales Manager of the Display Division. While Director of the Corroflex Division, he inaugurated an extensive wartime research program to develop papers that would protect against the extreme hazards of wartime shipping. Out of this program, new processing methods were developed to combine paper with resins, plastic films, corrosion and mold inhibitors, to produce entirely new types of protective papers.

George H. Stucke, formerly Assistant Director of the Corroflex Division, has been appointed Sales Manager of this division, which has been renamed Industrial Division, in recognition of the growing scope of its products. Well known among the paper trade, Mr. Stucke had a prominent part in expansion of an engineering service to aid war plants in their packaging problems.

Philip E. Sheehan, formerly Regional Packaging Engineer for the Middle Atlantic Area, has been advanced to the position of Sales Manager of the Specialties Division, in charge of the marketing of the company's baking-pan liners and packaging products.

J. Arthur Hardigan, formerly Regional Packaging Engineer and Display Specialist for New England, has been advanced to Field Sales Manager of the Display Division to carry on in the position left vacant by the late Harold C. Wane.

The Sherman company reports that an extensive research program has been started, to develop new products for the post-war market.

Placement Tests At Frank A. Day Junior High School

The F. A. Day Junior High School will give placement tests here on Tuesday, September 5, 1944 at 9:00 a.m. This is for all new pupils, but does not apply to the seventh graders coming from our elementary schools.

The school office will be open beginning Monday, August 28 through Friday, September 1 for registration of new pupils and to issue transfers.

Pupils should bring transfer and report cards with them. Parents are urged to accompany children, if possible.

School opens Wednesday, September 6, at 8:25 a.m. for 7th grade pupils; at 1:00 p.m. for 8th and 9th grade pupils.

Pvt. McLaughlin Wounded

Word has been received from the War Department by Mr. and Mrs. Hugh McLaughlin of 14 Cheney court, Newton, that their son, Pvt. George F. McLaughlin, has been seriously wounded in action.

Pvt. McLaughlin who was serving in an infantry division wrote to his parents that he had received shrapnel wounds on June 29 and had been flown to a hospital in England. He also sent his Purple Heart to his parents.

He attended the Newton High School and entered the Army in October 1942. He was sent to England in January of this year. His brother, Pfc. Robert J. McLaughlin, who is with an anti-aircraft company in France, wrote home that he had missed meeting his brother by just an hour.

Lightning Strikes Barn

During the storm on Thursday night a barn at 974 Dedham street, Newton Centre, owned by Clearence A. Hasenfus, was struck by lightning, which set fire to the hayloft, and caused damage estimated at $8,000 to the building which was constructed of fieldstone brick. Two buggies, an express wagon and sleigh, relics of the "nineties" were destroyed in the blaze.

The Fire Department was summoned by a telephone call at 6:49 p.m. followed by a box alarm at 6:57. At 7:04 Deputy Chief Francis J. Linnehan ordered a second alarm sounded.

A house at 48-50 Gardner street, Newton, was struck by lightning Sunday afternoon which tore a hole in the roof. No fire was caused.

Deaths

Dennis McCarthy

Dennis McCarthy, retired landscape gardener, died on August 15 at his home, 54 Margin street, West Newton, after a long illness. He was born in County Cork, Ireland, the son of Dennis and Mary (Jago) McCarthy, and lived in Newton 53 years. He is survived by a son, D. Joseph McCarthy, and a daughter, Mrs. Marie Waters, both of West Newton. He was a charter member of the Newton Catholic Club and was a member of Triton Council, Royal Arcanum.

The funeral was held from his home Friday morning with a burial in Calvary Cemetery, Waltham.

Joseph McCartin

Joseph McCartin, 56, employment manager of the West Boylston Manufacturing Co. and secretary of the Northampton Chamber of Commerce, died Saturday at his home 868 Commonwealth avenue, Newton Centre. The funeral was held Wednesday with a solemn mass of requiem in Sacred Heart Church.

Mr. McCartin was former director of the Massachusetts Employment Service, the National Employment Service and the New England Regional Labor Board. He was appointed to the Massachusetts Industrial Commission by Gov. Allen and was named executive secretary of the Massachusetts Unemployment Compensation Commission by Gov. Ely.

He was assistant to the vice-president of the New England Power Association, New England district secretary of the Kiwanis Club and a member of the Clover Club. He is survived by a son, Ensign Donald M. McCartin, stationed at Newport, R. I.

Lt. Mahony Receives Silver Star

First Lieutenant James S. Mahoney, a cavalryman, of Newton, has been decorated with the Silver Star for leading a reconnaissance platoon through several daring exploits during the Kwajalein campaign, it was announced today by the War Department.

While reconnoitering an enemy island prior to a pre-dawn landing, Lieutenant Mahoney narrowly escaped drowning when his raft capsized. He was proceeding on his mission when his platoon encountered heavy enemy fire coming from dense underbrush a short time later.

Disregarding his own life, the Newton officer led his platoon in the assault that broke up the enemy attack, and then, pushing through the underbrush, attacked an enemy dugout and beat off a fierce enemy counterattack. This enabled his platoon to destroy completely the enemy and fulfill its mission.

Lieutenant Mahoney is a graduate of the Officer Candidate School at Fort Riley, Kansas. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick W. Mahoney, live at 25 Lawrence avenue, Chestnut Hill.

Newton Highlands

The office of Charles J. Kinehla reports the sale of the following two-family houses: 15-17 Hillside road, Newton Highlands for Margaret McCrudden to Frederick Kaye, Jr.; 63-65 Elgin street, Newton Centre to Frances Metcalf; 182-184 Cabot street, Newtonville for Thomas Curran to Ruth W. Bridges.

Newton

Receiving his call to enter the Armed Forces, Malcolm M. Winslow of 10 St. James street, will spend a short vacation with his mother at Sheffield, Pa., before leaving. Mr. Winslow, who volunteered last May, is the husband of Florence Ross Winslow. His brother, Leroy W. Winslow, is stationed somewhere in the South Pacific and has been in the Service since October, 1941.

Camp Frank A. Day

Brookfield, Mass. Saturday, August 19—The outstanding event of the past week was Campers' Day when the boys took over the running of the camp for one day. Various campers were elected to fill staff positions and each tent elected one of its members as counselor for the day.

The whole proceeding went off in very orderly fashion. Two parties were organized, the Walyses and the Torres, and each nominated a slate of candidates and drew up a party platform. Both parties succeeded in electing members to high office. The following campers were elected: Camp Director, V. Z. Wong; Program Director, Sandy Tarkelson; Waterfront Director, Warren Ross; Senior Director, John Mattson; Midget Director, Frank Denison; Craft Director, Tom Fowler; Nature Hall Director, Godfrey Chafer; Steward, George Bent; Camp Doctor, Bobby Thompson; Camp Bugler, Ted Barker.

Wednesday evening there was a town meeting at which campers were given an opportunity to speak. Thursday the election was held during the morning and afternoon activity periods. Friday took over and did very creditably.

On Monday evening a very interesting program of boxing was scheduled, and the rafters of the old dining-hall shook with the cheering of the assembled campers, juniors, and seniors participating.

Once again this year Chief Henry Red Eagle visited Camp Day, much to the delight of all the boys. He arrived toward the end of the afternoon and spent two hours before supper in the various camps talking to the campers personally and giving instruction in woodcraft in which he specializes. After supper he gave an exhibition of canoeing, showed the various kinds of strokes to use in paddling a canoe, from the Charles River stroke to Maine guide stroke. Then, before the assembled camp in front of the dining-hall, he gave an exhibition of axemanship. These outdoor exhibitions were followed by an hour's recital in the dining-hall of Indian stories and legends and a demonstration of Indian dances. All the campers were inquiring the day after if Henry Red Eagle was returning next year. They all wanted to see him again.

Sunday evening programs under the direction of Rev. Charles T. Allen have proved most interesting. Movies on mountain climbing and wild animal life were shown on the 18th and a particularly fine fire was enjoyed on Aug. 20th. This campfire was dedicated to the Centennial Anniversary of the Y.M.C.A. and Samuel A. Johnson. Camp Director told the story of the founding of the "Y" one hundred years ago. Stunts, songs and stories made up the remainder of the program.

Only a week and a half remains of the present camp season, but a lot of things can happen in a week and a half.

Salvaged Kitchen Fats Save Our Manpower

You save manpower, Mrs. America, by making your fats do double duty. More of the fats and oils produced by farmers and cattlemen can be used for food, if your left over grease is put to work for industry.

War Food Administration says the 230,000,000 pounds of kitchen fat American women are asked to save this year can be used industrially to replace fat from 7 million hogs or 3 million steers, or oil from over a million acres of soybeans or peanuts.

Take your place in the production line, Mrs. America. We need 12 billion pounds of fats and oils this year for our troops, our allies and essential home industries. Every pound of used kitchen fat you save and turn in puts us that much nearer to Victory and gives you two extra red ration points.

A Message From Mayor Goddard

The Newton Public Schools are opening on Wednesday, September 6th. It is sincerely hoped that all our younger citizens, who possibly can, will avail themselves of this opportunity to continue their education. The War Department has pointed out that it is the duty of all those up to and including High School age to return to school this Fall. The necessity of war production does not extend to those of school age, and education is of vital importance as we look to the future.

PAUL M. GODDARD, Mayor.

Cpl. Amendola Killed in Normandy

Word has been received here that Cpl. Julius Charles Amendola, husband of Mrs. Helen (Belfrey) Amendola, of 41 Dalby street, Newton, was killed in action in Normandy on August 4.

Cpl. Amendola who was a former race horse owner and trainer, was graduated from Our Lady's High School in Newton and attended the New York Military Academy in Connecticut. He entered the Army in April 1942 and went overseas in January.

Besides his wife and his parents, he is survived by a son, Michael Amendola; four sisters, Mrs. Antonette Parker, Mrs. Paul Coletti, Miss Joan and Miss Jacqueline Amendola, and three brothers, Alfred A. Jr., Anthony and Paul Amendola.

A solemn pro-burial mass was celebrated in the Church of Our Lady, Newton, Wednesday morning at 9 o'clock.

Oak Hill P.T.A. To Sponsor Childrens Exchange

Beginning on Thursday the twenty-first of September and on every Thursday through the year the Oak Hill Parent Teacher Association is sponsoring a Children's Exchange. The sale will be held in the library of the school on Wheeler road from eight-thirty in the morning until twelve noon.

The Exchange would be glad to receive infants' wear and boys' and girls' clothing up to size sixteen. Articles brought to the school or the seventh and the fourteenth of September will help to swell the opening sale.

Twenty percent of the profits will go to the Parent Teacher Association and the remainder to the owner of the merchandise. In these days when children's clothes are so difficult to find this Exchange should greatly benefit harassed mothers. And it is earnestly hoped that Newtonites will empty their store boxes for the success of this thrifty and profitable venture.

Public Urged To Secure Overseas Christmas Boxes

The Post Office Department, in cooperation with Army and Navy officials, urges the parents and friends of men and women serving overseas to arrange to secure or prepare Christmas boxes now. Within a few weeks, these Christmas parcels will start on their long journey to the far distant parts of the world where our men are stationed. Depending upon distance, closing for these Christmas parcels begin September 15 and end on October 15.

Stores are now displaying a wide variety of articles particularly sought by these boys on foreign shores and due to the critical shortage of paper it is well for parents to start immediately in giving consideration to a proper container. According to Postmaster Patrick J. Connelly, it is essential that the container be of sufficient strength to stand a number of handlings, storage in the hold of a ship for long periods and such other storage as the exigencies of war demand. Post-office clerks have been cautioned not to accept any parcel which does not appear to have sufficient strength to withstand these obstacles. It is a waste of valuable shipping space and a tremendous disappointment to a boy overseas to be advised by letter that he will receive a parcel and then not have it arrive due to the fact that it has been so damaged in transit that it had to be discarded. Last year thousands of such parcels were made worthless due to improper packing. The limit of weight is 5 pounds and size is 15 inches in length or 36 inches in length and girth combined.

Shop now for contents and cartons. Remember that 90,000,000 parcels will have to be sent overseas during the 30-day period through A.P.O. New York alone. War moves fast and it is a difficult task to transport and deliver this vast tonnage.

Lt. Col. Toner Downs Nazi Planes

Announcement has been made by the Army that Lt. Col. James V. Toner, Jr., 27, son of James V. Toner, president of the Boston Edison Company, has shot down two more Nazi planes, over Friedrichshafen, Germany on August 3 in five minutes of aerial battle as a fighter pilot escorting heavy bombers.

Col. Toner is deputy commander of a 15th Air Force P-51 Mustang group in Italy. He was on his 40th combat mission when he shot down the two planes which brings his record to three.

Returned Combat Flier Wins D.F.C.

First Lieutenant George L. Kline, 23, son of Mr. and Mrs. Allen S. Kline of Needham, has recently returned from overseas duty in Italy where he completed 50 combat missions as navigator of a Liberator bomber with the Fifteenth Air Force. Lt. Kline and his wife, the former Virginia Hardy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George E. Hardy of Beacon street, Waban, have been vacationing in New Hampshire and are now visiting relatives in the Middle West.

Soon after receiving his promotion to the rank of first lieutenant on May 27, Lt. Kline assumed the duties of Navigation Officer for his squadron, flying as lead navigator for the entire group formation on numerous raids against targets in Rumania, Austria, Southern France, and Northern Italy.

Lt. White Awarded Air Medal

Word has been received by Mr. and Mrs. Fred H. White of 25 Sumner street, Newton Center and Egypt, Mass. that their son, Bickford Glover White, a carrier based Bomber Pilot in the Pacific, Lieutenant (jg) has been awarded the Air Medal, for his part in the sinking of a Jap cruiser. The citation accompanying the award, signed by Admiral Nimitz reads: "For meritorious achievement in the line of his profession and for especially courageous and meritorious conduct under fire, on an attack near Truk on Feb. 16, 1944, he pressed home his attack against an enemy light cruiser and in spite of heavy anti-aircraft fire, scored a direct hit which stopped all gunfire from the cruiser and left it dead on the water. This allowed an aerial torpedo attack to be launched unopposed which sank the cruiser. His cool and effective performance of duty while under fire with total disregard for his personal safety, were in keeping with the highest traditions of the Naval Service."

Lt. White is well known in Newton, he attended the Mason and Weeks Jr. High schools in the

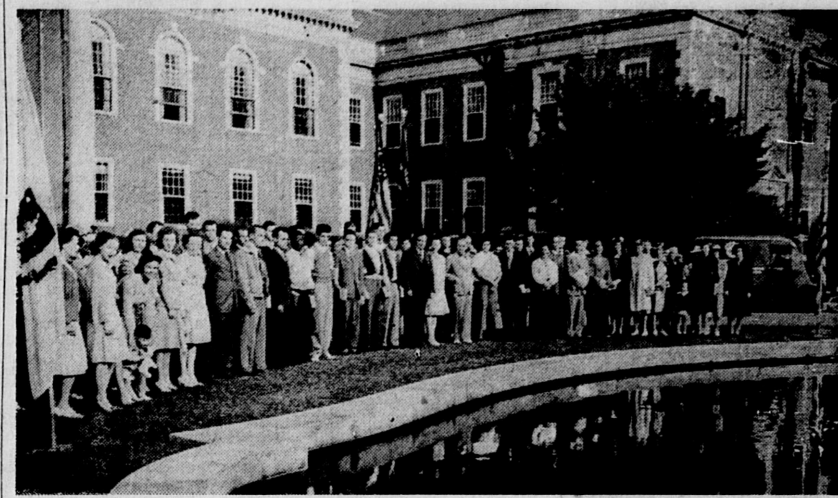

FRED H. WHITE AND SON LT. B. G. WHITE

Centre, graduated from the Newton High School and later attended Boston University and was President of his Junior and Senior classes at Nichols College of Dudley, Mass.

Lt. White enlisted in the Naval Reserve in Dec. 1941, the day following the Jap attack on Pearl Harbor, trained at the Quantico, Mass. and Atlanta, Ga. air bases and was made an Ensign in the Naval Reserve in December 1942 at the Lee Field, Jacksonville, Fla.

He was married June 3, 1943 in Coronado, Cal. to Barbara Hobbs, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leon Hobbs of Arlington, Mass. He is now engaged in special training duty in the Eastern part of U. S. previous to shipping aboard a carrier for further duty in the Pacific.

Final Public Send-off Tuesday Sponsored by Local Women's Groups

One of the largest groups of relatives and friends to be present in recent months attended the public send-off to 31 Newton selectees who left City Hall Tuesday morning, August 29, for Boston, to be inducted into the armed services. The send-off was sponsored by the Newton Junior Community Club in conjunction with the Newton Community Club. It was the first women's group in the City to sponsor a public send-off to selectees, and members of both Clubs with their presidents, Mrs. David Black and Miss Ruth W. Aldrich, as well as Miss Adelaide B. Ball, president of the Newton Federation of Women's Clubs attended. A color guard of members of the Chaplain Farrell Chapter, D. A. V., was under the direction of Commander Loreto Bianchi. Aides were Norman Mitchell and J. Edward Theriault.

Roy S. Edwards, Chairman of the Citizens' Committee for Service to Newton Servicemen was master of ceremonies. He said that the inductees in the future will be sent directly to the new inductee station at Fort Banks in Winthrop and as a result, Newton selectees will have to leave the City earlier in the morning and public send-offs at that time would not be practical. He was assisted in distributing the traveling kits to the men by Warren W. Oliver and Carmen A. Vitti.

The Rev. Herbert Hitchen, D.D., minister of the First Unitarian Society in West Newton delivered the send-off message. He said in part, "The new way of life upon which you are now entering will demand all your physical and mental endurance. The drudgery of training will be what you make of it. Take your place beside those who vision a future world free from trouble, and remember that your training is only a prelude for a glorious task."

Miss Aldrich, as president of the Junior Club, extended the greetings of the sponsoring group. The following were the inductees from Board 112: Clement A. Frechette, Louis Reine, Leonard Sudhalter, Daniel M. Cedrone, Joseph J. Gentile, James J. Sheehan, Jr., Paul A. Leone, Robert Fitzgerald, Arthur E. Little, Paul V. McDonald, Kenneth W. Newton Public Schools

Newtonville, Mass.

To High School Youth:
Almost every day some person whose judgment everyone respects and trusts advises high school boys and girls to return to school this fall. Our military leaders are unanimous in urging every young man and woman of pre-military age who has been filling a summer war job to return to school. As General Arnold of the Army Air Forces has said, "This is not only a brave man's war—it is also a smart man's war."

Not only do the armed forces, the War Manpower Commission, and thoughtful parents and leaders everywhere urge you not to miss the opportunity of completing your education, the testimony of men who were of high school age during the last war is the same. A generation ago, Joe Cronin, Manager of the Red Sox, had to make the same decision you are now faced with. He says today that his decision to give up his war job and return to the schools of San Francisco was the turning point of his career. Everyone agrees that the time to get an education is when you have time for it—which is when you are young. If you are 16 years of age or older, the choice what a wise man once said—"What you do when you don't have to, determines what you'll be when you can't help it."

Newton High School provides a program of Physical Fitness and Pre-induction training prescribed by the War Department. Now is the time to get ready!
Homer W. Anderson,
Acting Superintendent of Schools.

Letter To The Editor

To the Editor of the Graphic:

Were it to be said that along the streets of Newton could be seen full powder kegs with no tops, a gasp or two could be expected from stout citizens as well as excitable ones. If the kegs existed as suggested a lighted match or a passing train or cigarette butt hitting the powder—well one's imagination could be drawn upon for subsequent developments.

Although, so far as aware, the writer knows of no openly exposed powder kegs in the city, it is surmised that our constituted municipal authorities are not unmindful that there are many danger spots on the borders of our public streets. In some instances direct attention of governing officials has been called to unguarded spots which at present and until such time as remedied, are a constant menace to those about and to auto traffic.

State Law obliges municipalities to safeguard highways—yet for some reason not explained, a number of exposed danger spots for the traveling public are allowed to exist in Newton. Are citizens and public officials too complacent or relying on good luck for protection? What if luck should run out on them?

Perhaps it is not necessary that the writer be specific and name a few of the danger spots alluded to

New Photographic Studio At Newton Centre

On or about September sixth Newton Centre will have a photographic studio doing the fine work for which Hawthaway Mabbett has become known.

Formerly associated with Bachrach, Mr. Mabbett selected Newton Centre as the location most convenient for his customers in the Brookline-Newton area.

At his new studio at thirty-eight Langley road, Mr. Mabbett will photograph men, women and children, and will make every effort to accommodate members of the Armed Service at their convenience. As in the past, he will photograph children in their homes, if the parents so desire.

that exist; it may not, however, be irrelevant to hint that when exposed powder is left unguarded where people pass and an explosion results the greater blame for resulting casualties might well be charged to those who allowed the powder there.

Politics With Color

by P. W. C.

Hillman vs. America

So far as this commentator is concerned, the fundamental issue in national politics today is just as simple as that—Hillman vs. America. The more I study this power-crazy man the more I am convinced that he honestly doesn't want to understand the meaning of American democracy. His calm effrontery in attempting to dictate the Vice-Presidential nomination of the Democratic party in Chicago was the limit, as was his success in thwarting James F. Byrnes' ambition to become F.D.R.'s running-mate. It must have burned deep the old-line Democrats to know that leaders of their party, including Vice-President Wallace himself, felt obliged to run over to Hillman's luxurious hotel suite and ask his opinion and advice. At the moment, what irks me is Hillman's latest blast before a Congressional committee, defending the CIO and announcing to the world that Gov. Dewey of New York is "not equipped" to be President of these United States. When he was reminded that the CIO had backed Dewey when he was elected as District Attorney, he said that that was another matter. He would even grant that Dewey might make a satisfactory Governor during the war, but that was the limit of his civility.

Well, Mr. Hillman, we shall see.

Many of us are wondering just what is back of Pearson's current campaign to smear Gov. Dewey's associates. To be sure, this is the man whom the White House referred to not so long ago as a "chronic liar." Frankly, when that particular episode took place, it occurred to me that it was barely possible that person had "pulled a fast one" on Mr. Roosevelt and perhaps taken an unfair advantage of him. Now Mr. Pearson seems to be making amends for his unkindness.

Let's look at the record. There are four key-men surrounding the New York Governor and two of them have already been severely criticized by the pugnacious member of the Washington-Merry-Gor-Round. Messrs. Sprague and Jaekle have not, as yet, been given a close-over. Messrs. Brown and Dulles, on the other hand, have been treated rather roughly by Pearson. On Aug. 13 Brownell was accused of having sponsored certain unpopular legislation in New York in 1934—ten long years ago—and on Aug. 27 John Foster Dulles, the foreign policy expert on Gov. Dewey's staff, was publicly spanked for some comments he made in 1939 about the improbability of an Axis attack on the United Nations or, more specifically, the United States.

This is very interesting, indeed. It makes one feel that the administration is worried over the activities of Gov. Dewey's brilliant brain-trust. He is obviously trying to discredit them. At the same time, we find Neal O'Hara making the statement that even the illustrious Mr. Hamilton, chairman of the Democratic National Committee, is willing to admit that the Dewey campaign has made an auspicious start.

It is remarkable how much attention has been given to the letter which Mr. Roosevelt wrote to Wendell Willkie regarding a conference of a non-political nature. What was Willkie's reason for apparently stalling and what was the President's real motive for requesting a conference? I'd like to know. Right now, it is a good guess that Willkie will NOT make his position known until the campaign is at its height. He may even wait until the eleventh hour. However, I shall be greatly surprised if he does not eventually come out for Gov. Dewey, whose views on foreign policy seem to be sound and who to satisfy most of Willkie's influential friends, including our own Junior Senator, Sinclair Weeks. Again, if the 1940 standard-bearer has been sincere in his criticism of New Deal weaknesses and excessive bureaucracy, he can be turned right-about-face and support the man he fought so bitterly four short years ago? Incidentally, he would commit political hari-kari by aligning himself with the President.

One final thought. Has it occurred to my readers that it was very significant that F.D.R. should be giving so much attention to Mr. Willkie? If Dewey is the push-over that many Democrats say he is, why does the President worry about Wendell Willkie's position in the current campaign? Think that over.

1st LT. JOAN N. LANDERS

Promoted to 1st Lieut.

INDIA — (Special to Newton Graphic) — Miss Joan Nelson Landers, daughter of Mrs. Elizabeth Landers, 82 Collins road, Waban, has been promoted from Second Lieutenant to First Lieutenant. It was announced recently by her commanding officer, Brigadier General G. X. Cheves, Commanding General, Base Section No. 2, at an East Indian post.

Miss Landers is a physical therapy aide, in the Army Nurses Corps, and has been in the Army since March 1943. She has been in the China-Burma-India Theatre since January of this year. She is now stationed at a general hospital in an East India port, which leads the world in the handling of vitally needed war materials.

If Your Baby Must Travel in Wartime

The U. S. Government Printing Office has what promises to be a new best seller, IF YOUR BABY MUST TRAVEL IN WARTIME — issued today by the Children's Bureau, U. S. Department of Labor. Before publication, orders had piled up for large quantities of the pamphlet from railroads and other organizations, public and private, that are helping mothers and their babies through difficult journeys under wartime conditions.

Illustrated by Gluyas Williams of Newton the pamphlet tells in a lively manner what to do in making traveling with a baby as easy as possible in the transportation system, the baby, and the mother. It warns the mother what to expect before she sets out and gives her practical advice on equipment for herself and her baby. It also helps her meet the major difficulty of feeding the baby en route.

Single copies of IF YOUR BABY MUST TRAVEL IN WARTIME may be obtained free from the Children's Bureau, U. S. Department of Labor. Bulk orders at small cost are being handled by the Superintendent of Documents, U. S. Government Printing Office, Washington, D. C.

(Special to Newton Graphic) AIR SERVICE COMMAND DEPOT, "Somewhere in Ireland" — Private First Class John A. Driscoll of Newton Centre now is in Northern Ireland, serving as a stock record clerk in the Air Corps Supply Division at a large repair depot of the Air Service Command, United States Strategic Air Forces in Europe.

As stock record clerk, Pvt. Driscoll helps keep records which enable supply men to lay their hands on any item of equipment necessary in the repair and modification of the planes which support the forces of liberation in Normandy.

A member of the Armed Forces since April 4, 1943, Pvt. Driscoll has been in the European Theatre of Operations approximately nine months. He attended Newton High School and the Bentley School of Accounting and Finance, and in civilian life was employed as an automobile underwriter by the Liberty Mutual Insurance Company.

He is the husband of Mrs. Reita J. Driscoll of 20 Braeland avenue, Newton Centre, Mass.

(Special to Newton Graphic) AN EIGHTH AAF FIGHTER STATION, ENGLAND — By purchasing a new bond, Corporal Thomas D. MacNeil, whose wife, Mrs. Phyllis MacNeil, resides at 111 Oakleigh road, Newton, Mass., has been issued a membership card in the Eighth Air Force Victory Square War Bond Drive.

His purchase brought Colonel Donald W. Graham's P-51 Mustang base closer to the quota of $53,000 and helped the Eighth Air Force's total quota of six million dollars.

Proceeds from the bonds will be used to buy and equip a "Victory Squadron" of airplanes to be used by the Eighth Air Force.

Word has been received of the promotion of Cpl. Robert P. Fitzgerald to Sergeant at an air base in New Guinea. Robert, enlisted over 26 months ago and has spent 15 months overseas. He has been awarded the Unit Citation and the Meritorious Medal.

He is a graduate of Our Lady's High School class of 1939.

He is the son of Mrs. Mary Fitzgerald of Elmwood street, Newton. His brother, S/Sgt. Thomas C. Arps in England.

S-Sgt. Carle In 53 Missions

AT A 12TH AAF B-26 MARAUDER BASE — Staff Sgt. Russell K. Carle, 23, 358 Wallam street, West Newton, Mass., who has flown 53 combat missions as tail gunner of a B-26 Marauder, insists that the missions get easier all the time.

Sergeant Carle opened his combat career with three successive missions over the Anzio beachhead, noted at the time for the Mediterranean's hottest flak concentration. "They broke me in right," he says, "and since that none of my missions have seemed very tough."

In trouble but twice during his 53 missions both occasions it was over Anzio, Sergeant Carle points out. The first time one engine quit due to mechanical trouble and on a later mission flak punctured the gas tank, allowing the gasoline to leak over the exhaust stack. "We made it into Naples both times without trouble," he remembers, "but we sweated it out. The second time I counted about 50 flak holes in the plane."

Flying with the oldest medium bomb group in the Mediterranean theater, he has attacked targets in both Italy and southern France, including Florence, Rome, Cassino, the Abbey of Montecassino and rail bridges in the Po and Rhone valleys.

For his missions, he has been awarded the Air Medal and is also entitled to wear the Distinguished Unit Badge, denoting the recent twin presidential citations of his unit.

Sergeant Carle's wife and 11-month-old son live at 19 Auburn street, West Newton. He is a graduate of Newton High School, and worked as an office clerk for Estabrook & Co., Boston, before entering the AAF June 16, 1942. A graduate of the Tyndall Field, Fla., aerial gunnery school, he has been overseas seven months.

Pvt. Piselli Is German Prisoner

Pvt. Daniel Piselli, 21, son of Mr. and Mrs. Loreto Piselli of 26 Levee road, West Newton, who previously had been reported as missing in action, was captured by the Nazis and taken to a prison camp in Germany according to word received by his parents from the War Department.

Pvt. Piselli according to the telegram was taken as a prisoner on June 27 a few days after he had "written his parents describing a visit to Rome."

Pvt. Piselli was graduated from the Newton High School in 1941 and before entering the Army was employed by the New York, New Haven & Hartford R. R. He was inducted into the Army September 15, 1943 and went overseas last February.

His brother Joseph Piselli who has been training at Northwestern University is soon to be commissioned an ensign. He had two other brothers, Edmund and Edminio and two sisters, Mary and Lucy.

The award of the Bronze Star for "meritorious service" to Capt. C. Evan Johnson, Newton High School hockey coach on military leave of absence, has been announced by the Eighth Air Force in England.

In a letter received by his wife, Mrs. Jean Johnson of 9 Proctor street, Newtonville, Capt. Johnson said he had received the award for "doing his job," but gave no details.

A graduate of Colby College, Capt. Johnson entered the Army Air Forces as an Intelligence officer in May, 1942, with the commission of first lieutenant. He was recently transferred to the Administration Department of the Eighth Air Force in England. In addition to teaching and coaching at Newton High, Capt. Johnson was the director of the Newton Y.M.C.A. summer camp Frank A. Day in Brookfield.

Pvt. William J. Jasset Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. William Jasset Sr., of 148 Pearl street, Newton, Mass., has been assigned to the AAF Training Command Radio School at the Sioux Falls Army Air Field, Sioux Falls, S. D., for training as a radio operator-mechanic. Upon completion of a 20-week course, he will be fully trained to take his place as a member of a highly skilled bomber crew of the Army Air Forces.

Before entering the service he was with Little, Brown and Co., Inc., 24 Beacon street, Boston. He was graduated from the Newton High School in 1942 where he played varsity hockey. He was inducted Nov. 18, 1942, at Boston as an Aviation Cadet.

(Special to Newton Graphic) AN EIGHTH AAF BOMBER STATION, ENGLAND — 2nd Lt. George F. Hennrikus, of 957 Boylston street, Newton Highlands, bombardier on a B-17 Flying Fortress, has been awarded the Air Medal for "meritorious achievement" while participating in sustained combat operations over enemy occupied continental Europe, it recently was announced by the Commanding General of the Eighth Air Force.

The citation accompanying the award read in part: "The courage, coolness and skill displayed by this officer upon these occasions reflect great credit upon himself and the Armed Forces of the United States."

Lt. Hennrikus, son of Major and Mrs. George F. Hennrikus, North Tarrytown, New York, received his training at Santa Ana, California; Los Vegas, Nevada; Carlsbad, New Mexico, and Sioux City,

NEWTON In The Past

55 Years Ago

Newton Graphic, August 30, 1889
There is a greater demand than ever this season for small houses at a moderate rent, and apparently a desirable house will be left vacant by another month. The lack of such houses is all that keeps Newton from a rapid increase in population.

The corner stone of the new Methodist Church on Washington street, Newton Lower Falls, was laid with impressive services yesterday morning. The ceremonies were conducted by the pastor of the society, Rev. Arthur Page Sharp, assisted by Rev. Mr. Wells, rector of St. Mary's Episcopal church.

It won't do for a man to ride his cycle on the sidewalk even late in the evening, owing to the vigilance of the police who construe the law literally. There is not so much danger of pedestrians late at night that there is during the day, however.

Echo Bridge is still a great attraction for visitors to the Upper Falls.

Newton Graphic, August 31, 1894
50 years ago

Notices on the hearing on the widening of Washington street, Newton, to be held Sept. 10th, were distributed this week. In some cases it is not easy to find the owners of the estates affected, many of said owners being non-resident.

The electric lights on Washington street, Lower Falls, failed to illuminate three of the darkest nights possible last week. In places where the street is shaded much, a person not accustomed to the sidewalk, would find it difficult to keep on it.

Children must be vaccinated before entering the public schools of Newton. Parents and guardians please take notice.

Miss Marion G. Noyes, who has been assistant at the Newton Centre post office since Mr. Ellis took the postmastership, relinquishes her position there on Saturday. Her departure will be regretted not only by Postmaster Ellis, to whom she has proved a valuable assistant, but also by the public whom she has so efficiently and obligingly served.

The Middlesex & Boston announce a new fare increase. In effect, the new schedule places the Newton and Waltham lines in the ten-cent class. In addition, all transfers will cost twelve cents. This is practically a five-cent increase to patrons who have been riding on seven-cent lines and using transfer privileges.

In response to repeated demands from citizens for more of the surplus Army food, Sealer of Weights and Measures Andrew Prior has placed orders for 500 cases each of jams, peas, and corn. As soon as these arrive they will be placed on sale at the four distribution points used in other food sales.

Iowa. He was graduated from Newton High School, Newton. Before entering the Army January 28, 1943 he was employed by Liberty Mutual Insurance Co., Boston.

An Eighth AAF Composite Station, England (Special to Graphic) — Sergeant Sidney S. Canter, 24, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Canter, 14 Noble street, West Newton, is one of the busiest soldiers on the P-47 Thunderbolt fighter training station where he is located. Chief clerk in the publications section, he has charge of turning out printing and mimeographing work for the entire station.

Such things as the station newspaper edited and published by the enlisted men on the field, the daily special orders of the commanding officer, directives issued by the various departments, and the station daily bulletin, are example of the work printed in Sgt. Canter's section. The Sergeant has been serving overseas since August of 1942.

Sgt. Canter attended Waltham High School and was graduated in the class of 1938. He later entered Boston University majoring in business administration. Prior to entering military service in January of 1942, he was sales manager for the Packard Paper Box Company of Malden. His father, Mr. Joseph Canter, is an executive of the same concern.

(Special to Newton Graphic) 15TH AAF IN ITALY — Captain Robert H. Brown, 26, 5 Montrose street, Newton, Mass., an engineering officer in a 15th AAF P-51 Mustang fighter squadron, has been awarded the Air Medal. The award was presented by Lt. Colonel Chester L. Sluder, San Antonio, Texas, commanding officer of the group.

The citation for the medal states: "For meritorious achievement in aerial flight while participating in sustained operational activities against the enemy between the dates June 2 and June 11, 1944."

The operational activity to which the citation refers was the historical first Italy to Russia shuttle mission. Capt. Brown was a member of the task force which handled the administration, supply, and maintenance of the Mustang fighter group's planes during operations.

Capt. Brown has been on active overseas duty in the Mediterranean theatre for nineteen months. In addition to the Air Medal, he wears the African-European-Middle East campaign ribbon with three clusters and the Distinguished Unit

John T. Webster
John Thomas Webster of 44 Thaxter road, Newtonville, died at his home on Monday, August 28. Mr. Webster was in his 68th year and had been a resident of Newton for about 30 years. He was born in Nimevah, New York, the son of Sidney S. and Jane (Smith) Webster. He had for over 40 years been a salesman for the Ziemer Co., of Pittsburgh, Pa., a drug concern.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Elizabeth (Haskins) Webster, a daughter, Mrs. Helen W. Stuart of West Newton, two sons, Sidney H. of Los Angeles, California, and Charles Smith Webster of Maplewood, New Jersey, and eight grandchildren.

Funeral services are being held at 2 o'clock this afternoon at his home, Rev. Randolph S. Merrill of the Central Congregational Church officiating. Burial will be at Derry, New Hampshire, where a short service will be held.

Edwardo Artayeta

Funeral services for Edwardo Artayeta, Argentine Consul in Boston, who died on Friday, August 25, were held from his home, 20 Rogers street, Newton Highlands on Monday morning. A solemn mass of requiem was celebrated in the Sacred Heart Church, Newton Centre at 10 o'clock by Bishop Wright, D.D., secretary to Bishop Richard J. Cushing, assisted by Rev. James T. Cotter, Ph. D., deacon, and Rev. Bernard Winn, D.D., sub-deacon. Rev. Francis X. Murray was master of ceremonies.

Seated in the sanctuary were Rev. William J. Murphy, S.J., president of Boston College; Rev. Columba Sullivan, S.J., of Boston College; Rev. Francis Moran, S.T.L., assistant editor of the Pilot and Rev. E. W. Smith, Home Missioner of America. Burial was in St. Joseph's Cemetery, West Roxbury.

Citation ribbon with one cluster. A graduate of Winthrop, Mass., High School and Northeastern University, Boston, Capt. Brown entered the armed service in May, 1941. He was promoted to the grade of Captain in March, 1944.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

What Makes

"A Real American Town?"

Visitor said to me the other day: "Joe, you've got a real American town here—a town you can be proud of."

Afterwards, I got to wondering just what he meant. We aren't much different from any other town our size. A few nice stores... a village green... and 27 blue stars on the Service Flag in Town Hall.

Not much exciting happens, either. We work hard... have our Friday evening socials at the Parish House... and the kids play baseball and go fishing...

In our private life, we live and let live. If we often disagree on politics... if some of us like beer, some buttermilk... we still respect one another's rights and opinions.

What makes our town "American"? From where I sit, it's not because we're different but because we're so much like all other towns that add up to America—where self respect and tolerance are guiding principles.

Joe Marsh

In addition to the Air Medal with five Oak Leaf Clusters, Lt. Kline has been awarded the Distinguished Flying Cross "for extraordinary achievement while participating in aerial flights in the North African Theater of Operations." His citation reads, in part: "Consistently, throughout many combat missions against highly important and strategic enemy installations, he has demonstrated the highest order of professional skill, heroism, leadership, and devotion to duty. Although regularly and frequently opposed by large numbers of enemy fighters, together with intense, accurate, and heavy anti-aircraft fire, during which his aircraft were at times seriously damaged, he and his comrades have fought through to their targets and aided in the destruction of these vital objectives. His conspicuous and extraordinary achievements throughout these many missions against the enemy have been of inestimable value to successful combat operations and have reflected great credit upon himself and the Armed Forces of the United States of America."

At the completion of his present leave, Lt. Kline will report to the Army Air Forces Redistribution Station at Atlantic City, N. J., where he will be assigned for further duty.

We have the tires proven by

3 BILLION MILES

B. F. Goodrich all-synthetic Silvertowns

IF ANYONE still has doubts about tires built with man-made rubber, here's clear-cut performance proof: by the most conservative estimate, essential drivers have already rolled over 3 billion miles on B. F. Goodrich all-synthetic Silvertowns.

Letters have come in from drivers all over the country reporting complete satisfaction. Most of them have expressed confidence that all-synthetic Silvertowns will give at least as much mileage as pre-war tires.

The 80,000,000-mile road test was the first proof that B. F. Goodrich could build high-performance tires with synthetic rubber. The test started almost two years before Pearl Harbor when B. F. Goodrich sold tires in which more than half the rubber was synthetic. They were the first synthetic tires ever offered for sale to the American public. Building and testing them gave B. F. Goodrich the valuable backlog of experience which is now showing up in the performance of today's all-synthetic Silvertowns.

So, see us at once if you are eligible for new tires. If inspection shows that you need new tires, we will fill out and handle your application for these proven B. F. Goodrich Silvertowns.

"WHAT'S COOKIN' IN NEWTON"

Merry-go-round -

... Bob Fitzgerald has been promoted to sergeant. Bob's with the bombers in New Guinea. ... Cpl. Sal Galliger, a pretty rugged half back during his high school days, is now making end runs in France, via tank. He's still hanging on, he writes, and hopes to continue to Berlin. It's cool here in Newton. Topcoats are worn after sunset. ... Eleven by the clock is certain time for the Garden City these days. Few lights show around town and automobile traffic diminishes after dark. ... Uniforms are plentiful, but the wearers are usually strangers. ... Visiting servicemen enjoy dancing at the Totem Pole and the buses, on dance nite, are crowded. ... Police are vigorously enforcing the traffic laws. ... One motorcycle officer, Frank Turner, broke his watch while pursuing a speeder and, so to pull his calls on time, brought along the family alarm clock which he strapped to his motorcycle each evening. ... The days are getting shorter. ... There's a new sandwich and ice cream shop in the Corner, "Nan's". ... A new meat market, also. Things are looking up. ... The City's Highway Department is resurfacing numerous streets. That's a help, too, for many of them are in pretty bad shape. ... The big trailer trucks which have been steadily hauling war supplies through here since 1941, are beginning to show signs of excessive wear. They're breaking down often and the repair crews are on the go every night. ... The majority of taxis operating in Boston, too, are also giving up the mechanical ghost here and there. Cab Co's are buying any make of sedan available, so to continue transporting the public. ... Filling stations have been displaying "no gas" signs for a week. The staff is scarce and will continue to be for a little while longer, they say. ... Buses and trolleys are still carrying capacity crowds day and night. ... Synthetic tires, believed at one time to be much inferior to tires of natural rubber, are giving surprisingly good performances. ... All of the Garden City's drug stores close at 10 p. m. However, if their wares are needed urgently, the druggists will re-open. ... There was a shortage of liquors until the Government allowed distillers to manufacture the old pepu-uppago again. Since then, shelves of the liquor dealers have sprouted an almost full assortment. ... They probably waved a magic wand. ... Now it's beer and ale that's short. ... Wreckers are tearing down the Adams School at the corner of Crafts and Watertown streets. A famous old landmark of tender memory to many in that section of Newtonville. It was used as a headquarters by the W.P.A. during the depression years. ... A couple of British Marines, riding past the partially demolished building in a taxi, one recent evening, thought it had been bombed. "They got that one all right," observed one. "Who got what?" inquired the startled driver, elegantly. "They got it," answered the Marine, surprised at the question. The taxi driver grinned. "Naw," he said, "they're just tearing that old eyecore down so's to make a park there." The Marine was skeptical. Turning to his companion, he inquired, "Is he pulling my leg?"

Sports in a Nutshell

By Bill Sullivan

The American League race is still one of the closest this League has known. St. Louis Browns lead by 3½ games over Boston and 4 games over the Yankees and Tigers. The Browns are back in the lead, having won 8 and lost 12 on their last trip east. They won 3, lost 1 to New York, split even with the Sox but lost 3 and won 1 to Phil. Wash. and Detroit with 3 consecutive shutouts. The Yankees put on a great spurt after the kicking St. Louis gave them, winning 12, losing 8 and the cry went up "here come the Yanks" but Brother, these Yanks don't scare anyone. McCarthy is doing a great job to keep them up there and if he brings them in here sure is a pretty good manager.

Detroit is the team that is really going to town, and though they have quite a job on their hands to break down a four game lead with only 32 games to play, Trout, Newhauser, and Overmire might make the trick. Trout and Newhauser have each won 21 games and Overmire is pitching good ball now. Dick Wakefield is playing great ball since rejoining the Tigers and Steve O'Neill gives them credit for helping lift the Detroit's near top, as pitchers hesitate to pass York with Dick coming up.

Our own Red Sox keep us guessing. They have won 12 and lost 10 of their last games but as soon as we think they are done Cronin shakes them up and they bounce right back to get us all excited again. Personally I don't know how Joe does it, but he sure is keeping Boston right up there, even with Hughson and Wagner in the service and Bobby Doerr laid up with a sore back. Hal Wagner has been the best catcher in the league and a great loss to Boston, but all the fans are pleased to have him join the most wonderful team that ever existed, Uncle Sam's team, that all you Boys are on. Everyone knows Cronin has been a great manager that never was or ever will be equalled.

I got quite a kick out of the Sox taking both games from Cleveland the first 8-6 and the second 11-4. There were 59 hits, Boston made 26 and Cleveland 24 including 5 home runs. The score was tied 5 all going into the last half of the seventh inning when Metkovich hit a homer, McBride singled and Jim Tabor hit a homer to end the ball game. Tabor drove in 4 runs and Culbertson 3. Barrett, who relieved Tabor, was the winning pitcher. In the second game Culbertson doubled, Metko singled, Fox tripled, Johnson walked, Doerr doubled, Tabor walked, Wagner singled, Newsome singled for 6 big runs in the first inning, and Cecil, our new pitcher, coasted to his second win. Johnson and Keltner hit home runs in this game.

It was all Boston Sunday, but Cleveland came back to beat the Sox Monday in 13 innings. The Sox tied up the game in the 8th with 2 runs and again in the 11th with 2 runs but failed in the 13th losing 7-6. Cleveland beat them Tuesday 5-3.

In the National league Pittsburgh put on quite a show, winning 11 straight and 15 out of their last 18 games to go into 2nd place but St. Louis have now won 90 games for a record in the National League, for the first time to win this number of games as early as Aug. 28 previously was the Chicago Cubs who won 90 games Aug. 29, 1906.

Mort Cooper won his 100th game in winning for St. Louis. Ken O'Dea hit a homer in the ninth to give St. Louis this victory over Cincinnati 3-2. The Braves have just purchased a second base combination from Milwaukee who are rated very good, Dick Cullen, shortstop and Tom Nelson second baseman. It is reported to have cost the Braves $50,000 in cash and 4 players. Both men will report in 1945 and the names of the players who will go to Milwaukee will be announced later.

Musial of the Cards is the leading batter with 354, Walker of the Dodgers 353, Medwick of Giants 343. Nicholson of the Cubs is leading with 94 runs batted in, Sanders of Cards has 92 and Musial of Cards has 86. Nicholson of Cubs has 28 home runs, Ott of Giants 24 and Northey of Phil. has 16. Bobby Doerr and Pete Fox are leading batters in the American League with 325 and 322. Siebert of the Phil. Athletics is tied with Fox at 322. Stephens of the Browns has 88 runs batted in. Doerr of the Sox 17 and Johnson of the Sox 14. Four players are tied with 15 home runs each. Doerr and Johnson of the Sox, Stephens of the Browns and York of the Tigers.

Boston will have a professional football team this year. Ted Collins of radio fame has spent plenty of money to give Boston a team who should give the other teams quite a battle. Reports from their training quarters are very encouraging and we should have some stiff games this year. Boston College has announced

Message -

"job" seems to characterize you all in training camp and at the front. A fine example to us on the home front. Your kind brother and sisters, in a world strange to them, are doing well. Some may be a bit fuller of mischief, due largely to the lack of restraining influence of big brother. Juvenile delinquency is being emphasized in some quarters, but the boys and girls of America are not going to help.

If a young kid makes mistakes his errors are played up in the press, all of which reminds me of a great New York editor who, when asked by a young reporter "What is news?" replied: "Sorry to have to tell you, but news is sin."

No, the frog pond isn't Boston, and the Bowers isn't New York, and for one youngster who joins there are thousands who are keeping their balance and are living helpful, hopeful lives. What trouble there is (and there is little in Newton) seems to be due to the fact that the kids need their big brother back home to give them an occasional kick in the pants, send them home to bed at the proper hour and advise and counsel with them as to what and what not to do.

Churches are open and the clergy are ever bringing inspiration, comfort, encouragement and cheer to many who are forced to look at life through smoked glasses. War agencies are functioning 100% in their daily tasks and planning with their return.

The goal ahead for all is VICTORY—back home—a job—lasting peace. These can be realized only by clear thinking, a search for finer ways of serving our country, a new and deeper dedication men, a new and deeper dedication of our lives to the purposes for which our country was established, and making of business instead of a cut-throat competition, a cooperative enterprise in the service of the world.

Congratulations on your record, best wishes, and God bless you. No matter where you go, you can't get beyond His care and keeping.

A schedule of five home games so football will be with us soon and we look forward to some good games. Heard from the boys in Italy, France, and the Marshalls who report everything going O.K., and say, "Keep 'What's Cookin' coming their way."

A Prayer

By

Rev. H. Hawer, D.D.
Minister of The Methodist Church in Newton Center, Mass.

Infinite God, Who lovest us better than we know how to love ourselves, uphold us in the midst of life's struggle as we seek to know and to do Thy will. Above the tumult, Thy voice is heard. Within the tangled growth of our experience, Thy righteous purpose is seen. Thou art not indifferent to our great need. Whether it be in the loneliness of separation, or in the agony of suffering grant us Thy peace and the awareness of Thy all-pervading Presence. For this we pray in the Saviour's name. Amen.

ARMY OFFICER'S CAR RECOVERED

After Lt. William Scott, stationed at the Cushing Hospital General Hospital in Framingham, reported that his car was stolen while parked near Norumbega Park, the machine was recovered by Patrolmen Lupien and Cunningham.

The car had been abandoned by the thief and was found by the police and restored to the owner.

LT. SHERMAN, MADE CAPTAIN

The promotion of First Lt. Samuel N. Sherman of 385 Waro street, Newton Center, to captain in the Army Chaplain Corps was announced yesterday by the War Department.

Capt. Sherman is rabbi of the Temple Emanuel, Newton Centre, on military leave of absence.

CLUBS SPONSOR SEND-OFF

The Newton Junior Community Club and the Newton Community Club were co-sponsors of the send-off last Tuesday when 32 selectees left City Hall to be inducted into the armed services.

The Rev. Herbert Hitchen, D.D. delivered his send-off message. Miss Ruth Aldrich, President of the Newton Junior Community Club spoke for the sponsoring clubs.

Other speakers were Judge Thomas Weston, and Mayor Paul M. Goddard. Mr. Roy S. Edwards was master of ceremonies.

In the future inductees will be sent directly to Fort Banks too early in the morning to make public send-offs practical.

3 PROMOTED TO REGULAR DUTY

Three members of the reserve force of the Newton Police Department were promoted to the regular force last Wednesday, including one member who is in the armed forces.

The trio includes Patrolmen Richard J. Bagley and Edward T. Holt, who have been on active duty in the department, and Richard F. Donahue, who is a sergeant in the Army, stationed in the South Pacific. Sgt. Donahue is the son of Patrolman and Mrs. John P. Donahue. His brother, Cpl. John J. Donahue was recently wounded in action in France.

The appointments were announced by Chief Michael T. Hughes. It has been the policy of the department to promote members of the reserve force when vacancies occur even if they are in the armed forces.

28 SOLDIERIES ENTERTAINED A. POMROY HOUSE

The Socialites entertained 28 servicemen at the Pomroy House on Hovey street, Newton, on Saturday. The program included a baseball game, dancing, games and a "weenie" roast.

Mrs. Frederick K. White and Miss Helen Sandstrom were the senior hostesses. The refreshment committee comprised Miss Doris Perkins, Miss Antonette Toel, Miss Virginia Gunn, Miss Bernice Piccirillo, Miss Rhoda White is president of the Socialites.

Newton Merry-Go-Round

By Paul Considine

The newspapers have been Best Sellers here for the past two weeks and Tuesday morning's headlines screaming that Patton's Doughboys were at Chateau-Thierry, the battlefield where their fathers whipped the Germans.

It's a fact that Uncle Sam's G. I. Joes, abroad, are moving so fast that the Home Front just can't keep up with them or even begin to digest newspaper and radio reports of their lightning advances. They're getting the general idea at home, however, that our kids who peacefully toiled and played and attended their studies here, in the pre-war days, are now beating the brains out of those goose stepping stooges, once known as the Mad Paperhanger's Supermen.

Camp Frank A. Day

Sunday evening, August 20, the first campfire of the season was held on the beach under the direction of Mr. Allen. Stories were told by the camp staff. There was singing of camp songs. A thoroughly enjoyable evening was had by all with the reflection of the campfire on the lake providing a beautiful setting for the program. Indeed, it was such a popular gathering with the campers and counselors alike that we had another campfire this past Friday.

Sunday morning, the chapel service was in charge of Mr. Allen. His sermon topic was "Courage". Assisting him were Linden Pettys, who read the scripture lesson, Trevor Davies who led in the responsive reading, Herbert Frary, V. Z. Wong, and Bob Amidon who served as ushers.

Monday evening the regular boxing program was scheduled with the same enthusiastic results. There are always more boxers on deck than there are opportunities to box. That speaks well for the sport and warrants its continuance. Wednesday evening the camp enjoyed the last cook-out of the season. Following the cook-out each tent planned its own program for the evening. They had the privilege of leaving the camp property until bed-time. Many of the tents took advantage of this opportunity and roved across the lake.

Thursday evening the feature movie was "Cherokee Strip", a western picture. Friday was lazy morning. Breakfast was not served until 9 o'clock. The athletic program is going full tilt. There is very close competition in the junior line for the honor banner between tents 9 and 11. The annual minstrel show is scheduled for this evening, and Tuesday evening is the date for the final banquet when many of the YMCA officials will be the guests of honor.

Speaker Lauds Capt. John Shade Franklin At Kiwanis Meeting

Guests at the Kiwanis Club meeting on Tuesday, August 29, at the Newton YMCA were Clarence Ahlberg, John H. Miller, Norman Hale, George Ayer and John Howarth. President Walter Hood announced that there would be a directors meeting at the home of Dr. Ernest A. Marcoux, 34 Eldredge street, Newton on Tuesday, September 5 at 7:30. Prizes were awarded to Jack Cable, Frank Battles and William Paine. The principal speaker, introduced by Leonard Baker, Chairman of the Program Committee for August, was Supply Staff Sgt. Robert Brooks, Co. H, 102nd Infantry, Concord. He has just returned from 22 months in the South Pacific and told of his experiences during the battles of Guadalcanal and Bougainville. Sgt. Brooks spoke of Captain John Shade Franklin and the wonderful work he has been doing in combat areas. He stated that Captain Franklin is one of the heroes of this war. He has seen him in fox holes suffering hardships while giving comfort to the boys around him. The boys love and respect him and because of his close companionship with them he has been very successful in his difficult and important work. Sgt. Brooks stressed the importance of the people in the service receiving mail from home, particularly from their fathers, who are apt to only add a few lines to a letter written by some other member of the family. He also told of the valuable blood plasma that saved so many lives in these battles and how we at home should continue to donate blood.

Ensign William C. Wyman Graduates From School

FOR INSTRUCTORS
U. S. NAVAL AIR STATION, New Orleans, La., Aug. 16—(Special to the Graphic)—Honor graduates of the Navy's School for Primary Flight Instructors here include Ensign William C. Wyman, 21-year-old Naval aviator from West Newton.

The fiercer, son of Mrs. William C. Wyman, 10 Myrtle street, West Newton, was awarded his certificate as a qualified primary flight instructor by the station's commanding officer, Commander F. M. Reeder, at graduation exercises held last week.

The commander praised Ensign Wyman for his record here, declaring, "Ensign Wyman was an outstanding student and should be one of the Navy's best flight instructors. His task of training the combat pilots who must deal the final blow to the Axis is one of the most important in this war, for upon how well he trains his students depends the calibre of the flyers who meet the enemy in action."

Ensign Wyman has been assigned to the Naval Air Station at Ottumwa, Iowa.

We were glad to have President Orville back with us last Friday. Perley Hillard introduced our guest speaker, Rev. Bliss Wyant of Yenching University, Pekin, China, a teacher of music. He told us that the Chinese people love beautiful things and their whole makeup of dress and surroundings have a background of beauty. In China, you enter a restaurant through the kitchen which is noted for its cleanliness. The small merchants of China carry their wares through the streets to the householder, who is notified of his presence and type of goods for sale by his particular sound of musical instrument. The Chinese people are religious and are very thankful to God for everything they receive. Families in China can trace their people back sixty generations. Pekin, before the Japanese took possession, had some of the finest schools and hospitals connected with the Rockefeller Foundation. Rev. Mr. Wyant feels the Chinese will recover a ter the war in a very short space of time.

Becomes Kiwanian

MILWAUKEE MILORGANITE
THE IDEAL FERTILIZER
for LAWNS, GARDENS, FLOWERS, SHRUBS AND TREES

NOW IS THE TIME TO GIVE TIRED GRASS A FRESH START!

Revitalize "summer weary" grass with a fall application of Milorganite. Unlike most plants, grass grows vigorously in the fall . . . provided dwindling soil fertility is restored by generous feeding. Milorganite is the ideal fertilizer to use because it contains all the elements needed by grass.

Supplied in 25-, 50-, and 100-pound sift-proof bags.

Golf clubs use more Milorganite than any other fertilizer. They know from long experience that it is the ideal fertilizer. Profit by their example. Fertilize with Milorganite this fall for greener, more luxuriant lawns now and NEXT year, too.

MOTHER RECEIVES MEDAL FOR SON AT CEREMONY

On Saturday afternoon at a ceremony on Boston Common Mrs. Hanson received the Congressional Medal of Honor for her son, the presentation being made by Brig. Gen. Lewis G. Merritt.

Gen. Merritt in presenting the Medal said: "We have gathered here on what is sacred ground in our nation's history to bestow this nation's highest Military honor on one of her most distinguished fighting sons." Gen. Merritt said, "Certainly the valor and invincible fighting spirit of Lt. Hanson has brought great credit to his own name, to his family and friends, to his home region and most assuredly to the United States Marine Corps."

In accepting the Medal from General Merritt Mrs. Hanson said that the nation was honoring not only her son but all Marines and others who had given all they had to their country. "I should like you to carry my gratitude," she stated "to the President and to the Congress for this great honor. I know that through it our nation pays tribute to all its brave sons everywhere."

Governor Leverett Saltonstall, who on the previous day had received word of the death of his own son, Sgt. Peter Saltonstall, at Guam, spoke at the ceremonies.

HOLD FINAL GROUP SWIM AT LAKE

The final in a series of group swims at Crystal Lake, Newton Centre, was held Friday by 30 boys and girls of the Thompsonville Playground under the supervision of Miss Grace Murphy. A picnic and games followed the swim at the Newton Centre Playground.

The swimming series was arranged by the Newton Recreation Department for groups from various city playgrounds. Non-swimmers and beginners received free instruction under the auspices of the Red Cross and the recreation Department.

"DERMEN APPROPRIATE $10,500 FOR PLAYGROUND LAND

The Board of Aldermen at their meeting on Monday night voted an appropriation of $10,500 to acquire land between Montrose street, Newton Centre and Fellsmead road, for the purpose of a playground. Residents of the section of Newton Centre east of Centre street and north of Commonwealth avenue have for several years been asking that a playground be established in that section, the only one in the district at present being located at the Ward School, for the use of children of elementary school age.

The expenditure of $1,700 by the Street Department for the construction of Walnut Hill road from Kendall road to Parker avenue under the betterment law was authorized by the board. An appropriation of $15,000 for the Department of sidewalks was also made by the board; $1,250 additional for construction of a sewer in Exeter street, West Newton; $362 for the Engineering Dept. for auto maintenance and $1,500 for the Water Department for maintenance.

The Water Department was authorized to expend $1,930 for removal of the present four inch main on Murphy court to be replaced with a cement lined 6 inch main.

For settlement of the claim of Agnes Halloran for damages resulting from an accident the board voted an appropriation of $500. Hearings were held on the acceptance of Parmenter Terrace, West Newton and Moody street, Newton Centre. These projects being referred to the public works committee for consideration.

Renewal of auctioneer licenses were granted to the following applicants: Charles Kenneth Anderson, 36 Pine Crest road, Ward 3; William Lundstrom, 155 Summer street, Ward 6; Paul Harris Drake, 25 Atherton place Ward 4.

REV. NORTON NAMED CURATE AT THE CHURCH OF OUR LADY

Rev. Arthur I. Norton, formerly of St. Rose's Church in Chelsea, was recently appointed as a curate at the Church of Our Lady, Newton, where he began his new duties on Tuesday. He will succeed Fr. Thomas P. Fallon, who has been appointed administrator of the Sacred Heart Church, Midbury.

An attempt by two boys to steal their beach wagon was reported recently to Newton police by Mrs. M. A. Amendola of 304 Adams street, Newton.

The report stated that the boys got the car out of the yard onto Adams street and left it there. One boy is described as being 15 years old and wearing a blue shirt. The other is described as being 16 years old, very thin, and wearing a stripe shirt.

GOVERNOR'S SON KILLED IN ACTION

Marine Corps Sergeant Peter Brook Saltonstall, 23, son of Massachusetts' Governor Leverett Saltonstall, was killed while leading a patrol in the jungles of northern Guam. The day after he got the news of Peter's death, Governor Saltonstall spoke at a Boston meeting for Marine Aviator Lieut. Robert M. Hanson, winner of the Congressional Medal of Honor.

A patrol under Saltonstall's charge had strung out along a narrow jungle trail when a Marine shouted that there was a Jap behind a nearby log. A pitched battle lasting five minutes ensued. Then a small band of trapped Japs charged, throwing hand grenades.

Unaware that one of his men had been killed and three others had been wounded, Saltonstall ordered his patrol to close in. He was killed in the ensuing action.

Sgt. Saltonstall was chief of the instrument section in a gun battery of Marines handling heavy artillery. He enlisted in January, 1942, and went overseas more than two years ago.

AWAKES TO SAVE SELF FROM FUMES

Awaking in the nick of time, Lawrence Daly, 25, of 341 Lincoln avenue, Newtonville, saved himself from death from escaping illuminating gas Wednesday morning.

Taken to the Newton Hospital by Newton police, Duffy was admitted for treatment and is expected to be released in a day or two without suffering any after effects.

Patrolman John G. Murray and Louis J. Cedrone responded to Duffy's call for assistance and took him to the hospital.

HOUSE RANSACKED OFF CHESTNUT HILL

The unoccupied house at 71 Waban Hill road, Chestnut Hill was entered and ransacked between 4 p. m., Aug. 12, and 7:30 a. m., Aug. 16, according to a report to Newton Police made by Otto Gerner, owner.

Entrance was gained through a bullock and by forcing a door leading from the cellar to the first floor, according to the report.

PLAYGROUNDS HOLD "NICKEL DAY"

More than 60 children of the Eden Avenue and Wellington playgrounds in West Newton held a "Nickel Day" program at Norumbega Park, Auburndale, yesterday.

A picnic lunch was followed by visits to the park amusements. Arrangements were made by John F. Donahue, supervisor; Miss Mary Vera Catherine Albino and Miss Ann Nolan, playground directors.

SOLDIER IN SOLOMONS TAKES NO CHANCES

"Chaplain, is you all got a Catholic prayer book?" a chaplain was asked by a Negro soldier while on duty in the Solomon Islands.

"Yes, here's one," replied the chaplain. "But, tell me, aren't you the fellow I gave a Protestant Bible to the other day?"

"Right you is, suh," came back the reply. "At a time like this I'se takin' no chances."

AUTOMOBILE STOLEN

An auto owned by William Perlmuter, 38 Lathrop street, Newton, was stolen opposite his home, the owner reported to the police today.

The car vanished between 12 midnight and 8 a. m. and up to noon today it had not been recovered.

PLAYGROUND ROAD CLOSED TO VEHICLES

For the safety of children using the Auburndale Playground and bathing beach, Forest Grove road, which runs through the playground, has been ordered closed to public vehicular traffic by the Newton Recreation Commission.

The road was barred to the public when it was under the supervision of the Metropolitan District Commission, but when it was turned over to the City of Newton in 1938 the ban was relaxed. Recreation Commissioner F. Ewing Wilson explained. In the past years automobile traffic has been increasing on the road, endangering children who go from the playground to the beach and those playing on the baseball diamond.

Recent Weddings

Coady - Orr

Miss Ida May Orr of Arkansas and Lt. Com. Clement Duane Coady of 22 Warren avenue, West Newton, were married Saturday, August 19 in Westfield, N. J.

Lt. Com. Coady is the son of the late Dr. P. J. Coady and Mrs. M. D. Coady of Newton. He attended Newton High School and Exeter Academy and was graduated from Harvard in 1927, where, as a senior, he was captain of the Harvard football team. He also played hockey and baseball. Shepardson - Senigo

Wearing an afternoon gown of aqua and silver lame, Miss Terry Lorraine Senigo became the bride on Friday, August 25, of Lt. (j.g.) James Blish Shepardson of Shaker Heights, Ohio. The four o'clock ceremony was performed by Rev. Ernest M. Fowler of the First Methodist Church of East Greenbush, N. Y., at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John R. Senigo of 239 Woodland road, Auburndale.

The bride's veil was of aqua net with small white ostrich plumes. She wore a corsage of white roses and baby's breath. The matron of honor, Mrs. Marjorie Senigo Fowler, who played the wedding march on the violin, wore rose sheer and a corsage of pink roses and baby's breath. Mrs. Senigo wore white sheer embroidered in pastels with a corsage of roses. Lt. (j.g.) Dana Allen was the best man.

Lt. Shepardson was graduated from the University of California and is a communication officer. He and Mrs. Shepardson will live in San Diego, California.

De Ramio - Donlan

Miss Katherine A. Donlan, became the bride Saturday morning of Albert A. DeRamio, son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew DeRamio of Waltham. Rev. Francis P. Sullivan officiated at the double ring ceremony at 9 o'clock in St. Bernard's Church, West Newton. A reception followed at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Patrick J. Donlan of 45 Kensington street, Newtonville.

Miss Teresa Donlan was the maid of honor for her sister and the bridesmaids were Miss Celia Gentile of Newtonville and Miss Rose DeRamio of Waltham. Thomas Butler of Newton was the best man and the ushers were Watson Locke of Waltham and Alphons Bertrand of Newtonville. The bride wore a gown of white tulle and carried a bouquet of white roses and stephanotis. Her maid of honor, Miss Dorothy Sears of Winthrop, wore yellow organza and carried delphinium.

The best man was Nelson Lathmore of Lynnfield. The ushers were Dr. George Walter of Jamaica Plain and Robert M. Imrie of Waban.

On their return from a trip to New York and Washington, Mr. and Mrs. DeRamio will live at 99 Overland road, Waltham.

Hager - Davenport

Ensign Rachel E. Davenport, U. S. Navy Nurse Corps, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred V. Davenport of Orange, and Wendell P. Hager, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lester L. Hager of Greenfield, were married Saturday evening in the Eliot Congregational Church, Newton. The six o'clock, double ring ceremony, was performed by President Everett A. Erick of the Andover Newton Theological School.

With her formal dress whites, the bride carried a white Bible. The matron of honor, Mrs. Dean Wheeler, of Cambridge, sister of the bride, wore an aqua sharkskin suit with white accessories and white gardenias. Mrs. Davenport and Mrs. Hager both wore navy blue with white accessories. Dean Wheeler was the best man for Mr. Hager.

The bride was graduated from the New Salem Academy and the Springfield Hospital Training School for Nurses. She has been stationed at Quonset Point, R. I. Mr. Hager was graduated from Mount Hermon School and Colgate University. He is associate boys' work secretary at the Newton Y.M.C.A.

Following a cruise down the St. Lawrence and Saguenay Rivers, Mr. and Mrs. Hager will be at home after September 11 at 146 Pearl street, Newton.

Walker - Barker

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar S. Barker of 24 Otis street, Newtonville, announce the marriage of their daughter, Miss Evelyn Barker, to William Edward Walker, son of Mr. and Mrs. William R. Walker of Winchester, which took place Aug. 19 in the Central Congregational Church, Newtonville. The Rev. Randolph Merrill officiated and a reception followed at Brae Burn Cottage.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of white net and brocade and a short tulle veil and carried a bouquet of white roses and stephanotis. Her maid of honor, Miss Dorothy Sears of Winthrop, wore yellow organza and carried delphinium.

The best man was Nelson Lathmore of Lynnfield. The ushers were Dr. George Walter of Jamaica Plain and Robert M. Imrie of Waban.

Upchurch - Smith

The Naval Air Station Chapel in Pensacola, Florida, was the scene of the wedding of Patricia May Smith, daughter of Prof. and Mrs. H. Augustine Smith of Newton Highlands, and Ensign Beaul Austin Upchurch, U. S. Naval Air Corps, of Durham, N. Carolina. Vows were said at 4 p.m., Tuesday, August 15, with Lieut. John P. Stump, U.S.N.R., officiating.

Robert M. Timke, U.S.N.R., rendered organ selections and the traditional wedding marches. Floor standards of white gladioli and asters were placed against a background of ferns and other greenery. A seven-branched candelabra holding burning tapers lighted the chapel for the ceremony.

The bride was attired in a gown of white brocade satin fashioned with a sweetheart neckline, pleated bodice, and bouffant skirt ending in a court train. The leg o' mutton sleeves ended in points over her wrists, and self-covered buttons extended the length of her bodice. A fingertip length tulle veil was arranged, coronet style, with orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of white tuberoses centered by a single orchid. Matron of honor and the bride's only attendant was Mrs. Vinson Hamlin, sister of the bridegroom. She wore a gown of heavenly blue silk marquisette over taffeta. Her bouquet was in pastel shades. Ushers were Ensign John H. Friedman of Stamford, Conn., and Ensign Charles A. Clark of Winnetka, Ill.

Immediately following the wedding, Miss Luile Eddins, daughter of Commander and Mrs. A. H. Eddins, entertained at an informal party at the home of her parents on the Naval Air Base. Guests then proceeded to the Officer's Club for dinner.

Mrs. Upchurch graduated from Newton High School in 1940 and from Duke University in 1944. Ensign Upchurch graduated from Durham High School and also studied at Duke. He is stationed at Lake City, Fla., where they will make their home temporarily as he will receive operational training before joining a combat squadron.

Barlow - Bigelow

Miss Natalie Bigelow and Lt. (j.g.) Norman McLeod Barlow, U. S. Coast Guard, son of Mr. and Mrs. Chester A. Barlow of Tiverton, R. I., were married Wednesday afternoon, August 23, by Herbert Hitchen, D.D., minister of the First Unitarian Society in West Newton.

The home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. George H. Bigelow of 26 Holden road, West Newton was decorated with ferns, palms and flowers for the 4:30 o'clock ceremony. A dinner at the Abner Wheeler House, Framingham, followed for the wedding party.

The bride wore an apron effect gown of aqua petty point and a pink veil with two shades of rose ostrich feathers. She carried a bouquet of pastel sweetheart roses with an orchid center. Mrs. Raymond Westgate was the matron of honor. She wore light blue and carried pink, blue and white flowers. Mrs. Bigelow wore blue lace while Mrs. Barlow chose blue and white sheer. Raymond Westgate of Fall River was the best man.

Dining With Jane and Bill

Bill: Say Jane, what are your plans for Saturday night? I'd like to have a couple of the fellows from the shop out for dinner.

Jane: Sure bring them along. I hadn't planned to do anything special. Let's see—we've got plenty of vegetables from the garden, but it's the meat I'm worried about.

Bill: Well don't worry, I've got my mind all made up for steak. I can pick it up after work Saturday.

Jane: Say, wait a minute! You're forgetting I have to watch how I spend red points! Steak's high in points and also costs plenty.

Bill: Oh! d— those points! Why can't we get what we want when we want it?

Jane: Bill, don't talk that way. You sound as if you weren't willing to make any sacrifices. You're not thinking what you're saying. We've been getting along all right.

Bill: Yes—we do manage to get all the food we need—how do you do it, Jane?

Jane: It's not too difficult. You just can't go into a store and buy whatever you want. At the end of the week I sit down with pencil and paper and plan what I am going to buy for the coming week. My grocer has helped me a lot in explaining which foods are good buys.

Bill: Well to get back to Saturday night, what do you think about dinner?

Jane: How would you like to have stuffed pork shoulder, some candied sweets, and Swiss chard from our garden, then we can finish off with an apple pie.

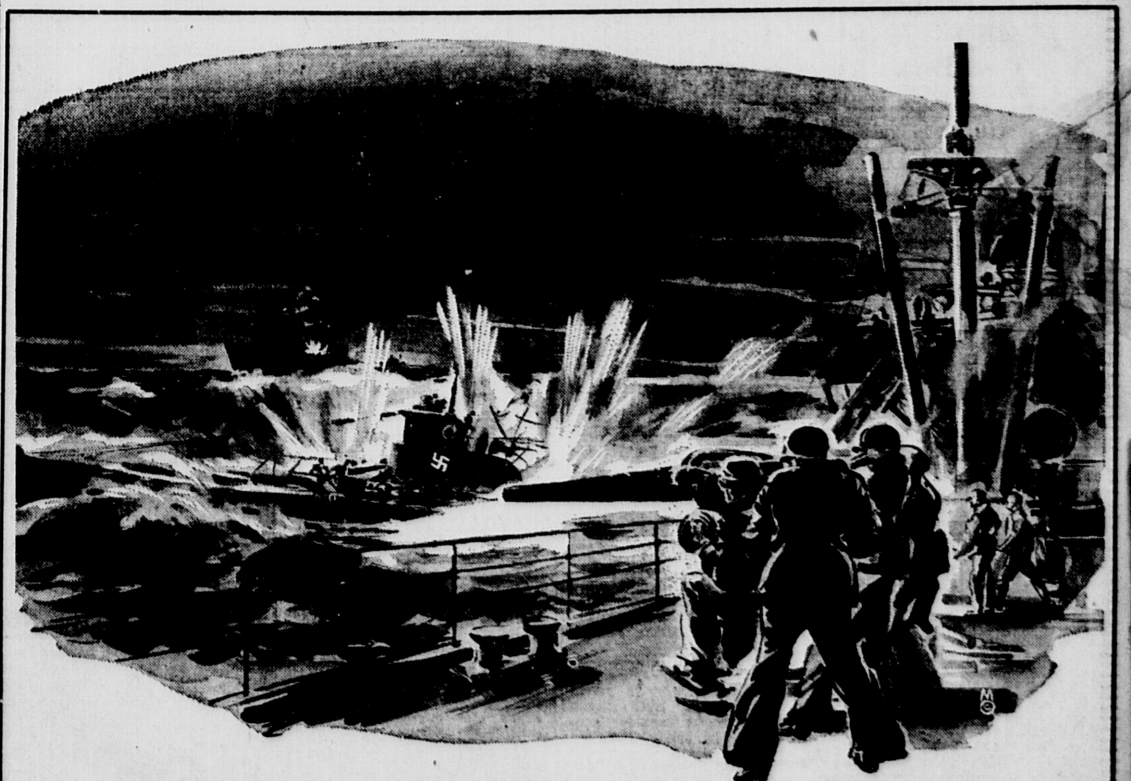

Bill: Say the fellows would like that I'll bet. They said they missed home-cooking, and that sounds like a meal. We ought to eat some more of the tomatoes too, they're coming along fast.

Jane's kitchen memo:

1. Plan meals well in advance.
2. Before buying consider the nutritive value, the money value, and the point value. (The highest number of points is given to the scarcest foods.)
3. Red stamps that are usable: A-8 through Z-8 in Book 4 and A-5 through D-5 in Book 4, worth 10 points each, good indefinitely. Red stamps now become valid every four weeks instead of every two weeks. (This means that the number of points is reduced to 15 every two weeks instead of 30.)

Notes on red point values of available foods:

0 Points	Low Point Value (2-10 per pound)	High Point Value (10-18 per pound)
Cottage Cheese	Oleomargarine (V. A. added)	Butter
Beef: flank steak, hamburger, heart, kidney, liver	Cheese (most common kinds of cheese)	Beef: porterhouse, T-bone, Club, sirloin, top round, bottom round
Pork: picnic shoulder, cooked shoulder, liver, bacon	B-ef: chuck, shoulder chops, boneless lamb (shoulder roll)	Roast: rib, sirloin
Veal: chops, cutlets, roasts (these are available in small amount)	Pork: cooked ham (bone-in), center cut chops, end cut chops, Fresh ham (bone-in), Scotch ham (sweet pickled)	Pork: smoked ham (bone-in), center cut, only two slices to a ham, boiled ham
Fish:
Eggs:

NEWTONICS

By Dorothy Williams

WOMEN'S HALL OF FAME.

Every so often you hear of an action on the part of some civilian that is prompted solely by pure love of country. At first glance it may not seem to be a very big thing, but at Raytheon's Radio Receiving Tube Division, there are several women who have very cent of their pay delivered to them in War Bonds. For modest reasons they prefer to remain anonymous, but in truth they represent the finest impulses in all women who have stepped out of comfortable homes to serve their nation without thoughts of immediate gain. These women have the same truth and faith in their country's future as did those sturdy women of the pioneering 1840's who have become legendary to us today. When you stop to think of it, the children of 50 years from now are going to look at us from their history books with pretty critical eyes. They'll classify the women of the 1940's into two groups. Those who helped and those who failed to help. These Ray will be among the ones who head the list of those who gave first aid to an America in a state of crisis. Of necessity, all women cannot put their pay 100% into Bonds, but they can enter or stay in industry until the war is 100% over, and the last gun is actually fired.

SAFETY FIRST. Aiming for the National Safety Award, a plant-wide safety contest is now in full swing at Raytheon's Radio Receiving Tube Division, Malcolm Campbell, 63 Windsor St., Arlington, safety committee chairman, announced recently.

In 1943 Raytheon had the distinction of holding the record of the highest number of man hours free of injury in the glass industry. And nine years ago the plant received the National Safety Award.

Explaining the safety set-up, Campbell said, "Raytheon prides itself in offering clean and safe working conditions that can be compared with the best industry has to offer. All equipment is set up with an eye to safeguarding the individual. Guards are provided, and supervisors are trained to maintain good housekeeping conditions. Our dispensary is equipped to cope with all types of accidents. Doctors and nurses are available twenty-four hours a day."

NEWTON RAY BROADCASTS. Appearing on the "Who's Who at Raytheon" radio program during the week of Sept. 4, will be Mrs. Christine Scovel, mother of a two and a half year old son, and wife of a Technical Sergeant in the Air Corps.

Mrs. Scovel, who lives at 14 Emerald street, Newton, works on the afternoon shift and finds these hours permit her to spend the largest part of the day with her boy.

Originally working as a mount operator at the Raytheon Radio Receiving Tube Division, Newton, Mrs. Scovel has since become a tester-inspector.

MAYBE IT WORKS THE NIGHT SHIFT. After swatting and slapping Loo, these many nights, Tube Head Tim is beginning to wail how a mosquito gets along without sleep.

AIRMAN WRITES MEMORABLE LETTER TO HIS NAME-SAKE. Learning that his newborn nephew was named after him, Cpl. Ralph Lent, U. S. Army Air Force, stationed at Fort L. B. Raytheon Receiving Tube Division, sent a letter to his namesake for him to read when he is a man. Cpl. Lent, who is just 19 years old, is stationed somewhere in the Pacific area. Excerpts from his letter are as follows:

"I've never seen you, Ralph, you were born while I was enroute to some far distant place, miles away from home. You are only a few months along in life right now, but by the time you are able to understand this letter, you'll be well along in life perhaps the age I am now. When I received your mother's letter informing me of your birth and being named after me, it was one of the most wonderful things that ever happened to me, and I hope and pray that one of these days, I'll make you as proud of your Uncle Ralph as I was of my Uncle Ralph. He, too, was in the service of his country and died in the Navy in the war prior to this one."

"Each night when duty is done and it's time for prayers, I pray and thank the Lord above that I'm an American. When I was a civilian, life was happy-go-lucky, and everything seemed to come and go. I was just a carefree kid, but now things have changed—changed considerably. I lie awake night after night and plead with God that you, Eddie, Bobby and Joe and all the other boys in the world will never have to see, hear, or think of the world war."

"Your inspiration you're the future America. When you get tired or worn out and disgusted with life just think of the people on the other side of America today and smile, Ralph, smile. You have every right to. You're an American, and be a good one, Ralph."

P.S. THEY GAVE HIM THE DIME BACK. Tube Head was attacked by a couple of thieves the other night and he put up a terrific fight to protect his money. When the attackers finally got his wallet, they found only 10 cents. Said the crook, "Look here, Bud, how come you put up such a fight for a measly dime." "Well," wailed Tube Head, "the story of the dime back will be in the paper and I don't want my financial condition exposed."

Cpl. Frank Bentley Layton, Jr., U. S. Army and Mrs. Layton of West Newton announce the birth of a daughter, Mary Florence Layton, on August 17 at San Francisco, California.

Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Frederick L. Henry of Franklin and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bentley Layton of West Newton.

Linscott - Higginbotham

Miss Hester Anne Higginbotham, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. Isaac Higginbotham of Wollaston, was married on Saturday afternoon, August 26, at 3 o'clock at the First Baptist Church of Wollaston to Forrest Hall Linscott of Flushing, New York, the son of Mrs. Linwood A. Linscott of Waban, and the late Mr. Linscott. Rev. Isaac Higginbotham, D.D., General Secretary of the Massachusetts Baptist Convention and father of the bride, officiated.

The bride wore a dress of white rayon marquisette with finger tip veil and carried a bouquet of white roses and bouvardia. She was attended by her sister-in-law Mrs. Sibley Higginbotham of Dobbs Ferry, New York, who wore a dress of yellow taffeta and carried a bouquet of yellow gladioli and blue delphiniums.

The best man was Wadsworth Winslow of Canton. The ushers were Captain H. W. Gregory Manhasset, New York, and R. G. Evans of Flushing, New York. Flight Radio Operator, both of the American Airlines, Air Transport Command.

The bride was graduated from Quincy High School, the Wheelock School of Boston, and from Boston University with degree of B.S. in education. She teaches in the Day Nursery of the Oranges, New Jersey.

The groom was graduated from Newton High School, attended the Boston University School of Business Administration and graduated from the New England Air Craft School, Boston Airport. He is Flight Engineer with the American Airlines, Air Transport Command.

The ceremony was followed by a reception in the church vestry. After a wedding trip in Maine, Mr. and Mrs. Linscott will make their home in Orange, New Jersey.

Have You Been Married 75 Years?

Plans to honor couples married for 75 years or more are being prepared by the committee in charge of celebrating the Seventy-fifth Anniversary of the flour mill company founded by the Pillsbury family in Minneapolis in 1869.

The initial plan is to send a 75th anniversary cake to each of these couples who were married in the year the company was started or before. According to population figures, analyzed by statisticians, there may be 250 or more couples in the United States who are observing their diamond anniversaries.

The committee is, however, interested in the life story of these people and has asked the GRAPHIC to assist it in locating these couples.

The married life of the people who have spanned a period of remarkable developments in this country. Their early romance would have occurred in the closing year of the war between the states and the reconstruction period that followed. Among them might be a wife who was a girl of 15 in 1869. She would be 90 this year. Here husband might have been a returned boy soldier, or a youth still in his teens who was inspired by the spirit of the pioneers of that day and struck out at an early age to establish his own home.

The call of the frontier was strong at that time. Charles A. Pillsbury, raised in New Hampshire, heard it and joined an uncle, John S. Pillsbury, in Minneapolis. The latter became governor of Minnesota and the father of the state university. Charles entered the flour milling business. The firm he established grew into a nationwide organization now headed by Philip W. Pillsbury, a grandson.

Earlier this summer the company presented the state of Minnesota with two millstones that were in the pioneer Pillsbury mills. They are to be placed in the State Historical Society Building at St. Paul.

Gives Assistance In Food Budgeting

The Newton Nutrition Center, sponsored by the Newton Community Council and financed by the Newton Chapter of the American Red Cross, Health Department of the City of Newton and the Newton Community Chest, Inc., has recently been established in the Newtonville Library Building, 845 Walnut street, Newtonville.

Miss Margaret Phillips, Nutritionist in charge, assisted by Miss Jean Lesperance, are carrying out the plans outlined by the Nutrition Committee, under the Chairmanship of Dr. Frederick J. Stare, of the Harvard University Schools of Medicine and Public Health.

Citizens of Newton are urged to watch for expansion of the nutrition program which has been in effect in Newton for some years.

During the past few weeks notes on food and nutrition written in an interesting and readable style have been issued from the Newton Nutrition Center under the heading of "Dining with Jane and Bill," and have been featured in the Graphic.

Miss Phillips and Miss Lesperance, in addition to continued work with health and social service agencies, are cooperating with the Council Committee on Industrial Hygiene of which Miss Hilga S. Nelson is chairman.

Through the Home Service Department of the Newton Chapter of Red Cross the Nutritionists have been of much assistance to the families of Newton service men in budget planning and are anxious to answer, for Newton families, any questions about food and nutrition that arise in family feeding.

The Newton Nutrition Center is open each week day from 9 a. m. to 5 p. m. Appointments can be made by calling Bigelow 7602 for home or office consultation.

Lt. Leo G. Fitzpatrick, son of Mr. and Mrs. William J. Fitzpatrick of 15 Frederick street has been awarded the Air Medal at a troopcarrier base in the European Theatre of Operations. He participated in the airborne invasion of Europe.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Carleton Brummer of Woodbound Inn, Rindge, N. H., are parents of twin sons, born at Richardson House Aug. 29. Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Sloane are the maternal grandparents.

Charles A. Reynolds has purchased the duplex house at 14-16 Gay street.

Mr. and Mrs. Albert P. Everts of 114 Kirkstall road are guests at Poland Spring House, Poland Spring, Me.

Mrs. J. W. Isenbeeg is vacationing at Popham Beach, Maine.

Sally Ann and Roxy Haven are guests of their grandmother, Mrs. H. M. Haven at Melvin Village, N. H.

The community was saddened by news of the death of Mrs. Betty Hall Enoch which occurred last week. She was the wife of Capt. Donald G. Enoch USA, on leave of absence from the Newton High School, where he was a teacher and track coach.

Vernor Morris, formerly of 9 Chesley avenue, who has been in the Chicago offices of the Liberty Mutual Life Insurance Company for several years, has been transferred to the company's St. Louis Office. Mrs. Morris, with the twins, Frank and Edith, are still living in Hinsdale, Ill., owing to the house shortage in St. Louis.

An article entitled "An Argument for Military Training" by Stanley S. Pearson, principal of the Bigelow Junior High School, of this city, appears in the Aug. 27 number of The New York Times Magazine section.

Prof. Atlee Lane Percy of Bonwood street returned Saturday evening from Philadelphia, Pa., where he had been the guest of relatives.

Staff Sergeant Margaret P. Conroy, who is stationed with the Women's Reserve Marine Corps at Cherry Point, N. C., has been spending a furlough at her home, 96 Walker street.

Paul R. Whitworth, Jr., and his sister Joyce of Bonwood street returned Saturday from visit with their grandmother, Mrs. Albert Whitworth in Cambridge.

Mrs. J. B. Covington, who has been vacationing in Wolfeboro, N. H., won a doll at the Wolfeboro Street Fair, which was held for the benefit of the Memorial Hospital, netting $3000.

Mrs. Clifford B. Whitney of 430 Albemarle road is at her summer home in Cataumet.

Mr. George H. Doggett of Walker street was a week end guest of his daughter, Mrs. Edgar H. Chandler in Raymond, N. H., who, with her four children, is spending the summer on the Chandler farm. Her husband Chaplain Chandler is stationed with the North Atlantic Fleet.

Pfc. Everett Theodore Boulter (Ted), son of Mr. and Mrs. Everett J. Boulter of 66 Brooks avenue, who was home for a time following a major operation in the early summer, performed in Louisville, Ky., and who was later sent to a convalescing camp at Atterbury, Ind., expects to return to Camp Breckinridge, soon.

Mrs. James E. Welsh of Nebraska has arrived at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Carl J. Davis of 88 Mt. Vernon street for a visit. Mrs. Welsh, the former Jean Davis, recently had the harvesting experience of being notified that her husband had perished in a plane crash in which all passengers lost their lives, en route to California. A week later Sergeant Welsh returned home ignorant of his wife's experience which was his having taken a different plane than the ill fated one.

A gentleman has been calling at local banks trying to find his short snorter dollar bill which he had lost in some way. A few days ago he inquired for it at the West Newton Savings Bank without giving his name but missed it, as it later came in from the Federal Reserve Bank in Boston. This much sought bill, which bears 15 short snorters' signatures, is being held by Mrs. Rodney C. Eaton of Page road, who is employed at the West Newton Savings Bank, and it apparently belongs to "Short Snorter Roberts," probably of Maryland. Qualifications for membership in this unique club of which Winston Churchill is a member, require a certain amount of travel by clipper planes.

Miss Joan Newcomb, daughter of Mrs. Raymond Newcomb of 107 Atwood avenue, has returned from Mt. Holyoke College where she has been working as an accelerated junior. She will return to college as a senior Sept. 10.

Mrs. Annie M. Nichols, mother of Mrs. Raymond Newcomb, who has been with another daughter in member, is returning home this Minneapolis, Minn., since last November.

Miss Ruth Dierdorff of 14 Bridges avenue is one of 28 graduates of Greater Boston high school who as freshmen have been awarded Boston University Metropolitan scholarships for high scholastic standing in high school, worth $100 and $200.

GLAMOROUS ICE-ADORABLE—"Ice skating in the summer time," you ask, "and out in the open, too?" Yes. Lovely Ann Rice is one of the big company of skaters who will appear in McGowan and Mack's Ice Revue, on real ice, at the Brockton Fair, Sept. 10-16.

BEHIND THE SCENES IN AMERICAN BUSINESS By JOHN CRADDOCK

NEW YORK, Aug. 28—It's a little early for Mom and Pop to be thinking about Christmas and toys, but not so in the trade. Toy buyers and distributors have been canvassing every manufacturer in the country all summer to be sure of having a good supply for retail dealers in November. According to reports, dealers may expect to have a more plentiful supply of quality toys to offer this Christmas than in the last two years. Prices of some types of toys will be higher, however.

Less emphasis on war games is in evidence. This is attributed to current anticipation that the war with Germany may be over by late fall. Almost all toys this year will bear the stamp "Made in America" since of course there have been no imports from Japan or Germany since the war began. Small wooden toys and games will be plentiful, but dolls and stuffed animals will continue to be on the scarce side. Mechanical toys, roller skates, ice skates and tricycles will be non-existent.

As an example, take the flight vibration recorder recently announced by the Civil Aeronautics Administration. A joint development of the CAA and the Brown Instrument Division of Minneapolis-Honeywell Regulator Company, this electronically operated device weighs only 27 pounds, records necessary safety data in a matter of minutes and can be carried on the pilot's lap. Yet it replaces about 500 pounds of equipment which took about two weeks to install.

THINGS TO COME—Pencil lead, either hard or soft, which is unbreakable under all normal writing conditions. A new patented process for fastening starch to fabric so that it will not wash out quickly. Cloth so treated, it is said, can be washed and ironed several times without being restarched. A midsize Diesel engine for motor boats said to take the place of gasoline engines of the same horsepower, but with a large fuel savings.

Two Centers' Camp Has Successful Season

Two Centers' Camp, run in co-operation by the West Newton Community Centre, Inc., and the Rebecca Pomroy House, both member agencies of the Newton Community Chest, Inc., had a successful eight weeks' season at Cochituate.

One hundred and eighteen children enjoyed eight hundred camp days under Miss Gertrude MacCallum of the West Newton Community Centre, Miss Helen I. Sandstrom of Pomroy House and Miss Virginia Fisher, a Newton High School student.

The swimming proved particularly attractive when the thermometer registered in the 90's during so many of the days at Camp. Numbers of good looking articles were made by the boys and girls. One of the most popular was a picture folder and one little girl informed the group that there would be pictures taken of the family which would be inserted in the folder and sent to a brother in the Pacific war area.

Stories, singing, games filled the days and healthy tired groups returned to their homes each evening.

A number of older groups of women and adolescents went to Camp for the evening for a swim and supper.

Mr. H. J. Pettengill, Executive Secretary of the Newton Community Chest and Miss Esther Walther of the Community Council were welcome visitors during one of the mornings.

Breaks Reported To Police

The police received reports during the past week of two breaks in Newton homes and an attempted burglary at a gasoline station.

The home of Reuben Gryzmish at 74 Commonwealth avenue, Chestnut Hill was entered and a door to the attic was forced open.

The family had been resting at a Boston hotel and the house recently was occupied by a unit of soldiers who were doing guard duty at the Chestnut Hill reservoir.

The home of Daniel Harrington at 31 Court street, Newtonville, was entered and ransacked, entrance having been gained through a kitchen window.

An attempt was made to break into the gasoline station of Joseph Comeau at 367 California street. A glass in the rear window was broken but the window was securely nailed and it is thought this made the attempted burglary unsuccessful.

Schools Open

Sept. 6

The Newton schools will open for the 1944-1945 school year on Wednesday, September 6.

Parents, new to Newton, who have children entering kindergarten or any of the first six grades should contact the neighborhood school on Tuesday, September 5. The entrance age to kindergarten is four years, nine months by October 1, and for the first grade, five years, nine months by October 1.

Parents of children entering grades 7, 8 and 9 who have not previously attended Newton public schools should telephone the neighborhood junior high school the week before school opens to make plans for registration.

For pupils transferring from private schools to the tenth grade of the Newton High School, placement tests will be given on Friday, September 1, at 8:30 a. m. Registration for these tests should be made on Wednesday, August 30, or Thursday, August 31, in the guidance office at the high school. Pupils should bring their ninth grade school records.

Other pupils transferring from public high schools outside of Newton should register for admission to grades 10, 11 or 12 on August 30, 31, or September 1 in the guidance office at the high school. Appointments for conferences with Miss Riley may be made by telephoning Lasell 8267.

Placement tests for entrance to Newton Trade School will be given on August 30, 31 and September 1 at 9:00 a. m. Appointments for tests may be made by calling the Trade School office, Bigelow 2193.

Urged To Recruit Nurses Aides

An appeal by the National Nursing Council for War Service asking nurses to use their personal influence in urging nurse's aides to "hold the line" and in recruiting additional aides has given increased impetus to the recruitment drive for nurse's aides.

Mrs. Moore released the following statements from the appeal to nurses by Mrs. Elmina B. Wickenden, executive secretary of the National Nursing Council:

"No one is in a better position than the graduate nurse to testify to the usefulness and irreplaceable work done by nurse's aides since the program was begun. Will you appeal to every nurse's aide in your community to hold the line? Tell her that she has received valuable training, that hospitals and patients alike have learned to depend upon her, that the shortage of nursing personnel and other personnel is still acute, that as casualties overseas mount, and as hospitals abroad and at home require more skilled nursing care for more of the wounded, the way for her to serve best is to continue doing the work for which she has been trained—and if possible to work longer hours."

Stops Here On Cross Country Flight

Lt. Col. Robert A. Nagle, son of Frank A. Nagle of Kirkstall road, Newtonville, recently arrived in Boston on a cross-country flight from the Pacific Coast.

Col. Nagle is commanding officer at Daggett Army Air Base, California.

While on a 24-hour stop-over here, he spent some time with his father and his wife's family. Mr. and Mrs. Ernest V. Alley of West Newton with whom Mrs. Nagle is visiting for a few weeks.

Lightning Strikes Chimney

During the storm on Saturday afternoon lightning struck the home of John J. Ryan, 21 Lindbergh avenue, West Newton, causing damage to the chimney.

The fire department was summoned at 3:10 p. m. on Saturday for a brush fire near 17 Brush Hill road, Newton Highlands. At 12 noon on the same day Engine 8 was called for a fire on the Bridge Street dump.
